POLITICAL.

The Prohibs, last week, named J. M. Caldwell of Northumberland for State Treasurer: A. Ricketts of Luzerne for Supreme Judge, and H. Robinson of Fayette for Superior Judge.

The Republicans of Centre county sat down hard on their Love-ly, political, judge last Saturday, and routed the Quayites by a 4 to 1 vote.

Senator W. J. Scott, of Luzerne county, who, like Senator Magee, supported Quay until his election was deemed impossible and then switched to the opposition ranks, declared that he does not believe that an extra session of the Legislature will be held.

"An extra session would only emphasize the deadlock," said he, "and could do Quay no good." When asked what he thought of Representative Bliss' statement regarding a change of sentiment toward Quay, Senator Scott said:

"I do not agree with him. An apparent change of sentiment may be noticed, but it is wholly due, I think, to the fact that the insurgent forces are making no contests this year. Next fall, I think, it will be found that a considerable element in every election district of the State is against Quay, enough to hold the balance of power. My idea is that Quay will never be re-elected."

ANDY CARNEGIE pleads for peace with the Filipinos. He says that McKinley's policy of subjugation is all wrong, and that we should promise them independence, and conciliate them as we did the Cubans.

Parachute and Church Steeple.

In Allegheny, Saturday, the parachute of the fellow who did the drop from a ballon act for the carnival caught on a high church steeple. The ballonist's name is Cassel, and he struck the steeple with his feet in hopes of throwing the parachute out from the projections of the steeple, but this had the opposite effect, for instead of drawing the parachute out it drew it in and the silk caught on the knobs which form part of the decoration on the great pinnacle. The wind had shifted to northeast in the lower stratum of air, and the silked folds of the parachute were soon wrapped taut around the steeple and Cassell was bobbing up and down like a jack in the box. Without the least hope of reaching the top of the gothic window, one of six in the highest portion of the steeple, Cassel gathered all his strength and swung for it. Luck was with him and he reached it in safety. Then he sat down upon the projection and laughingly kissed his hands to the anxious crowd which had assembled beneath the steeple.

For over one hour he sat and the hot rays of the sun almost blistered his face and hands. It seemed as if no aid could reach him there, for not a ladder was long enough in the city. Even the immense ladders of the fire department were too short by almost 100 feet. Mrs. Cassel, wife of the aeronaut, however, was equal to the occasion, and as soon as she heard of her husband's accident rushed to the scene, as did William Hyde, Cassell's assistant. For some time they were puzzled. Finally a happy thought struck Cassell. He took his knife and cut a number of slender ropes from the parachute, tied them together, and found they would reach the ground.

Mrs. Cassell meanwhile sent Hyde to headquarters in the fair grounds and a strong hempen rope was brought. This she attached to the improvised life line of her husband and he pulled it up, made it tight about the projection on which he sat, and while the crowd trembled and gazed with awe upon the scene he slid to the ground without the slightest injury, not even a scratch. Then the crowd cheered, but Cassell hurried to his headquarters. He was interested in the question of releasing the parachute and bringing it to the ground, for he was anxious to make another ascension that night, and the parachute was absolutely necessary for the feat. He had Director John A. Fairman send for Chief John K. Hunter, and when the latter arrived he laid his case before him. Hunter sent for No. 7 ladder truck and the ladders were sent up beside the church steeple to their full extent. But that was still 100 feet from the parachute. Cassel climbed up the ladder and caught the rope he had descended on and then hand-over-hand he climbed the distance until he reached the dizzy height, whare he spent one hour before. Then with great calmness he straddled the projection and then stood up. For over twenty minutes he tugged with the impaled parachute and finally succeeded in tossing it to the ground.

It required considerable nerve and an even balance for him to maintain his postion. When the parachute fell Cassell dropped on his knees, put a slip knot in the rope on the pinnicale and slide to the ground amid the greatest cheers and and applause heard in Allegheny for years. Then giving the rope a quick jerk he released it from the projection and it fell to the ground. It was the cleverest feat of the sort ever witnessed in Allegheny.

