NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOTE-All advertisers intending to make space in this paper should notify us of their intention at least 10 days before the date of publication.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

NO PAPER NEXT WEEK.

In accordance with our usual custom there will be no paper issued from this office next Christmas week. We wish all our readers a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

- A base ball team is the latest.
-Christmas next Wednesday.
-1922 comes in on a Wednesday.
-Read all the Christmas advertising.
-The Institute, this week, is a success.
-The Christmas tree makes its bonch to the public.
-Don't write it Xmas; that is a senseless abbreviation.
-Do early and avoid the ill Christmas flesh is heir to.
-The best part of a concert is seeing them march off the stage.
-Great snow storm in England last week, and our turn came next.
-This would be a better world if all persons took their own advice.
-The blizzard stopped the floods in the eastern part of the state.
-They were playing copper foot ball in the stock exchanges last week.
-A turkey shoot was held at Plumber Flegler's at Jamisonville, Friday.
-3-lem, W. Va., an oil town, was almost destroyed by fire, Saturday night.
-If you don't know what to buy for a Christmas present just read our holiday ads.
-It froze so hard that it stopped the Court House clock at 7 minutes to 1, Monday morning.
-Now that Macroni has succeeded in sending a message over the sea, all the cables can be cut.

The Pittsburgh Brewing Co's store-house back of the West Penn station was burned last night. Small loss.
-Nobody seems to know exactly how many quarts of glycerine there were in the magazine that exploded, Tuesday.
-B. F. Frantz's new house on Chestnut st. near W. Ward, was slightly damaged by fire last Thursday evening.
-The young man who is in doubt about what to buy his best girl for Christmas, should settle on a marriage license.
-Will Shira and Edward E. Bell of Washington township were in Butler, Pa. last night. Shira has had typhoid fever in his home since last August. His wife and brother-in-law, Eph Campbell, having been sick. The latter has been well for sometime and Mrs. Shira is now almost fully recovered.

James M. Pearce of Parker township secured a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Anna Pearce, on Monday. She has had a divorce from her first husband, J. H. Campbell, in 1918.
-What is called the "Hobo Hotel" is said to be playing havoc in West Virginia, and points nearby. It started among the foreigners at the limestone quarry and is spreading over the neighborhood. It is very contagious, and the whole body of a man is affected. It has gone to the stomach of one young lady near Craigsville, and fatal effects are feared.

A three-story brick hotel in Ford City called the "Fifth Avenue," was burned last Thursday morning. All the guests were supposed to have escaped, but after the fire subsided the charred body of John Diamond, a glass worker from Wheeling, were found in the ruins. Geo. Richards and several others received burns, and two men were hurt by jumping.
-Heretofore Hazleton merchants will advertise exclusively in the newspapers. This was agreed upon at a recent meeting, and all advertising schemes, which the business men were almost forced to patronize because of the fear that the failure to do so would mean loss of trade, must depend on other sources for revenue. It was found that newspaper advertising was less expensive than periodical advertising in "Heres" and always produced better results.

This being the year for the biennial return to the department of public instruction for a basis for the distribution of one-third of the state appropriation to schools, of the number of children between six and sixteen years of age, when it is advisable to call the attention of school directors to the fact. It would be well if at least one member of the board, or some one authorized by them, would call on the county commissioners and ascertain if their district has been properly credited with the number of children to which it is entitled. This is especially necessary in cases of independent districts and those where a portion of one district has been attached to another for school purposes only.
-School Journal.

-At no time in the history of the Butler Business College, has it enjoyed so liberal a patronage, never has it done so much and so good work, and never has it placed its graduates and students in positions so rapidly as at the present time. This institution has already filled 21 positions this term. Prof. Regal, Principal of the school, tells us that he expects to fill at least 100 positions this term.
-Those wishing to enter for work in the New Year, should enter on Monday, Dec. 20, 1921, or as near that time as possible.

