ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Subject to the Republican Primary, Saturday, June 1, 1901, 1 to 7 p. m.

CLERK OF COURTS.

W. H. CAMPBELL, of Concord twp.
GEO. M. GRAHAM, of Connoq. twp. (Third run)
D. D. QUIGLEY, of Butler, Formerly of Penn twp.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY,

JOHN W. COULTER, of Butler.
WM. C. FINDLEY, of Butler.
ELMER E. YOUNG, of Butler.

COUNTY SURVEYOR,

B. F. HILLIARD, of Washington twp.

DELEGATE TO STATE CONVENTION. (3 to elect.)

W. W. HILL, of Adams twp.
W. R. HOCKENBERRY, of Slipperyrock.
W. B. MCGEARY, of Butler.
GEORGE B. TURNER, of W. Sunbury.
IRA S. ZIEGLER, of Zelienople.

I hereby certify that the foregoing candidates have complied with the rules regulating Republican primary elections, and are therefore eligible to nomination and election.

C. F. L. MCQUISTION,
Chairman County Committee.

THE canvass for the Republican political nominations will end with next week, and the vote will be polled on Saturday, June 1st. between the hours of 1 and 7 o'clock p. m.

The new rules require the voters to elect two inspectors as well as a County Committeeman or Return Judge for each precinct; and also that the Return Judges at their first meeting shall fix the time for holding the primary election of the following year.

The list of candidates, this year, is a small one, and the remarkably unfavorable weather has given the candidates but scant opportunity for canvassing the farmers, but yet at least half a vote may reasonably be expected.

Setting the date for the primary a week or two later would perhaps be better—and fairer to the new candidates. Last year the whole county took a day or two to attend the Centennial in the middle of June.

HARRISBURG.

Three court bills of general interest were up for consideration last Thursday, and the House passed finally the bills increasing the allowance of Supreme Court Judges for clerk hire, etc., from $1,000 to $2,500, and changing the method of electing Superior Court Judges. The object of the latter bill is to make possible the re-election of Judges W. W. Porter of Philadelphia, and W. D. Porter of Pittsburg, who were elected in 1899. The terms of four members of the Superior Court expire in 1905. The law of 1899 provides that, when two or more Judges of the Superior Court are to be elected for the same term, each elector may vote for as many persons, less one, as there are Judges to be elected.

This is being amended so that when four or more are to be elected, and after 1900, when two or more are to be elected, each elector may vote for one less than the number to be chosen. The change will let in both the Porters for another term.

The third court bill was the one creating an additional law Judge in Northumberland county. It passed the Senate, although Senator Hampton W. Rice, in discussing it, declared the new Judgship unnecessary and supported his statement by showing that Judge Savage earned $2,000 in the last year by serving on the bench of other counties when he had nothing to do at home. Senator Rice concluded, however, that there was no use in protesting, as somebody was to get another job.

A STREET-CAR strike in Albany, N. Y., the bringing in by the company of non-union men to run the cars, violence on the part of the strikers towards those men who had taken their places and the destruction of some of the company's property; followed by the arrival of a regiment of the state guard or militia and violence towards them by the strikers, caused the militia to fire a volley into the crowd last Thursday by which two spectators were killed and several wounded. There was rioting on the streets of that city for several days, last week, and then both sides to the controversy made some concessions and the strike was over.

Opening of the Pan-American.

Buffalo's Pan-American Exposition was dedicated under circumstances most auspicious, Monday. Not a thing occurred to mar the pleasure of the occasion. The weather was all that could be desired, fair and cool; all the notables who were expected, and some who were unexpected, were there; the factories and the stores were closed almost without exception, the people of Buffalo turned out in great numbers, the Exposition grounds were in better shape than was anticipated on Saturday, and, altogether, the affair was a success.

The most notable features of the parade were the fine marching of the members of the Sixty-fifth and Seventy-fourth Regiments, and Vice President Roosevelt. After a long procession of carriages containing the prominent citizens of the town, came the Midway parade. Such a gathering!

First, the Indians in full war paint, followed by Mexicans, cowboys, Philippinos, Hawaiians, Japanese, gipsies, Eskimos, Hulu Hulu dancers, bull fighters, wild animals and a varied assortment of other things. It all went to make up a parade as peculiar as could be imagined.