"I have been in the business for years, but never before have I landed on a church steeple. I have fallen on roofs, in trees, rivers and orchards, but the experience of this evening was the greatest in my career. I did not lose presence of mind for a moment. If I had I would have been killed. When I struck the steeple I tried to make the best of it and I did. I admit it was exciting, but I was equal to the emergency and think I did the proper thing. If I could fix the parachute now I would make another ascension. Scared? Not the least bit I would go up in a minute if I had a parachute."

"I was certain Jack would not be injured in the least," said Mrs. Cassel. "When I heard he was on the steeple naturally I ran, but I was not the least afraid. He has been in so many close predicaments before that I am always certain he will get out safely."

AT Salt Lake City last Thursday Judge Norrel fined Angus M. Cannon $100 for praticing polygamy. Cannon is nearly old enough to know better—seventy.

Sarver Station.

Mrs. Weaver is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mrs. and Dr. J. L. Black.

The new railroad junction at Eidenau will be known as Harmony Junction and the Harmouy stop as Harmony Station.

The different Sunday schools in Zelienople and Harmony expect to hold a union picnic at Maple Grove Park some time in August.

THE great minds called together by the Czar as an International Peace Conference at the Hague Holland are making a miserable failure of their mission. Instead of striving to find terms and supply means by which all-international misunderstandings could be settled and wars forever set aside as a relic of barbarism, they discuss the dropping of explosives from military balloons, the use of dum-dum (explosive) bullets, and other warlike subjects.

News From Slipperyrock Park.

The hay harvest is over, and now for the oats field we go.

The crops in general never were better. Don't forget to give thanks unto the Lord for this great blessing.

Reed Blair sold $25 worth of early potatoes off his garden patch. That is not so bad Reed. We wish you success.

Paul Kiester carries that game arm of his very carefully every time it rains. Its a mighty good barometer. Paul, you arn't as young as you used to be.

D. P. and his brother, Wm. Wadsworth, who are stopping with their cousin, H. Etta Wadsworth, surprised her, the other day when she came home from Butler, by having her wheat all threshed and the machine and hands gone. Will was chief cook and Alvin Beighley was dining room waiter, while D. J. was head manager of the whole affair. It was a perfect success with but one exception—Alvin forgot to wear his Fountleyroy pants—ha, ha, let's all laugh.

George Hilgar has employed Clyde Wadsworth to help put up his harvest. They make a very good team as they are both very steady men.

Everett G. Campbell is as happy as the day is long. He don't care if corn was ninety-five cents per bushel.

D. C. Wadsworth, Esq., sold a fine bunch of hogs one day last week to Martin the butcher of Slipperyrock.

Mrs. Loretta Taggart had her wheat threshed one day last week.

Mel. Hall threshed his wheat on the James Reed place last week. He had very good wheat. Mel is a hustler.

Lem Stillwagon has the best field of oats between Etna mills and Slipperyrock. Its a daisy.

Curt Christley is busy raising quail for the gunners and sportsmen of Slipperyrock the coming season. Be very careful boys that Curt don't shoot.

Neyman Christley's son-in-law, Mr. Ernest F Nelson, passed the State Board examination and is now ready to locate in some good live town as a full fledged doctor. We wish you success, Ernest.

There have been several camps along the banks of Slipperyrock from New Castle, Butler and elsewhere. Some of them boat ride all night long these nice moonlight nights on the Slipperyrock.

Public worship in Westminster church next Sunday at 3 o'clock p. m. Y. P. meeting at night. An address is expected from a visitor.

James Watson is recovering from injuries received Friday, 21st inst., by following off a load of hay.

The prayer meeting committee of the Y. P. society meet in the church Tuesday evening to attend to the special work put upon them.

Miss Marion, of Allegheny, is visiting with Mrs. Lizzie Maisland.

Mr. Hazlett, east of the mountains, is a vister at Mr. Harvey Kirkpatrick's.

The subject of the Y. P. meeting Sunday last was Sunday observance. Miss Mary Jones leader. At a recent election the following persons were elected, viz: President, Miss Mary Jones; Vice-President, John P. Kirkpatrick; Secretary, Miss M. Sefton; Treasurer, Clarence Love. Prayer meeting committee, Miss Mary Jones, Miss Pearl Halstead and Miss Annie Heckard, and John P. Kirpatrick and the pastor, W. J. Hazlett. This society deserves commendation for their diligence and perseverance.

