LOCAL AND GENERAL,

R. S. V. P.

During the past few weeks we have sent statements to quite a number of our patrons, and hope they will remember the same as soon as possible.

There once was an eloquent preacher
Who said to his hen, "You sweet creature."
And she just for that
Laid three eggs in his hat,
And thus did the Hen Reward Beecher.

—Go.

—Go to.

—We all meet at the Fair.

—Labor Day, September 4.

—School begins September 4.

—Butler Fair September 5-8.

—I will meet you at the Fair.

—Our next Fair will be Two-two.

—Every year Butler Fair gets bigger.

—We have had a very Fair Summer.

—Good-bye till we meet at the Fair.

—Big Baloon every day at the Fair

—The greatest cattle show at the Fair.

—Mrs. Alice Jackson Races at the Fair.

—Butler County's Picnic—the Fair—Sept. 5-8.

—Nobody in Butler county kicks about the Butler Fair.

—The Butler borough schools will begin Monday, September 4th.

—Fairs at Tarentum and Punxsutawney this week, and Butler next week.

—Rubber tires on your buggy are nice, but they are expensive—$30 a sett.

—The kids are enthusiastic; they are throwing up their hats—school begins next Monday.

—The excursion train for Punxsutawney leaves Butler, tomorrow morning at 7:15 a. m.

—The Fair is a county affair and every citizen of the county should contribute to make it a success.

—"Do others, as they would do you, but do 'em fust," was David Harum's motto; and David was a horse dealer.

—Walter & Sons are adding a coal yard to their milling plant, getting the coal in on their new Bessemer siding.

—Large numbers of people from all over the county attended the reunion at St. Paul's Orphans House last Thursday.

—The fare to the Fair will be but a half fare; but when you get there you will find a number of Fairs all in one Fair.

—After harvest all farmers should take a "day off" and there is no better place to spend it than at the Big Butler Fair.

—The speed classes of the Big Fair this year are better than ever before and some great speed contests are assured—Sept. 5-8.

—Three hundred Butlerites stood around for five hours or more on the streets of Pittsburg, Monday, waiting for the Tenth to come.

—Champion Roman Feats at Fair.

—The P. & W. and P. B. & L. E. railroads are reballasting their roads between town and the Fair Grounds, preparatory to the big Fair crowds.

—"Charlie," said she sadly and firmly "It is useless for you to tell me you have never loved before. No amateur in the art of kissing could curve them over the plate as beautifully as you do."

—Talk about Picnics—the Fair is the big one.

—A special meeting of the Woman's Hospital Association will be held in Y. M. C. A. parlors on Friday, September 1st, at 4 p. m. All members requested to be present as there is important business to be transacted.

—It is high time to consider what you are going to take to the Fair.

—At a meeting of Council, Monday evening, it was agreed to exonerate the property of the White Lead Co. for ten years if they will locate here. The Co. can get ten acres of ground here for nothing; and some of our capitalists have agreed to take a hundred thousand of stock.

Bigger, better, grander than ever—the Great Butler Fair—September 5-8.

—The ho use of Mr. Joseph Donthett near Brownsdale, Penn township was entered by burglars on Sunday night last and a number of articles stolen. Nearly every house, springhouse and cellar in that section of the county has been visited by thieves within the past few months, and if any of them should happen to be caught in the act it will likely go hard with them.

—Everybody meets everybody at the Butler Fair.

—J. S. Wick unexpectedly finds himself in a new business. Ed. Colbert took a notion to sell out last week, and Shry bought his store.

The Gents Furnishing Goods trade is a new one to Shry, but he has set about learning it, and will have the assistance of his son, Clifford, who has been with Ed. the past year, in keeping the stock up to its present enviable repretation.

—The plugs in many old wells in this section are now being drilled out. These plugs were put in at the foot of the casing, six or seven hundred feet below the surface, to shut off the fresh water, and some of them have been in for over 20 years. It is an odd fact that while fresh water is seldom found here below 700 feet, it is found at some points along the sea coast at 1500 feet in sufficient quantities to supply large towns.

—Riderless Horse-races at the Fair.

Fine Barn and Intelligent Farming.

