LEGAL NEWS.

GRAND JURY PRESENTMENT The Grand Jury made its final presentment on Friday. They acted upon 27 indictments, returning 20 true bills and ignoring 7. They recommended that the supervisors of the several townships fill up the chuck holes, drain the roads and repair culverts preparatory to winter travel. also the use of tile ininter travel, also the use of tile in to winter trayel, also the use of tile instead of plank for culverts; the Court House, jail, etc. were reported in good condition; additional shelving was suggested in the Register and Recorders office; the Poor Farm was visited and the work on the buildings reported well done. It was suggested that Butler borough employ special police to stop the loafing and use of profane and vulgar language on the streets.

Seventeen cases were on District Attorney Painter's trial list Monday morning when Court convened. The first called was that against Amos Steelsmith, charged with assault and battery by his son-in-law, W. F. Braun, who alleged that Steelsmith had attacked him while on a train coming from Pittsburg to Butler to attend the famous divorce suit of last May, had taken him by the shoulder and threatened to kill him if he did not suppress certain letters. Tuesday morning the jury gave a vertice of not guilty and the prosecutor to pay the costs.

Braun's attorney. Lev. McQuistion, at once presented a written motion asking that part of the verdict placing the costs on Braun be set aside because the prosecution was brought in good faith. CRIMINAL COURT.

ation was brought in good faith prosecution was brought in good tatth, the verdict was contrary to the evidence and a relative of an opposing counsel was on the jury. The relative referred to was DeHaas Ekas of Buffalo twp., a cousin by marriage of Mr., Galbreath, who addressed the jury for Steelsmith. The motion was placed on the argument list.

Frank Hill and Charles Snyder, of Elwood, accused of the larceny of boots and other merchandise from Meed which he estimates at two millions.

the world has made in fifty centuries previous. The Nations of the world are learning to govern themselves from us, as we stard as a light to all Nations. Our Nation is founded on liberty. There is no education that touches and solute like chyster a civilization, and nere is no education that todeness and oints like christian civilization and ur progress is unreal unless it is touchd with christianity. Mr. Galbreath hade us to feel keenly the need of noral training to make education com-evening, and gave a very pleasing and instructive talk on school work. He tells us how we must move onward along educational lines, or all that is good and grand in our Nation will receive its death blow, and how our proper work by educated wordly socialovs must be educated morally, social oys must be educated morally, social-y, and intellectually to be educated rell. His speech throughout was full f good, practical advice to teachers, arents and pupils.