There is no more useful piece of furniture for the house than a Sewing Machine—could do without it. Why don't you get your wife one for a Christmas present? Don't have her temper spoiled with that old worn out one. Why "Great Scott!" Brown & Co. will send you a high grade standard machine—warranted for two years for only $16.75. It will do a better one for $20.00. Write for $30.00—a genuine $55.00 (agent's price) for $30.00. See it and compare with any $65 machine on the market.
-Perfumes, Perfume Atomizers, Toilet Sets, Fancy Wigs, Brushes, Hair and Comb Brushes, Leather Goods, Purses, Bill Books and Card Cases. Large assortment at Johnson's Crystal Pharmacy, 106 N. Main St.

The damage suit of Ada Martin vs. Butler borough resulted in a verdict of $275 for the use of her left arm. Property on Mercer St., which it was proved, was damaged by changing the bridge over the water in the street. The bridge was a year ago a jury awarded her $400, and a new trial was granted on the borough's motion. The bridge was broken and the water was going out to injure the stock, and when the report came she needed nothing more to tell her that the bridge was her children's fatherless.
-Edwards lived in L. C. Wick's house at 218 West 10th street, with his wife and three children, two girls aged 9 and 5 years, and a boy aged 7. Mrs. Edwards was in the house at the time of the explosion and the report had not alarmed her. The sad news had to be broken to her by her father and brother. Mr. Edwards had been late at dinner Tuesday and had no memory of the explosion. Mrs. Edwards and her boy recently have been sick. She is a sister of Jas. Frantzen of the Frantzen place, W. Cunningham street with her two babies, aged two years and three weeks respectively. Her husband told her she was going out to invoice the stock, and when the report came she needed nothing more to tell her that the bridge was her children's fatherless.

J. T. Holland, Mr. Edwards's partner, confessed the amount of nitro-glycerine which exploded to have been 1000 to 1500 pounds.
-Edwards had taken out a $2000 policy in the Casualty Co. of New York a short time ago, but attorneys who have examined the policy believe it should be collected. If this is so both families are left with but little more than their furniture and clothing. The relatives who are to doubt willing to help them, but here is a chance for the people of Butler to aid the widows and orphans.
-The idea of a popular subscription has been urged and favorably considered. We call on writing societies to meet next general. It can be had free of charge at the principal ticket office of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, or will be sent by mail on application to Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

Funeral services in memory of both men will be held at the residence of Thos. Edwards, 217 E. 2nd St., at 2:30 this afternoon, Dec. 19.
-Good Appetites.
-School teachers are usually young and handsome, also hearty—that is they always enjoy a good meal; and while they are in town, next week, they will find the B. & P. CAFE in the Stein building, one square from the Court House, the best place in Butler to get just what they want.
-Take a room anywhere, but when next time comes don't forget the B. & P.

ANOTHER OIL TOWN TRAGEDY.

Shortly before four o'clock Tuesday afternoon Butler was shaken to its foundations by the heaviest concussion in its history. People for an instant were stunned and stupefied, buildings swayed, dishes fell from shelves and shattered on the floors, and windows were broken in dozens of buildings. A large plate glass window in Mrs. Lyon's building on the Diamond, occupied by Cooper, the tailor, crashed to the pavement, in the front of the National Supply store, the frame work split and the glass was shivered by some reason. The windows of the building were broken in the Broad St. School building, Court House, Younkens, Boyd, Aland, Boos and many other buildings.

The tremors force came from the southwest, a crowd rushed to the rear of the Court House and across the valley a great cloud of yellowish white smoke was seen. The smoke was bright in the south of the Fair Ground, where in the valley of Mills Run between the houses of Samuel Schaffner on the Ayers, in the room of the Kild and Kild, was acquitted, last week. The case was a very sensational one.

On petition of Mary Russell, mother of Conner Russell, Orms G. McCandless of Unionville was appointed guardian of said minor.

ACCIDENTS.

Benjamin Bower of Freeport, a West Penn brakeman, was killed by a train at Natrona, Friday night.
-Geo. McFarland, aged 12 years, accidentally shot himself through the leg last Saturday, while shooting sparrows at Evans City.
-Joseph Graham of St. Joe, fell and cut his head badly a few days ago, but is able to be about again. He has head trouble and attributes his fall to that.