Out at the Exposition grounds the crowd had begun to form. As the parade entered the grounds several thousand homing pigeons were released, bearing the announcement to many cities and towns, among them Pittsburg, that the Pan-American Exposition was being officially dedicated. Meantime, dozens of kites, spelling out the name and motto of the Exposition, were flying the skies, almost hid the sun. Round and round the pigeons circled and then started on their long journeys.

Every one of the 3,000 seats of the great music pavilion was occupied when the officials and speakers reached there On Saturday the hall looked as though it would not be ready for occupancy for a week, but it was in trim condition. A perfect oration was given to President John C. Milburn, who acted as master of ceremonies. He read greetings from President McKinley, the Premier of Canada and the Presidents of the following Southern Republics: Haiti, Columbia, Peru, Jamaica, Ecuador, Nicaragua, Uruguay Martinique, Paraguay, Argentine and Santo Domingo.

AT San Francisco, last Saturday the weather was auspicious, Mrs. McKinley was in better health, and everything was in readiness at the Ship yard for the launching of the battle ship to be called the "Ohio." The President and his party were driven to the dock, where a great crowd had assembled, to whom he made a speech; and the launching was a successful one.

COMMENCEMENT

The Baccalaureate.

All Butler flocked to the Opera House, Sunday evening, and long before the curtain rose, every seat—excepting those reserved for the High School, and graduates of the Ninth Grade—was occupied, with hundreds of people standing in the lobby and isles.

Towards 8 o'clock the graduates arrived in a long string of twos—the handsomest set of young ladies, and manliest set of young men you ever laid eyes on—and when order was restored the curtain rose; Rev. Oller led in prayer; a selected choir, led by Mrs. Colbert, sang a hymn.

Rev. T. B. Roth of Thiel College read the 11th chapter of Matthew; Miss Anderson gave a solo.

Then Rev. Roth delivered the baccalaureate sermon, taking for his text—"Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

It was a fine sermon and we hope the young folks will remember its lessons.

Another "Old Butler Boy."

Mr. James Spence, formerly of Unionville, Centre twp., this county, and a citizen of Missouri for the past 35 years, is at present on a visit to his old friends of this county. Mr. Spence is very pleasantly remembered by all who knew him and especially by the members of the "Blackstone Guards," a company of militia raised here and who went out in 1862 to the war. The late Ex-Sheriff Gilmore Campbell was the Captain and our present Ex-Judge E. McJunkin and Mr. Charles Duffy were the Lieutenants and Mr. Spence by a unanimous vote of the company. While acting in that capacity an incident occurred at Greencastle, on the border of the State, while the company was camped there. Mr. Spence had procured from a neighboring farmer a fine sheep, in order to furnish the company with some good mutton. This he brought to camp and tied to a tree, preparatory to being slaughtered. By some accident the victim intended to appease the hunger of the soldiers became loose from the tree, and escaped. The whole company, led by Mr. Spence, pursued the fugitive sheep, which was not captured until it had reached its old home. The farmer by this time took sympathy on the former member of his flock, but the matter was amicably settled, the sheep delivered up, taken back to the camp in triumph, killed and dressed by Mr. Spence and afforded the Blackstone Guards a dinner of excellent mutton. Mr. Spence has prospered in Missouri. He lost his wife lately, but he is looking well at the age of near 73. His home is Kingland, Gentry county, Mo.

Visits Old Home.

Mr. John P. Gilchrist of Wheeling, West Virginia, but who was born and raised in Butler, made a visit to his old friends here last week. Mr. Gilchrist is the surviving member of a once influential family of this place. His father, John Gilchist Esq. lived in and owned what is now the Arlington Hotel property. He built the greater portion of that present building and was a man of enterprise and usefulness. He and some of his family died and were buried here. Mrs. Gilchrist, his wife, was a daughter of John Parker, one of the first Associate Judges of this County, and a sister of the late George and Fullerton Parker of near Parkers Landing. The family scattered and we learn from John P., our visitor, that all are deceased except himself. He went to Wheeling in 1853 when a young man was married there and has prospered in life. He was born here March 1830 and is therefore 71 years of age. He is a man of culture and a gentleman in all his ways and all his old acquaintances yet living here were very much pleased to again see and greet him. He was accompanied here by one of his sons.

