PARK THEATRE.

JACK AND THE BEAN STALK-FRIDAY

"Jack and the Beanstalk" will be presented at the Park Theatre_Friday night, in all the splendor and magnificance that have characterized its engagements in Metropolitan cities. The managers and producers of "Jack" give distingt assurance that the distinct assurance that the performance to be given during this engagement will be in every particular as complete and as satisfying as were those given in New York, Boston and elsewhere. The cast will show some changes among the principal members of the company the principal members of the company. Miss Edith Yerrington formerly of the "Bostonians" will essay the part of "Jack". Then there will be the pretty maids, resplendent beauty, the eight good fairies, the forty terrible thieves, and all the other characters made familiar in the past. QUO VADIS-SATURDAY, MARCH 3

Sturdly eyening's attraction at the Park theatre is "Quo Vadis", one of the successes of the season as a literary work and as a dramatic production, rivalling the great efforts of the century. Everyone is or ought to be familiar with the wonderful book on which this play is founded. Its fine portraiture of the times of ancient Greece and Rome. of the people and their costumes, the early Christians are all gems placed in the most elaborate word settings. The drimatist has well followed the poetic figures of the story and builded a play that is true to the art of the author.

that is true to the art of the author.

"Quo Vadis has had a wonderful run of popularity wherever it has appeared.
In Caicago so great was the success of one of the companies which produced this play that in eight weeks a total business of $97,000 was done, "Quo Vadis" this season is playing in few of the smaller cities and Butler people are to be congratulated that Manager Burckalter has been able to book this wonder ful attraction for Butler.
