THE SKYROCKET.

By SIR WALTER BESANT.

(Copyright, 1899, by the Author.)

CHAPTER I. Together they walked in the long June twilight across the fields. They were not very far from the path...

CHAPTER II. "You're a liar," said the thoroughly exasperated Steve. "One of your men fired at me and hit Bill Simmons."

CHAPTER III. Sunday afternoon. Ariadne's room was crowded with people. She was standing in the midst of a circle...

CHAPTER IV. In the smoking room of the club Sunday evening, "that the new story of the Ariadne woman is a frost-dead frost."

CHAPTER V. "I'm sorry," said the young man. "I don't see why you should be. She had her run, she was accepted for a genius, she went everywhere, she got a splendid time to remember."

CHAPTER VI. The conductor made no reply to this heroic declaration, for at that moment the engine gave a long whistle...

CHAPTER VII. Ariadne stood once more in the old familiar side road leading off the main road to the clearing where the little garden in front of the house was filled with lily-bushes...

CHAPTER VIII. "You're a liar," said the thoroughly exasperated Steve. "One of your men fired at me and hit Bill Simmons."

TWO OF A TRADE

By ROBERT BARR.

CHAPTER I. If a man finds himself enduring a train in a different way from the way that he has heard of...

CHAPTER II. The smoking car on the night express of the Texas, Missouri and Chesapeake...

CHAPTER III. "What are you doing on this territory? Can't I take care of these here trains, or has there been any complaint about the part of the B. and O. company...

CHAPTER IV. "Well, I'd like to oblige you, but that's safe's mine. We had news from Frisco that we could have been off on our vacation."

CHAPTER V. "I don't see what we want with all these little islands," said one German official.

CHAPTER VI. "I don't see what we want with all these little islands," said one German official.

CHAPTER VII. "I don't see what we want with all these little islands," said one German official.

CHAPTER VIII. "I don't see what we want with all these little islands," said one German official.

CHAPTER IX. "I don't see what we want with all these little islands," said one German official.

MISSING THE JUBILEE.

One Woman Who Did Not Know That Peace Had Come.

It was in the midst of the peace jubilee and the editor was the busiest individual in town...

"Excuse me," said the visitor of his own volition, "but can't I ask you an important question?"

"What is it?" responded the editor, without looking up from his work...

"That's all," said the visitor rising, "I'll go back home and tell my wife about it."

"Potato Blight, Early and Late. There are two forms of potato blight, or rust—the early and the late."

GERMINATING SEEDS OF EARLY BLIGHT. Mergons sharply outlined, dark brown spots on the leaves...

REPEATED experiments have shown that both these diseases may be profitably controlled by spraying with borax mixtures.

For early blight on early potatoes Professor Lawson advises to spray when the vines are about two-thirds grown or as soon as the disease makes its appearance...

For both early and late blight on late potatoes spray three times—the middle of July, the first of August and the middle of August.
