

Advise Suffering Women Strongly, to Take Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This advice comes from a woman who had suffered all the miseries women can suffer from disease, and had been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This medicine for women establishes regularity, dries weeping drains, lessens inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Read Mrs. Kempson's letter and, if you are sick, follow her advice.

"Although it has been quite a time since I wrote you, Mrs. Prof. Kempson, of Harrisburg, Pa., I feel that I should still write you a line to let you know that I am still enjoying good health, thanks to you and your Favorite Prescription. When I think how I was five years ago and then see how I am now, I say, God bless Dr. Pierce's works and may he live long to keep on selling his medicine. I have never had any return of my weakness and am well and healthy. Can do all my own work without any aid. You would not believe how well all others failed. I advise suffering women to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as I know it will cure in all cases, if indeed there is a cure."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are an excellent laxative, suited to the use of delicate women.

FARM AND GARDEN

TOMATOES UNDER GLASS.

Easily Grown For Late Autumn, Early Winter and Spring.

"There are many people having suitable accommodations who never think of producing their favorite vegetable at a season of the year when it is most valuable, being under the impression that special means are necessary. This may be true of midwinter, but for late autumn and early winter and again in the spring there are many—even those having only a small glass house and who keep it comfortably warm for its usual occupants—who can have more or less of a supply of fine flavored fruit. This can be grown without taking up any extra room except what is necessary to stand the pots or boxes on, because the plants can be trained on wire under the roof, being set about twelve or fifteen inches from the glass," suggests a writer in an exchange.

To this may be added that the Lorraine is a favorite tomato for growing under glass, and the cut shows a handsome cluster thus produced. The fruit is smooth, firm, of good texture, and a beautiful, bright red color. The usual temperature for forcing tomatoes is about 70 degrees for day and 65 by night, and single stem training is popular. According to some growers each flower must be pollinated by hand to insure fruit in winter.

SUGAR BEET SEEDING.

An Accidental Autumn Development of Great Possible Value.

The Michigan station reports an accidental development in sugar beet growing. It is of special interest because it may lead to a new and improved method of procedure and therefore prove of great value to sugar beet farmers. A test of it would be in order this fall.

In the year 1900 a few sugar beet seeds were grown at the station, with a view to studying the question of home production of seed. This experiment met with fair success, a small crop of seed being produced that year and the same planted in the spring of 1901. The beets from this planting are to be replanted this season. The results thus far demonstrate the possibility of growing sugar beet seed in that locality. The development of this branch of the industry will require years of careful work but it suggests a line of experiment that calls for further and particular attention.

From the plants that produced seed in the fall of 1900 a few seeds were scattered on the ground. They lived through the winter and came on the following spring, giving a substantial growth of beets of good size, which (harvested Sept. 7, 9 and 10) gave average yields of 10.7 per cent sugar. The possibility of seeding to sugar beets in the fall is being tested by further experiment from seedlings made in October, 1901.

The result of this accidental experiment in fall seeding points to a new possibility in the management of the sugar beet crop. Beets of large size and with a satisfactory percentage of sugar were produced. Could this method of planting be practiced, it would be a great help in distributing the work of trimming the beets and caring for the crop.

Handy Device For Shocking Corn.

The accompanying illustration shows a handy device for putting up corn shocks for those who have not confidence in their ability to build a firm structure.

It is made of a piece of iron pipe, one about a brace of hills or do not wish to take time to make the arch. Any one having a saw, hammer and an angle iron will be able to make directions, says Farm, Field and Fireside.

Good Winter Celery.

Giant Solid is a large growing variety of winter celery with broad, solid stems. It is called one of the best for keeping purposes, has a good flavor, blanches clean and white, and is a desirable variety for winter use.

Evans' Triumph grows to a medium height; the stems are broad at the base and it blanches well. It has a splendid flavor, is a good keeper, and is suitable for late winter use.

In the making of butter the private dairyman can learn much from his creamery brother.

CORN FODDER.

Shred it and Make Best—The Day of the Corn Cattle Has Passed.

Shredded corn fodder is the most economical material that can be used in the manufacture of beef. The demand for beef at the present time seems almost unlimited, so that we can save this great wasted crop and feed it into beef without any fear of overloading the market. The census reports show that the population of our cities, the market for beef, increased 16.8 per cent from 1890 to 1900, but the number of cattle killed for beef increased only 2 per cent. The export demand for dressed beef gained enough in the ten years to make the entire increase in our production, so that we had the same supply in 1900 as in 1890, although the beef eating population had grown 96.8 per cent. Receipts for corn in 1900 were 1,000,000 bushels more than in 1890, and the demand for corn for feed has increased accordingly. There is no doubt that the corn crop of the year to date has shown a considerable falling off as compared with 1901, so that we have today about the same supply as in 1890, but the demand for corn for feed has increased accordingly. ### PORTABLE SELF FEEDER.

Well Planned For Feeding and Easily Hauled to Any Place.

The sketch of a portable feeder used for cattle on grass was sent to the Ohio Farmer by a correspondent. The feeder is 12 feet long, 5 feet wide and 6 feet high. The bottom or floor (C) consists of two flexible pieces, carrying the corn, etc., down to the openings (A) and into the troughs outside. The sides are made to slide up and down.

HEAD OF A GOOD FEEDER.

The head of a good feeder shows a "good feeder." Observation and experience show a good feeding head to be broad and well filled between the eyes, with a good, round brain box, tapering nicely, and short from the eyes to the muzzle, which should be wide and clean cut, with large, well open nostrils. A large mouth usually is the first indication of good digestive capacity, and large, open nostrils go with good lung power and a strong constitution. The whole head is clean cut, with no superfluous flesh on the jaws. The horns, if present, are of medium size and not coarse; ears of medium size and not coarse; eyes of medium size and not coarse; ears of medium size and not coarse; eyes of medium size and not coarse.

SEASONABLE ITEMS.

"Sweet corn stalks do not make the best silage, but do make excellent fodder," says Howard's Dairyman.

"Not more than one part soy beans to two parts of corn in the silo," is the general rule of this combination.

The use of stinkmill hastened the grain in hog feeding at the Tennessee station.

By corn stover is meant corn fodder less the ears; that is, the stalks with tassels, leaves and husks, the ears only having been removed.

A case of bleat in cattle, supposed to be caused by eating sunflower weeds, is reported from Colorado.

Both for spring and for winter and early spring use can hardly be made too rich.
