The Boatmen's Reunion.

The chief feature of the late reunion of the employees of the old Penn'a State canal, at Blairsville on the 15th, was an address by Prof. Chapman of Ingram, who reviewed the early history of the state so far as it relates to the building of the first military roads and turnpikes over the mountains; and the building of the canals, and also the railroad over the mountains by the state in '27, '28 and '29, and quoted Dicken's account of his trip over in '42. A very pleasant yet very tedious trip.

About a hundred men who worked on the canal are yet living and among them William Mitchell of this place who drove for the night Packet between Freeport and Allegheny from 1848 to 1856, beginning when he was but fifteen years of age, were present at the reunion, and they had a very pleasant meeting and will meet again, D. V. at Livermore, next year.