If any one desires to see a fine barn with all modern improvements, applied to carry on the Dairy business in its most enlightened and practical manner, he should take time to made a call and inspect the barn, boiler, and all modern appliances to put the purest milk on the market at the farm of John S. Shanor in Center twp. To see the Fountain of this Dairy, the fine cows, Guernsey and Jersey, will be a treat in itself, and altogether it is a credit to Butler County that we have such a progressive and wide awake farmer in it as Mr. John Shanor, oldest son of the late D. NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

Burglars invaded the Cambria county court house at Ebensburg, last Saturday night, and stole $400 from the treasurer's office, besides damaging the safe and vault to the extent of $500. The thieves gained an entrance through the rear window of the District Attorney's office and pried open the door of the treasurer's room with a jimmy. The three steel doors of the vault were blown open with dynamite, after the knobs of the combination locks had been knocked off and the locks crushed with a sledge hammer. The robbers did not get into the regular money vault of the safe, which contained a large sum. The $400 taken had been placed outside the money vault for immediate use by Treasurer E.F. Spencer, who did not discover the robbery until next morning

The Fair.

It will be unfortunate if you are compelled to miss the Butler Fair this year, for this one promises to be the best one ever held on the grounds. A Great Day in Pittsburg.

The Tenth Regiment breakfasted at New Brighton, Monday noon, reached Pittsburg, about 3 P. M., and formed on Stockton Ave. The great parade formed on Federal street and marched to Schenley Park, a distance of about four miles, where the great crowd listened to speeches by Gov. Stone, President McKinley, John Dalzell Lt. Col. Barnett, and others, till dark, and as no lights had been provided for the big tents when the banquet was spread for the regiment, that part of the program was a failure.

That night the President and his party went to East Liverpool, O.

In his speech at the Park the President outlined his policy regarding the Philippines as follows.

"The world will never know the restraint of our soldiers—their self-control under the most exasperating conditions. For weeks subjected to the insults and duplicity of the insurgent leaders, they preserved the status quo, remembering that they were under an order from their goverment to sacredly observe the terms of the protocol in letter and spirit, and avoid all conflict, except in defense, pending the negotiations of the treaty of peace. They were not the aggressors. They did not begin hostilities against the insurgents pending the ratsfication of the treaty of peace in the Senate, great as was their justification, because their orders from Washington forbade it. I take all the responsibility for that direction. Otis and Merritt only executed the orders of their goverment, and the soldiers, under great provocation to strike back, obeyed. Until the treaty was ratified we had no authority beyond Manila city, bar and harbor. We then had no other title to defend, no authority beyond that maintain. Spain was still in possession of the remainder of the archipelago. Spain had sued for peace. The truce and treaty were not concluded. The first blow was struck by the insurgents. Our kindness was reciprocated with cruelty, our mercy with a Mauser. The flag of truce was invoked only to be dishonored. Our soldiers were shot down when ministering to the wounded Filipinos. Our humanity was interpreted as weakness, our forbearance as cowardice. They assailed our sovereignty, and there will be no useless parley—no pause until the insurrection is suppressed and American authority acknowledged and established. The misguided followers in rebellion have only our charity and pity. As to the cruel leaders who have needlessly sacrificed the lives of thousands of their people, at the cost of some of our best blood, for the gratification of their own ambitious designs, I will leave to others the ungracious task of justification and eulogy.

"Every one of the noble men, regulars or volunteers, soldiers or seaman, who thus signally served their country in its extremity, deserves the special recognition of Congress, and it will be to me an unfeigned pleasure to recommend for each of them a special metal of honor.

"While we give you hail and greeting from overflowing hearts we do not forget the brave men who remain and those who have gone forward to take your places, and those other brave men who have promptly volunteered, crowding each other to go to the front, to carry forword to successful completion the work you so nobly began. Our prayers go with them, and more men and munitions if required for the speedy suppression of the rebellion, the establishment of peace and tranquility and a goverment under the undisputed sovereignty of the United States—a government which will do justice to all and at once encourage the best efforts and aspirations of these distant people and the highest development of their rich and fertile lands.

The government to which you gave your loyalty welcomes you to your homes. With no blot or stain upon your record, the story of your unselfish services to country and to civilization will be to the men who take your places at the front and on the firing line and to future generations an example of patriotism and an inspiration to duty."
