Extra Session Talk.

A special from Philadelphia to the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette, of yesterday said: "Ex-Senator Quay is said to have learned through Senator Penrose Sunday night that the indications are that the United States Senate will not admit him as a member of that body on the certificate issued by Gov. Stone. It is known that Senator Penrose has been canvassing the members of the United States senate to learn their attitude toward the admission of Ex-Senator Quay as the appointee of Governor Stone. It is said that Senator Penrose was able to go over the situation with ex-Senator Quay, and the conclusion they arrived at was that enough senators would not vote for the latter's admission unless they could be induced to change their minds before the question comes up in the senate."

The result was that the ex-senator decided that it would be better to rely upon an extra session of the legislature to give him his old seat in the senate than to go there with the governor's appointment and be rejected. It is, therefore, believed that the Quay lieutenants will be instructed to redouble their efforts to induce "insurgent" members of the legislature to pledge themselves to go into a caucus of the Republican members of the legislature to select a candidate for United States senator. The refusal of the senate to seat Mr. Quay would be regarded as disastrous to his leadership and his chances of controlling the next legislature, and the ex-senator is most anxious now, it is said, to have the vacancy filled by the present legislature called into extra session by the governor.

Ex-Senator Quay is expected to take charge of his own campaign and independently to direct the campaign for the Republicans state ticket in a manner that will bring out the Republican vote, as he considers that essential to his own success. The ex-senator will come to Philadelphia often during the next six weeks, and when he is not here he will be in consultation with State Chairman Reeder by long distance telephone, which runs into his Lancaster county home.

The issuance of a writ by Lt.-Gov. Gobin to fill the vacancy in the senate caused by the death of Col. Hawkins, it is believed, was done at the instance of ex-senator Quay, who is counting on the election of a candidate who will vote for him in an extra session.

Over the wires went the news last Saturday noon that Dreyfus had been convicted—a fact that will cost France millions of money and the respect of the civilized world.

The Dreyfus Verdict.

At Rennes, France, last Saturday, Capt. Dreyfus was again convicted by a military court of a crime of which the civilized world believes him innocent and sentenced to ten years imprisonment, his four years on Devils Island to count as part of the sentence.

It is believed, however, that the French government will modify the sentence, as the trial was a travesty from beginning to end.

The text of the judgment was as follows: Today, the 9th of September, 1899, the court-martial of the Tenth Region Army Corps, deliberating behind closed doors, the president put the following question:

"Is Alfred Dreyfus, brevet captain, Fourteenth regiment of artillery, probated, on the general staff, guilty of having in 1894 entered into machinations or held relations with a foreign power or one of its agents to induce it to commit hostility or undeclared war against France, or procure it the means thereof by delivering the notes and documents mentioned in the documents called the bordenave, according to the decision of the court of cassation of June 31, 1897?"

The votes were taken separately, beginning with the inferior grade and youngest in the last grade, the president having given his opinion last. The court declares on the question by a majority of five votes to two, "yes, the accused is guilty." The majority agreed that there are extenuating circumstances in consequence of which, and on the request of the commissioner of the government, the president put the question and received again the votes in the above-mentioned form.

As a result, the court condemns, by a majority of five votes to two, Alfred Dreyfus to the punishment of ten years' detention.

There were pathetic scenes about the court-room, and disturbances in Rennes, Paris, and other places when the verdict became known, and the wave of indignation that spread over the entire civilized world was illustrated by the informal meeting of the most prominent merchants in St. Louis held that afternoon shortly after the Dreyfus decision became known, when it was unanimously agreed that none of them would attend the Paris exposition not make an exhibit.

Another "Boon" for Butler.

It is not always your funny fellows who attain the greatest results—sometimes your quiet men get there first.

Butler is to have a new and good industry, and its locating here is due almost entirely to the efforts of Dr. J. C. Redick.

It happened this way. Some months ago Dr. Redick, while talking to his old friend Mr. Davis in Pittsburg, learned from him that he intended re-entering the business of manufacturing white-lead, and had organized a company for that purpose. Mr. Davis was the former head of the Davis-Chambers White Lead Co., which sold out to the trust some years ago, and he intended locating his new plant in or about Pittsburg.

Mr. Redick presented the advantages of Butler for location, and made several visits to Pittsburg to press them, and induced Mr. Davis to come and see the town, and secured options on property on both sides of the town, and with the aid of Mr. Ritter secured subscriptions for $100,000 of stock here; and finally lanned the concern. And the plans have been made, and brick and iron and stone contracted for, and the contract for the work will probably be let during the latter part of this week or first of next, for the company are anxious to have the corrodung hall under roof within sixty days.
