
Dyspepsia AND Liver Disease CURED BY DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

"I was weak, nervous and dizzy, with a fainting sensation when walking," writes Jesse Childress, Esq., of Samuel, Sullivan Co., Tenn. "Could not walk any distance; always felt bad after eating; felt as though something was sticking in my throat, always uneasiness in stomach. Doctored with three physicians but they did not relieve me. I grew worse and used everything I could think of; was nearly ready to give up and then some one told me that Dr. Pierce's medicine was good, so I began taking his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I have taken seven bottles of that now and am as stout as ever, and enjoying health as much as ever before. I worked all summer and this winter as much as any one. My case was liver disease and nervous dyspepsia of which your medicine has cured me. In September 1898 my weight was about 95 pounds, now it is 195. Please accept my sincere thanks."

Riding the Wooden Horse.

Torture on a grand scale went out with Felton, the assassin of Buckingham, but torture on a small scale continued to be practiced on military offenders down to the eighteenth century. The form most frequently resorted to was that known as the wooden horse, to ride which was the punishment accorded for petty thefts, insubordination and so on. The wooden horse was made of planks nailed together so as to form a sharp ridge or angle about eight or nine feet long. This ridge represented the back of the horse and was supported by four posts or legs about five feet high placed on a stand made movable by truckles. To complete the resemblance to the noblest animal in creation a head and tail were added.

When a soldier was sentenced, either by court martial or by his commanding officer, to ride the horse, he was placed on the brute's back, with his hands tied behind him, and frequently enough, in order to increase the pain, muskets were fastened to his legs to weigh them down or, as was jocularly said, to prevent the fiery, untamed, bare-backed steed from kicking him off.—London Graphic.

The Camphor Eater.

It is surprising what a number of camphor eaters there are among the well to do classes. The idea seems to prevail that this gum, taken in small and regular doses, gives a peculiarly clear creaminess of complexion, and scores of young women buy it for this purpose. The habit is, moreover, very difficult to cast off, for camphor produces a mild form of exhilaration and stupefaction, and in many instances where very large doses have been swallowed the habit has become a sort of slavery.

These camphor eaters all have a dreamy, dazed and very listless air, and in most of them there is an ever present longing to sleep or at least to rest. Extreme weakness generally follows the taking of regular doses, and I have seen cases where it has been almost difficult to tell the effects from those of alcohol. As to the complexion, if a ghastly pallor be an improvement camphor certainly produces it.—Clinic.

When "Pluck" Was Slang.

The word "pluck" affords another instance of the way in which slang words in the course of time become adopted into current English. We now meet with "pluck" and "plucky" as the recognized equivalents of "courage" and "courageous." An entry in Sir Walter Scott's "Journal" shows that in 1827 the word had not yet lost its low character. He says (volume 2, page 30), "Want of that article blackguardly called pluck." Its origin is obvious. From early times the heart has been popularly regarded as the seat of courage. Now, when a butcher lays open a carcass he divides the great vessels of the heart, cuts through the windpipe and then plucks out together the united heart and lungs—lights, he calls them—and he terms the united mass "the pluck."—Notes and Queries.

A Victim of Scotch Logic.

A highland hotel keeper was one day having a squabble with an Englishman in the lobby of the hotel about his bill. The stranger said it was a gross imposition—he could live cheaper in the best hotel in London.

The highland landlord replied, "Oh, nae doot, sir, nae doot; but dae ye no' ken the reason?"

"Not a bit of it," replied the stranger hastily.

"Weel, then," replied the host, "as ye seem to be a sensible bit callant, I'll tell ye. There's 365 days in the Lunnon hotel keeper's calendar, but we have only three months here. Dae ye understand me noo, freen'? We maun mak' hay in the hielan's when the sun shines, for it's unco seldom she dis't."—Scottish American.

The Appian Way.

The famous Appian way, mentioned by almost every Roman writer, connected the Eternal City with all parts of south Italy. For many miles from Rome the space on each side was filled with sepulchers, many of them of persons distinguished in history. To have a sepulcher on the Appian way was equivalent to being buried in Greenwood, in New York, or Pere la Chaise, in Paris.

A Peculiar Word.

The word "habit" is one of the most peculiar in our language. If you take off the first letter, you still have "a bit." If you remove the second, the word "bit" is still on hand. Decapitate that by removing the "b" and it is still a word. Take off the "i," and you find the old "habit" not "t" totally destroyed.

Knew Her.

Pat—And how is the wife, Mike?

Mike—Sure, and I had the doctor last night.

Pat—I didn't know thot she was so sick as thot.

Mike—No, and she didn't need him, but iv she hod died sure and she would always hov blamed me!—Judge.

The River Jordan.

The Jordan is the "Descender." During its course it falls over 1,200 feet. At no point is it navigable even by a small craft to any considerable distance and presents the unique spectacle of a river which has never been navigated flowing into a sea which contains not one living creature.

Experienced.

AN ORDINANCE.

An ordinance widening Polk street from the first alley East of McKean street to Main street and adopting the same as a public street of Butler borough.

WHEREAS, The Town Council of Butler borough, after due deliberation, deem it necessary to widen Polk street from the first alley East of McKean street to Main street and to adopt the same as a public street of Butler borough: therefore,

SECTION 1. The Burgess and Town Council of Butler borough do ordain and it is hereby ordained and enacted by authority of the same: That Polk street in said borough from the first alley East of McKean street to Main street shall be widened to forty (40) feet by extending the same ten (10) feet on the South side through the lands of Alexander Mitchell Esq., and Leslie P. Hazlett, (formerly plotted by Alexander Mitchell, Esq., as a street); also by extending the same ten (10) feet on the South side through the lands of Mrs. Margaret J. Vanderlin to Main street.

SECTION 2. Polk street as widened by this ordinance and more particularly described in a plot of said street on file in the office of the Secretary of Councils which plot or profile is made part of this ordinance, shall be and hereby is adopted as a public street of Butler borough.

Ordained and enacted in Council this.....day of..... 1902

.....
President Town Council

ATTEST:

.....
Secretary Council.

Now,.....1902, after due consideration the above and foregoing ordinance is hereby approved.

.....
Burgess Butler borough.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to Alexander Mitchell, Esq. Leslie P. Hazlett, Mrs. Margaret J. Vanderlin, Miss Angeline Thompson, Mrs. Mary A. Biedenbaugh, Prof. John A. Gibson and all property owners upon and along Polk street between the points of the proposed improvement, that the above and foregoing ordinance widening Polk street to forty (40) feet from the first alley East of McKean street to Main street, was introduced and read in open Council at a regular meeting thereof held November 5th, 1901.

That the same will be presented for final enactment at the regular meeting of Council to be held in City Hall the first Tuesday of January, 1902, at eight o'clock p. m., at which time and place all persons interested in the adoption or rejection of said ordinance are requested to be present and they shall be heard.