Much sincere sympathy is felt for Mr. Lou Watson, who has been severely injured near his father's home, in Buffalo township, by the boiler explosion; also deep sympathy is felt for Mr. James Watson, who has been injured by a fall from a load of hay.

Mr. Milton L. Love and wife are visiting at his mother's at Riddles X Roads.

Mr. Philip Snyder has recovered from his recent severe cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Shoemaker are kindly aiding in the nursing of Mr. Lou Watson.

The Grand Opera House.

The managment of the Grand Opera House Pittsburg, has issued an official announcement for the coming season at that popular place of amuseument. Throughout the entire prospectus there is the true ring of determination to make the Grand even more attractive than it has hitherto been. In connection with this place of amusement it may be said in all truth, that no house in the world devoted to the entertainment of the public, gives anything like so much in quantity or in quality, as does the Grand. And this is said without regard to the prices of admission which obtain in the various theatres throughout the country. The scale of prices at the Grand is so low as to be within the reach of all classes, yet at the same time the entertainments that are given by the great Stock Company, to say nothing of the attractiveness of the famous vaudeville artists who appear every afternoon and evening preceding and following the performance of the Stock Company, will average better than can be seen in any theatre where the prices are double. This is a fact that is universally admitted, and it is undoubtedly the reason why the Pittsburg Grand Opera House is always crowded to the walls.

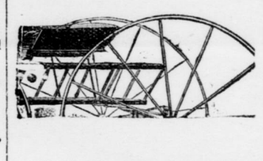
According to the policy of this managment, an effort is made to make each succeeding season excel its predecessor in the ability of the actors and in the quality of the plays produced, as well as in the manner in which the plays are presented upon the stage. Next years company includes James E. Wilson, Thomas Ross, Robert Ranson, Joseph Woodburn, Alice Butler and Madge Carr Cook, all of whom were in last years company and the newcomers include Henritta Crossman, who will be remembered as the leading lady of the Avenue Theatre Stock Company three years ago, William G. Beach who is widely known in Pittsburg, and several other distinguished players who are now being negotiated with.

This is, indeed, a remarkably strong organization of players and it goes without saying that whatever they undertake to do, will be done in a thoroughly masterly and praiseworthy manner.

The season at the Grand Opera House will open on Monday afternoon, September 4th, with E. H. Sothern's greatest comedy drama success called "The Dancing Girl". Of course the opening will be a brilliant event, as it has always been at the Grand. But this year it will be even more so for more reasons than one. It will be called "Reception Week", by which is meant that after the performance every afternoon the ladies and gentleman of the Stock Company will hold a reception in the spacious parlors of the Grand, where everybody in attendance at the matinees may come in if they choose, and be personally introduced to the players. This innovation has been made at the request of hundreds of patrons of the Grand who like to meet and know the popular members of the company, and it will no doubt prove mutual agreeable to to the public and players alike.

Special stress is placed on the fact that the opening of the advanced sale for the first week will occur in the Grrnd Opera House Parlors on Monday morning, July 31st at 10:00 o'clock.

Great Year.



This has been a great year for us. Why? Because we have been in business many years and have always given the best value for the price paid. Everybody is learning to know that here they have the greatest variety to select from and the price is much lower than elsewhere, and besides you know just what you are getting Come in and see our Buggies and Wagons. If you have catalogues from other firms bring them along. Compare our prices with theirs If you cannot do better here don't buy. A comparison is all we ask. We will abide by your own decision. No difference what you want about a Wagon, Buggy or Harness or Driving Outfit, come here. We are in the business to stay, We own our property and it is as much our interest to please you as it is yours to be pleased.

Come and see us whether you have been here before or not. Don't wait for an introduction. Walk right in. You are welcome.

Never experiment with so important an article as the human food

It is the high quality of Royal Baking Powder that has established its great and world-wide reputation.

Every housewife knows she can rely upon it; that it makes the bread and biscuit more delicious and wholesome—always the finest that can be baked.

It is economy and every way better to use the Royal, whose work is always certain, never experimental.

There are many imitation baking powders, made from alum. They may cost less per pound, but their use is at the cost of health.
