

Irs So Easy

To take cold. It's so common to neglect the cold. That is one reason why there are so many people with "deep-seated," stubborn coughs, and so many more with "lung trouble."

The short, quick way to cure a cough is to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The quicker this remedy is used the quicker the cure. But even when neglect has led to the lungs, "Golden Medical Discovery" may be relied on to cure in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred.

The only medicine for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little extra profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicine. He gains. You lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

"I am feeling quite well," writes Miss Dora A. Lewis of No. 117 1/2 St. Washington, D. C. "I have been suffering from a cough for many months. I have tried every cough remedy I could get my hands on, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I was told to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I bought a bottle and after reading the directions I took it for a long time. It has done me more good than any other medicine I have ever taken. I feel like a new woman now. I can do my work and am in good health. I am so glad to have my cough cured. I will never again be troubled with it. I will tell my friends to try it. It is the best medicine I have ever taken. My home is in Washington, D. C."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a ladies' laxative. No other medicine equals them for gentleness and thoroughness.

BELLES OF OLD ROME

THE TIME AND MONEY THAT WERE SPENT ON THEIR TOILETS.

Modern Methods and Cost of Beauty Culture Are Simple Compared With Ancient Luxuriousness—Hygiene the Latter Day Magic.

The secret of eternal youth, so eagerly sought by the magicians of all centuries and sought vainly, has almost revealed itself to the present generation; at least we have its watershed, which is hygiene. For youth means beauty, and beauty means health, and the skillful beauty specialists acknowledge that their success is by means of rational methods based on a careful study of the causes that may affect to its detriment the health of the skin.

In the dim back ages of the world of civilization beauty was made a cult of the utmost moment, but for many a century after the downfall of the Greek and Roman empires such matters were allowed to languish. Not until the declining years of the nineteenth century was the subject re-stated as one of paramount interest. But today beauty specialists stand ready for face treatments, others for manicure and again many more for electrolysis.

Of course these treatments are expensive, but it is worth making a man to rid of a careworn expression. Moreover, to feel that her youth and therefore her beauty is somewhat restored has a beneficial influence upon her mental states.

But whoever fancies that the modern husband is to be pitied for the cost of his wife's beauty preservatives should consider the toilet expenses of a Roman lady in the comparatively early days of the world's history. Excessive as may appear the time and money spent upon the art of beauty culture, the grooming of a modern woman of fashion seems invested with an admirable simplicity compared with the time and money thus expended in the days of Poppo and Aspasia.

In the early days of Rome three classes of slaves assisted at the toilet of a lady of fashion. On leaving her bed, which was usually at noon, she immediately went to her bath, where she was carefully rubbed with pumice stone. She then put herself in the hands of the comatres, a class of slaves who possessed many secrets for preserving and beautifying the complexion; therefore their functions were considered of the greatest importance, especially as they claimed for their art bygone advantages.

By the comatres her face was thoroughly sponged with sweet milk, then with various mixtures corresponding in intention to the "skin food" of these days; with ashes of snails and of large ants, bruised and burned in oil; with honey in which the bees had been smothered; with the fat of a piglet mixed with onion-oil, shades of Araby! And, lastly, the fat of a swan was vigorously applied, to which was attributed the property of removing wrinkles. Red spots were effaced with a piece of wool cloth steeped in oil of roses, and freckles were treated with a scraping of sheepskin mixed with oil of Corsica, to which was added the powder of frankincense.

Then appeared the second class of slaves, armed with pinchers and porcupine quills. One of them extracted every hair, however minute, from the face of her mistress, and pumice stone, with marble dust and finally with a toothpick of porcupine quill.

A third class of slaves, who were Greek, colored eyebrows, eyelashes and hair to the shade of "my lady's" taste. Her lips were treated with red pumice, but if chapped they were first rubbed with the inside of a sheepskin, then covered with the ashes of a burnt mouse mixed with fennel roots.

The last touches of the toilet were given by the favorite attendants—slaves kept by every patrician Roman woman for the sole purpose of applying fragrant ointments. Each part of the body had its own ointment—the hair scented with rose, the neck and knees with thyme, the arms balsam, the cheeks and breast pain oil, the feet and legs saffron. Then after a final sprinkling of Indian perfume on the hair and dress the favored slave in order that the finished work might be appreciated handed to her mistress a mirror. It was not of glass, but of metal, usually formed of a composite of several metals so exquisitely polished as to be not inferior to glass, which was then unkn.

Alas, the modern husband may be congratulated that his lines were not cast in the days of Brutus and Cato of Utica—Washington Star.

NATURAL HISTORY.

A whale can remain under water for an hour and a half.

A lion in a jungle will jump twenty-five or thirty feet from a standing start.

A horsefly will live for hours after its head has been pulled off. The head of the mosquito hawk will continue eating its victim when separated from the thorax.

Mud wasps manifest great ingenuity not only in building their nests, but in placing them in localities where they will not be injured by rain or predatory animals.

The gray buzzard is said to be the heaviest bird that flies, the young males when food is plentiful weighing nearly fifty pounds. The bird is nearly extinct.

The wasp, like the bee and almost every other insect, is infested with parasites. Wasps have been captured which had two or three dozen parasites clinging to their bodies.

The alligator never leaves fresh water, while the crocodile often goes to sea and in the West Indies has sometimes been found many miles from land, heading directly for an island, possibly out of sight.

The Tynanny of Trivial Things.

The great emotional experiences of life are belittled by the same insatiable matter of explaining to him the various ways of using the sword. "Now," he said, "how would you use the sword if your opponent feinted?" "Indeed," said Pat, "with gleaming eyes, 'I'd just tickle him with the point to see if he was shamming.'"—St. James Gazette.

Pat's Test.

A good story is told of an Irishman, more patriotic than clever, who enlisted in one of the smart cavalry regiments. The fencing instructor had experienced rather a difficult job in the matter of explaining to him the various ways of using the sword. "Now," he said, "how would you use the sword if your opponent feinted?" "Indeed," said Pat, "with gleaming eyes, 'I'd just tickle him with the point to see if he was shamming.'"—St. James Gazette.
