

Love is unequally yoked with sickness. Labor is lightened by leve, but love cannot lighten pain or relieve fit. Many a man looks on at his wife's suffering willing to do anything to aid her and able to do nothing.

willing to do anything to aid her and able to do nothing.

Sometimes, however, the husband's attention is directed to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and its remarkable cures of womanly diseases. He may not have much hope of a cure, but he is led to try the medicine, with the result that in almost every case there is a perfect and permanent cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures irregularity. It dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

As a tonic for women who are nervous, sleepless, worn-out and run-down "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled.

"In answer to your letter I will say, my wife wites Lewis A. Miller, ex-Chief-of-Police, of 33 Prospect St., Weissport, Pa. "We have tried the skill of twelve different doctors. She took gallons of medicine doning the time she was ill, until I wrote to you and you told us what to do. She has taken eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and six of the 'Golden Medical Discovey.' She can do her own work now and can walk around again and is quite smart."

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y. The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

IRRIGATION DEVICES. Various Kinds of Dams Used For

Turning Water From Ditches. The general attention now devoted to irrigation gives interest to all the practical details of the business. For the beginner and the small irrigator at least it may not come amiss to mention the usual devices for turning wa ter from ditches. The crudest way, of course, is to make a cut in the side with a spade and throw the dirt into the ditch to make a dam. Some simple homemade devices will obviate the manifest disadvantage of this method The cloth dam is very widely used. It consists of a rectangular piece of stout, closely woven cloth or canvas, one side of which is rolled around and nailed to a crosspiece of wood of length and strength according to the size of the ditch and the amount of water to be dammed. Sometimes it is made with a hem across one side deep enough to allow the crosspiece to be thrust through the hem. In using the dam place the stick across the top of the dry ditch where it is desired to throw the water out, draw the lower edge of the cloth up the bottom of the ditch and place a little dirt on the corners. The canvas must always be large enough to have several inches lap against the sides of the ditch; otherwise it will not retain all the water Should the ditch have a steep grade it will be necessary to let the canvas fill will be necessary to let the carvas in up gradually, as a sudden rush of water would force the cloth from its position. When the dam is in position, it will be necessary to cut the bank of the ditch at the places where the water is wanted. Two cloth dams will be needed in order to place one in positio while the other throws the water out above, it being difficult to lay the canvas under a full head of water. The water will press the canvas against the sides and bottom of the ditch, so that and pull slowly upstream.

A metal dam or "tappoon" is on some accounts preferable to the cloth, and it, too, is readily made. Heavy sheet iron is cut into semicircular shape, and th is cut into semicircular shape, and the straight edge is securely fastened be-tween two narrow strips of wood by carriage bolts which pass through the strips and through holes punched in the iron sheet, or it may be mor cheaply made by securely nailing the iron to one side of a single thicker strip of wood, like a piece of scantling.

These metal dams are made of different sizes according to the ditch in which they are to be used, their diameter being a little more than the width of the ditch, as the edges must be pushed down a little way into the earth of the ditch banks and bottom. earth of the ditch banks and bottom. They are placed in the ditch at or near the point where it is desired to turn out the water. These metal dams are also used in the openings in the banks of ditches either to close them when checks are full or to partly close them and still permit part of the stream of and still permit part of the stream to enter the check to balance the soaking A regular feast stream is to be allowed to pass through for any purpose.

Wooden dams are of much us mite small ditches and as gates for handling small overflows into checks.

Why the Rocky Ford Is a "Stayer. For commercial purposes netted mel-ons like those of the Rocky Ford or Mountain Gem type are most in de mand. The smooth skinned, green rind types are considered undesirable for culture on account of greater liability types are considered undesirable for culture on account of greater liability to sun scald, and for this reason they have never been considered with favor in Colorado, says Field and Farm. Productiveness, firmness, high quality, uniformity in size, attractive appearance and keeping quality are the points necessary to consider in good shipping melons, and it is these very things that have made the Rocky Ford goods so popular in the great markets of the popular in the great markets of the country. A dry season always proves a great benefit to cantaloupes grown under irrigation, for it is the excessive sunshine that brings the fruit to its greatest development and provides for the saccharine content which has made our goods famous.

The Lawn In Autumn.

During the next few weeks much may be done to insure a good lawn. Dandelions, plantains and such weeds, which will now be throwing up strong leaves as a winter protection, may be taken out without breaking the roots. Crab grass, which at the present time makes many lawns look rather ragged, is one of the worst pests to contend with. Possibly no better way of getting rid of it can be found than keeping the lawn closely mowed.—Garden-
