FEED BABY SLOWLY.

TORS IN CHILD REARING.

Reasons Why Food Should Not Be Tumbled Rapidly Into the Little Stomach-Advice Which Applies to Grown Folks as Well as Babes. In the proper bringing up of a child

portant than this one thing-to teach it to eat slowly. Every groom knows and observes the rule in the care of a horse that rapid eating is fatal to digestion. There are all sorts of patent mangers to prevent the horse swallowing his oats too quickly. The man who has no patent manger knows enough, when necessary, to put a stone in the manger scattering the oats around it, so that the horse may be compelled to eat slowly. If the horse's inclination is slowly. If the horse's inclination is to gulp down water too fast, the careful man will put a big sponge in the water, compelling slow drinking.

A child's appetite, when he is allowed to eat rapidly, is always in excess of his actual needs unless the child is in bad health. The reason for this te extremely simple. The child child is in bad health. The reason for this is extremely simple. The child craves food because his body requires to manufacture new tissue. He is growing, and he must not only replace the used up tissues that his daily life destroys, but he must make new flesh, new muscles, new bone and new blood every day, adding weight and size.

The sensation of hunger is not the The sensation of hunger is not the craving of an empty stomach, satisfied oraving of an empty somach, satisfied as soon as the stomach is filled; it is a craving that is felt by the nerves all over the body. This craving cannot possibly be satisfied until the stomach has begun the work of transforming the food into blood, flesh, muscles, etc.; consequently the sensation which we call hunger persists long after the child or grown person has rapidly ab-sorbed as much food as it really needs. A million foolish parents urge their children to eat a great deal and always let them eat as much as they want to. Yet all of these know that a famished man taken off a wreck will eat himself to death if allowed to do so. The very hungry child goes to the same excess, only in a lesser degree. The great safeguard against that excess in eating, which kills 90 per cent of men be-fore their time and which accounts for 99 per cent of children's diseases, is slow eating.

Nearly all children eat too rapidly. They do so by nature. Slow eating is a matter of education. But too often the mother or the nurse teaches the child the habit of eating fast. When child the habit of eating fast. When the baby is little, it is fed one spoonful at a time. Before it has time to half chew or even gulp down the first teaspoonful of food another is held to its lips. Of course it swallows what it has in its mouth and seizes upon the next mouthful. The habit thus inculcated by foolish adults often ruins the child permanently.

Four factors count in the healthy assimilation of food, factors which parents and nurses should remember. Assuming the food to be properly prepared, thoroughly cooked and wisely selected, there comes, first, the work of the teeth, which prepare the food for easy digestion; second, the action of the saliva, with which the food must be thoroughly mixed in order to minibe thoroughly mixed in order to mini-mize the necessary work of the gastric juices in the stomach; third, the work of the stomach itself; fourth, and mos important, a proper supply of blood and of heat.

Force your child to chew slowly and thoroughly every mouthful. If noth-ing else will do, compel him at frequent intervals to lay down his knife and fork that the importance of pro-longed chewing may be impressed upon him. Don't allow your child to gulp him. Don't allow your child to gulp down water or any other liquid with his solid food. If you allow him to drink while he eats, the salivary glands will not act. They will not need to act, for he will be able to swallow his food easily when it is made moist by water.

You can't do anything to help along the unconscious process which goes on in the stomach, but you can do everything to help that process by attending to the fourth necessity, which demands blood and the heat of the blood in the stomach. Allow no child after eating to take violent exercise, to study or even to read an exciting book. The brain has first call upon the service of the heart, and as soon as the brain is excited the blood leaves the stomach and goes to the head. The muscles also when too violently exerted draw the blood away from the or a grown person to digest properly or to get strength and vitality from what he eats unless for at least a half what he eats unless for at least a half hour after enting the stomach be allowed to monopolize the blood supply. Children should be kept quiet in some way, especially very young children, after they have eaten. In the case of very young bables nature attends to this mercifully by making them go to sleep as soon as they have absorbed their milk. Older children ought not to go to sleep directly after eating for physiological reasons which may be explained at some other time; but they ought to be quiet and calm. Tens of thousands of children in homes where this newspaper is read are ruinwhere this newspaper is read are ruined in health by studying right after meals. The public school system which gives children too short a resting period in the middle of the day is responsible partly for this, and the home studies at night are also responsible.

Every word that is said here applies to grownup people, of whom not one in a hundred has ever been taught to apply to himself such common sense care as is bestowed on a second class orse.-New York Journal.

"Why is it," asked a modest young preadwinner, "that when I stay at the office after hours to voluntarily do an extra amount of work somebody who is in charge pounces upon me as his justifiable victim and gives me still

"That has happened to me time after time in my business, and at each repetition I have taken a vow that if I am ever in charge of an office I shall give any one of my subordinate who sits down and does work which isn't specifically required of him credit for what he does do and let it go at that, without addition them to be the control of t out adding insult to injury, as it were, by giving him something further to do. "Of course it's an old saying that the man who does the most work is the man usually 'worked;' but it's discouraging, don't you think? Strangely enough, though, he goes ahead and lets himself be 'worked,' with only a weak objection to ease his feelings."—New York Mail and Express.

Mushrooms Are Filling.
One virtue of the mushroom that of entimes is not realized by its champions even is its nutritive qualities, fo it is often considered fit only for a sauce or a side dish. Recently I at dinner with a friend who is a bon vi dinner with a friend who is a bon vivant and gifted with an abnormally large appetite. To my surprise, he ordered nothing but mushrooms, bread and butter and, of course, drinkables. We had mushrooms raw, stewed, fried and broile on toast. It was my first experience, but I found them excellent. I certainly thought they would not "stay by me;" but, to my surprise, for many hours afterward I had as complete a sense of fullness as rare roast beef or julcy steak ever imparted.—New York Telegram.

NEW-YORK TRIBUNE FARMER

For sixty years the NEW YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE has been a national weekly newspape, read almost entirely by farmers, and has enjoyed the confidence and support of the American people to a degree never attained by any similar publication. NEW-YORK TRIBUNE FARMER is made absolutely for farmers and their fam lies. The first number was issued November yth, 1901.

Every department of agricultural industry is covered by special contributors who are leaders in their respective lines, and the TRIBUNE PARMER will be in every sense a high class, up to date, live, enterprising agricultural paper, profusely illustrated with pictures of live stock, model farm buildings and homes, agricultural machinery, etc.

Farmers' wives, sons and daughters will find special pages for their entertainment.

Regular price, $1.co per year, but you can buy it with your favorite home weekly newsoaper. The CITIZEN, one year for $1.75 or CITIZEN and Tri-Weekly Tricune for $2 oo.