Coal Valley.

The surprise party given at the home of N. P. Bell on Saturday evening, last, was largely attended and enjoyed by all.

Quite a number from the valley attended the convention at Concord last week.

Frank Donaldson and family of Kenton, W. Va. are visiting friends in this vicinity.

Services are being conducted in Concord Presbyterian church each evening this week by Rev. McClure of Freeport.

Oil excitement is increasing rapidly. James Hindman and Plummer McClung have leased the Bell farm; Perry Bell the R. M. Donaldson; Thos. Rohrer the Robt Thompson and Plummer Stoner the Baxter Campbell. DOMIC.

Hooker, Pa

Some of the people of Concord twp. would like to know why the school taxes were so high this last year, and why some have been charged so much more in proportion than others.

A TAX PAYER.

Slipperyrock Convention.

About 200 delegates from all parts of Butler county were in Slippery Rock attending the 24th annual convention of the County Sabbath School Association, which met Monday and Tuesday. As the delegates arrived they were assigned to their places of entertainment by Messrs. Kerr and Bolton, of the entertainment committee. Daylight sessions were held Monday in the M. E. church. The afternoon was to be devoted to children and children's work, but as Mrs. J. W. Barnes, the state superintendent of primary work, did not arrive, the time was occupied by Revs. J. H. Douds, J. W. Grimes and Paul Slonaker. Miss Ida McFann read an especially fine paper on the Altoona convention of 1900.

Monday evening in the Normal chapel Dr. A. E. Maltby delivered an address of welcome, which was responded to by Rev. Worrell, the county president. Rev. Dr. Charles Roads, of Philadelphia, general secretary of the State Association, delivered an address on "The 20th Century Sabbath School."

Tuesday morning's meetings were held in the Presbyterian church. A sunrise prayer meeting was conducted by Rev. Eli Miller. At nine o'clock reports were heard from the district secretaries and department superintendents. A "round table" was conducted by Miss Ethel Kilpatrick, of Valencia, and Rev. C. H. Quick made a sensible and scholarly address on temperance.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. J. W. Barnes arrived and talked on children's work. H. R. Sheffield, of Chicora, and Rev. E. S. Littell, of Zelienople, spoke, and the the reports of committees were received and officers for the ensuing year were elected. They are: President, Rev. J. A. Lavely, of Slippery Rock; vice president, Rev. J. W. Grimes, of Connoquenessing; recording secretary, Mina E. Waldron, of Evans City; corresponding secretary, Henry W. Bame, Harmony; treasurer, Rev. R. F. McMeekin; home department superintendent, Mrs. Harriet Cooper. Butler, primary superintendent, Miss Ethel Kilpatrick, Valencia; normal superintendent, Rev. G. R. Edmundson, Slippery Rock.

Executive Committee—Revs. E. R. Worrell and Eli Miller, of Butler, and J. A. McCamey, of Chicora.

Butler was selected as the place of convention for 1902. The date will be fixed by the executive committee.

The last session was held in the Normal chapel Tuesday evening. Rev. Worrell presided. Rev. Burry offered prayer. Vocal music was rendered by a choir of young men, a quartet of mixed voices, and Mrs. Prof. Tinsley. The bass singing of Benjamin Christley was especially attractive and deserving of notice.

Rev. Roads spoke on organizing, educating and evangelizing in the Sabbath school, and Rev. J. Bell Neff, of Grace M. E. church, Oil City, delivered a magnificent lecture on "Waste." His statement that 70 per cent of our criminals are young men and only five per cent of our church-goers are young men indicates the waste which he wants reclaimed.

The people of Slippery Rock made every delegate feel really welcome and at home. May they partake of Butler's hospitality next year.

Harmony and Zelienople.

Jere Allis is now the sole proprietor of the Harmony mill; he lately purchased the stock owned by all the other members of the Harmony Milling Co. Ltd. Mr. Allis is thinking of building a house at Harmony and living here during the summer months.