Patrick J. Barrett, son of Edward Barrett, the brickman at the Bossier railroad's Centre Ave. crossing, was killed by a train while walking across a trestle over the tracks near Union, Pa. He was evidently struck from the rear and was knocked down and his legs crushed. He was taken to the hospital at Natrona, Pa. He was picked up in the ravine under the trestle and died on reaching Richey Guard, Mrs. Freda W. Wiser, leading in from Schaffner's. Two other board buildings, the Humes factory and Schaffner's magazine had been wrecked. How it happened will never be known. The news was brought to the city by the wagon. The first to reach the place—passing the Humes buildings—saw no explosion, but when the Puna magazine had stood on the trestle for 15 feet deep. The trunk of a great oak tree, close to the hole, was struck by a train. The two horses lay with their heads and necks and most of their bodies had been blown to atoms. The front parts were there, but the rest seemed to be crushed. Twisted pieces of iron were all that remained of the wagon. At first glance it was thought that the train had run over the wagon, but Chief of Police Ray, who was one of the first on the scene, said that the explosion had occurred in a heart. A piece of shell, a cross section of iron with the shell and cross section still attached, and other small pieces were also found.

Everyone surprised what had happened to Parker and Edwards. They were on their being at the magazine because terrible. Quickest of all to guess the terrible truth was Mrs. Parker, who was in the Pringle house, W. Cunningham street with her two babies, aged two years and three weeks respectively. Her husband told her she was going out to invoice the stock, and when the report came she needed nothing more to tell her that the bridge was her children's fatherless.

Pennsylvania Railroad's Winter Excursion Route Book.
In pursuance of its annual custom, the Passenger department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has just issued an attractive and comprehensive book descriptive of the leading Winter Excursion Routes. The book contains the rates and various routes and combinations of routes of travel. Like all the publications of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, this "Winter Excursion Book" is a model of typographical excellence. It is bound in a handsome and artistic cover in colors, and contains much valuable information. We call on writing societies to meet next general. It can be had free of charge at the principal ticket office of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, or will be sent by mail on application to Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

Clerical Orders for 1922.
Clerical orders for the year 1922 will be issued by the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railway Co. in former years to ordained clergymen having regular charge of churches located on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Applications for blank forms will be furnished by ticket agents of the company and should be forwarded to the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railway Co., 112 Broadway, New York, N. OIL NOTES.

The Market—Last Thursday both agencies made out 5 cents each, making the price $1.20 on Monday another 5-cent cut was made, and both agencies are paying $1.15 this morning.
-Lancaster twp.—The Kanawha Oil Co. struck the first good well on the R. Barnhart farm and are drilling up better than Youngblood No. 2, which started up at about 100 barrels from the 100-foot. This farm is on the little creek, about four miles north-east of Harmony.
-Adams twp.—The Sauer & Adams Oil Co. got a good well on the Rev. M. Kinsy farm, in the 100-foot. Monday.

Concord twp.—On the Fowler heirs farm in Campbell Hollow the South Penn. No. 1 is holding up at a 12 barrel a day rate. It will be through the Speeshey in a week or two and No. 3 and 4 are started. The South Penn. No. 1 is a new well on the Joseph, Morrow, Saturday, and have a nice well. Guffy & Guffy's No. 2 on the Piner heirs and the South Penn. No. 1 on the Piner heirs, both near Hooker, are to be through the Speeshey this week and as they are located in territory which will not be drilled to be good producers.
-Clay twp.—The Home Gas Co. of Butler got a dry hole on the Widow Barley farm two weeks ago and are drilling on the Holstein in what is considered first class territory.
-The old gas wells between West Senary and Euclid are said to accumulate heads of oil from the third sand which require drilling off and many people think that some paying producers might be drilled near them. Several wells have been drilled which were considered failures.

Petersville—South of Petersville, E. Stauffer & Co's well on the Barnhart farm was struck Monday in the 100-foot sand. The well is now being drilled to a depth of 300 barrels a day, the best well struck in Butler county in years. Five wells are located in the same territory and all the surrounding territory was drilled over years ago.
-Allegheny twp.—Sheriff J. T. Kelly's last venture on the Piner farm and the Roseberry field in two weeks ago a 25 barrel well. There are two more locations which should bring good results.
