Knox on Trusts.

torney A. M. Christley.

Attorney General Knox addressed the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburg, in the assembly room of the Hotel Schenley, Tuesday evening on the subject of Trusts. He was listened to attentively by about nine-bundred men.

Briefly, the Attorney General's pos tion, which is also that of the President, is that the Government shall continue to diligently enforce existing laws, as has been done or is now being done in the cases of the discrimination in grain rates, the cotton pool, the beef trust and the Northwestern railway merger. If the laws are ineffective Congress has the power to amend them so that they will be effective. The amendment of the inter-State commerce law so as to absolutely prevent rate discrimination is one step that is urgently needed. The evils of overcapitalization, as indicated in the President's speech in New England, could be prevented by publicity and a law which would prohibit the creation of liabilities without a corresponding asset. tion, which is also that of the President, creation of liabilities without a corresponding asset.

One effect of the Attorney General's speech will be to continue the public elucidation of the intricacies of the subject. To the President's exposition of the economic issue is now added the Atterney General's explanation of the legal and constitutional phases. The subject is being approached and considered, not in the heretofore customary demagogic manner, but with a statesmanlike and patriotic effort to deal with it in a practical and effective way,—Dispatch.

That night there was some stone throwing at the Reliance Colliery, and the throwers were shot at.

Only the best of feeling prevails between the miners and soldiers of the Sixteenth, and not one case has been reported of annoyance or attack from the strikers. There seems to be a tendency among the miners to keep the peace, probably inspired by the soldierly bearing and air of knowing how to take care of themselves that goes with the regiment. Miners and soldiers have fraternized, and everywhere they can be seen together. There has no trouble since the Sixteenth took charge, and the officers of the local union say there will be nothing doing until the strike is broken and they go back to work.

On Saturday it rained nearly all day and everything scheduled for the day, including the first practice for the foot ball team was called off. A number of young Hebrews in the regiment were excused by Col. Thompson from all duty during the day.

Captain Bert Shaffer was started out with a company to investigate, but in the meantime Colonel Richards and Dr. Johnston, who were on their way to town in the regimental ambulance, heard the rumors and drove to the scene of the disturbance.

They found a crowd about the house in an alley attracted by a disturbance started by a crowd of men, who had been drinking, and with the help of the Chief of Police promptly dispersed the gathering.

The Richards colliery, which was to have started that day, made no move and instead of starting lost a number of the men who had been working. Other collieries in the district were losing men daily, the non-union men who had been at work coming out under the protection of members of the union.

All through that field there was no sign of a break in the ranks of the miners and their strength seemed to be growing instead of falling off. Even if miners could be found to work under guard another difficulty will be the absence of the union.

Seven new members were received into the U. P. church, Sunday.

work with non-union men or under guard.

The strike fever spraad to the children, and at New Silver Brook the children of all three departments of the school went on a strike in a way that illustrates the intense bitterness of local feeling. In room No. 2 one of the pupils was a little daughter of a non-union engineer formerly employed at the Silver Brook colliery, but now striving to earn a living for his family behind the Harwoods stockade.

The children in room No. 2 on Monday appealed to Superintendent A. T. Mc.

Donnel to send the child home and herefused. The other youngsters then left the schoolroom in a body, vowing never to return until the child was expelled. The boys and girls in departments I and 3 went out on a sympathetic strike with those from room 2 and in consequence the school house is locked up and empty.

Late that evening a report was circulated that the home of a non-union man in Stuartville was to be dynamited. Two disheveled women, dripping wet, rushed into camp, calling on the guard for protection, as their home was to be blown up.

Captain Bert Shaffer was started out with a company to investigate, but in the meantime Colonel Richards and Dr.
