IT MAKES WOMEN HAPPY. "I had been a sufferer for many years from nervousness with all its symptoms and complications," writes Mrs. O. N. Fisher, of 1861 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. "Bwas constantly going to see a physician or purchasing medicine. My husband at last induced me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After taking one bottle and following your advice I was so encouraged that I took five more bottles of 'Favorite Prescription.' I continued taking it and felt that I was improving faster than at first. I am not now cross and irritely and I have a good color in my face. than at first. I am not now cross and irritable, and I have a good color in my face; have also gained ten pounds in weight and one thousand pounds of comfort, for I am a new woman once more, and your advice and your 'Favorite Prescription' is the cause of it."

BUCKWHEAT.

Plenting Time In Various Section Some of Its Uses. The bulk of the buckwheat produced in this country is grown in New York and Pennsylvania. While a fair crop may be made on very poor soil, like everything else, it does a good deal better on good soil well prepared. Sandy loams are a favorite soil for buckwheat, especially when it has been an old pasture or meadow that is to be plowed up, but it will do well or almost any soil that is not too wet. It should not be too rich or the crop will lodge, and no fresh manure should be used. The ground should be quit thoroughly prepared.

In western New York planting time the week before the 4th of July. In the extreme north it may be as early as the middle of May, while in some of the southern states planting is deferred until August. It may be sown broad cast or in drills, and half a bushel of seed is enough on good soil. It ripens very unevenly and if not harvested will bloom all through the season. The best crop comes from the earliest ripen-ing grain, however, and if not cut when the first seeds are ripe these will be lost, as it shatters easily. Many cut when the dew is on to prevent shattering as much as possible. It must be handled carefully in harvesting on this account. In addition to the foregoing advice the Iowa Homestead has enu-merated some of the uses of the crop as follows: As to the uses of the crop, it is goo poultry feed and mixed with corn makes good pork. It is also a favorite grain for fitting up horses quickly and giving them a nice, sleek coat. The straw, if well cured, is relished by both sheep and cattle, and it is also a good crop to plow under and is often sed as a catch erop when somethin ccurs to interrupt one's original plans When employed as a crop to plow up der, two crops a year are often grown. It is, of course, not as good as clover, for this purpose, but it has the advan-tage that it will grow on soils that will not produce a crop of clover, and hence it is often used to renovate very poor lands. It is one of the best crop known as a smothering crop for quack grass or other weeds of a similarly tenacious character, but when it is used for this purpose the ground should be very thoroughly prepared and the seeding should be heavy, as much as two to two and a half bushel per acre, and as soon as it is in bloom it should be plowed under, and, after being barrowed, reseeded again the season. Quack grass yields to this kind of treatment more readily perhaps than to any other.

Box For Shipping, Belgian Hares Having had some experience of the cost of shipping rabbits, a Farm and Fireside writer has been considering how to lessen the express charges an arrives at the conclusion that he wil

SHIPPING BOX. as possible first by shipping younger and there fore smaller animals and then by the selection of lightest packages. He says: Just at the present time a great deal of shipping Belgians is being done. In the comparatively few in-stances that I have been shipping rabbits, pigeons, etc., I have made use of a light box the upper corners of which had been cut away and the cover re-placed by light slats. The illustration makes this plain. To have the boxes especially light I prefer to make them of white cedar or linden, of course well ned. The Cowpen In the North. In advising an eastern New York ondent Country Gentleman says: The black eyed cowpea is consid ered the best. Sow 1½ to 2 bushels per acre. There is no need of planting them until the weather is rather warm from the first of June until the last of July. In many places in New York they do not form a dense mass of green material, as the climate is hardly warm enough to fully develop them. They are often planted in the south after the corn is 6 to 12 inches high. three or four peas being put in near much more to the many than the hill. The corn serves to keep them a trifle of a gift to the few, up, and the two plants are harvested together. A few have succeeded adbut while we have always re-membered our friends on or York, but it is doubtful if it is any beautiful to the companion of t about Chritmas and will con- ter than the Canada or marrowfat pea laid particular stress on this da pea because the leaves are broader It grows more erect and clings better We now wish to call your at- | to the oats with which it is sown tention to the fact that our The only possible objection to using the marrowfat instead of the Canada pea is that the seed costs about 75 per cent more. The green manure crops by reason of a bottle of fine should be plowed under just before or W. Va. Cherry wine being at the time they are fully mature. If left to die upon the ground, the vines or stalks do not lighten up the soil and $1 and over from December produce the beneficial physical results that they do when plowed under.
