BREEDING DUCKS.

Plain Houses and Nests For Farm Use-Inclosures and Water Runs. Houses for ducks are simple affairs. They are built plain and comfortable and have no furnishings whatever. A duck is differently constituted from a hen and must be cared for under differ-ent conditions. The hen needs warmer houses and drier surroundings than does the duck. A duck does not mind the cold if she can keep her feet warm. comb does a hen, retarding laying and

The roof should be made water tight and covered with tarred paper, shin-gles or tin. The outside should be well drained around the bottom that it may ot be damp. Some advocate board not be damp. Some advocate board floors raised six to eight inches from the ground and covered from four to six inches with dry earth, straw or leaves. The writer favors the using of board floors in all houses for chickens, but thinks it not essential for ducks. If the house is well drained on the outside and the earth floor is covered with hay, straw or leaves, it will be perfect ly satisfactory. There must not be dampness in the house, as the birds will not do so well. While they are given to water on the outside, they must have comfortable quarters in must have comfortable quarters in which to "warm up" or "dry out." There date nicely a flock of a dozen. There are no interior arrangements whatever, simply the floor space of the building. It is better not to use nests. Some raisers use a plain nest, as shown the second cut. These nests are made of one inch boards twelve inches high and sixteen inches long set fourteen inches apart and held together in from with a three inch strip. When the early lambs are ready for hipment to market, as they should be at the age of six to eight weeks, the ewes from which they are taken should be given but little if any grain for a few days, or until the milk secretions are materially checked. As soon as they give evidence of drying up commence to gradually increase the grain feed until it is brought up to quite a liberal amount. It is highly important at this juncture to expedite their preparation for market with all possibl speed, as at this season fat aged ewes will command a better price than at any other time of the year .- J. Withombe, Oregon. To Grow the Onion The onion requires a light, friable, well drained, fertile soil well stocked with organic matter. Onions are extensively and successfully grown on re-claimed marsh soils. Seed should be selected with great care and a preliminary test of its germinating power If we go from the gentleman's par-lor to the barber's shop of the six-teenth century, we find unmistakable evidences of the popularity of music. People would seem to have had more time in those days than now and do not appear to have minded waiting as much as brisker moderns, and so the barber provided means to amuse those who were waiting their turn. For this purpose he had the virginals in one corner, the virginal being a stringed instrument, the precursor of our plane, in which by pressing keys like our pl-ano keys the strings were struck not by a hammer, as in our plane, but by a quill or elastic piece of wood, of leather or of metal. A virginal of Eliza-

Scattered throughout the various Washington departments are hundreds of clocks and chronometers, which cost the government annually thousands of dollars. The chronometers are the most expensive clocks in existence, and they are to be found on board every war-ship of the United States. These time-pieces cost $400 each. The ones most onsulted are those in the marble room of the senate and in the speaker's lobby

Guerrilla Warfare.
The word guerrilla is Spanish and first came into common use in this country during the time of the penin-sular war; but Spain throughout her ed as the country most ideally suited for guerrilla tactics.
