THE CITIZEN.

WILLIAM C. NEGLEY - - Ner

THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 1903.

$1.00 per year in Advance. Otherwise $1.50.

HARRISBURG.

The state Capital was made gay with colored bunting, Monday: bands were playing up and down Market street, clubs were marching, and at night the red fire was burned.

Gov. Pennypacker and family arrived from Philadelphia during the day and were driven to the Executive mansion, where they were greeted by Gov. Stone and family and introduced to the servants of the house. Mrs. Stone and daughter left for Pittsburg that night and the former Governor intended going to Atlantic City, next day.

Monday night both houses met in session and quite a number of unimportant bills were introduced in the House, while in the Senate. Senator Sproul introduced his road bill, which appropriates six millions for road improvement in the state and provides for the establishment of a State highway commission, to be composed of three officers, one to be a qualified civil engineer and another conversant with agricultural pursuits. A secretary to the commission shall receive $1,800 per year, a highway engineer $3,600 and members of the commission $800 per year and all expenses. The sum of $8,000 is to be spent for office rent and incidentals and $6,000 for printing and publication of reports.

The bill provides that $1,000,000 of the total amount appropriated shall be spent annually and that not more than $50,000 shall be spent in one single county. For road improvements the State shall stand one-half of the expense the county one-fourth and the township in which the improvement is to be made one-fourth.

The bill provides that all new roads shall be 33 feet wide and old roads to be improved 18 feet wide, and permits townships throughout the State to submit bids for road improvements.

The Senate, that night, confirmed all of Gov. Stone's recess appointments, about 300 in all, which was considered remarkable. Senator Williams introduced a bill appropriating $20,000 for the Butler Hospital.

INAGURATION DAY.

On Tuesday Harrisburg was crowded, the number of strangers in the town was estimated at twenty thousand, the hotels were full, and they and the restaurants ran short of provisions.

A great crowd assembled on and about the stand in front of the capitol building and stood there shivering while the snow fell. Towards noon Governor Pennypacker and party, in several carriages, were escorted by a troop of cavalry from the executive mansion to the stand, where Justice Fell, of the supreme court, administered the oath, the Governor responding loudly, "I do so swear," and then he read his address, handing each sheet as he finished it to ex-Gov. Stone, who stood by him.

His address began as follows:

"The event in which we participate presents some unusual features. This State has a population of 6,302,115; greater than that of England at the time of Elizabeth, twice that of Holland when the leading maritime power of the world, and twice that of the United States when Washington became President. Her resources are almost boundless. Her revenues amount to the annual sum of $17,727,432.46. The floating indebtedness of about three and a half millions of dollars which existed four years ago has been paid off during the last administration, and she is now substantially without debt of any kind. She pays each year for the maintenance of public schools and of charities more than any other American commonwealth. The lands of her citizens are not taxed for her benefit, and the tax rate in her large cities is less than other municipalities of the country The Governorship of Pennsylvania is an office therefore which is one of the great executive places of the earth. No man, whatever may be his capacity or what the manner in which he has been called, ought to approach it save with humble steps and with a grave sense of its importance and responsibilities."

Following this, the address, which was not a lengthy one, may be summarized as follows:—

Stability and certainty are better than a too frequent changing of existing law.

A sharp line should be drawn between simple breaches of contract and actual crimes. At present there is too much legislation and too many new crimes.

Reapportionment of the State's Senatorial and Representative districts after each census urged.

Ballot laws need careful amendment and reconstruction.

The State should first pass upon the necessity for, or utility of, a company asking the right of eminent domain before the right is granted.

Violence during labor troubles should be rigidly suppressed.

A tax slight on some natural product of the State, such as oil or coal, should be imposed, to be expended on betterment of roads.

The State should once more assume control of the University of Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia is urged to help out in the scheme to consolidate the cities of Pittsburg and Allegheny.

The Governor and his party then entered their carriages and they with the 18th regiment and the political clubs present, paraded the streets, ending up at the Executive mansion; while the members of the Legislature repaired to their Halls.

In the Senate, Lt. Gov. Brown was sworn in by Judge Whitebank of Philadelphia, Gen. Gobin in relinquishing the gavel making short farewell address; then the vote on U. S. Senator was taken, resulting in 37 votes for Penrose, 10 for Guffy. Then the Senator waited for hours for Gov. Pennypacker's appointments and was disappointed in not hearing from him.

When the House reconvened, after the inaugural, it took a vote on U. S. Senator, which stood—Penrose 155, Guffy 42, Leedom 1. Two Republicans and three Democrats did not vote.

Several bills were introduced in both houses, that day, including one raising the salaries of Judges.

At 8 p. m. a reception was held at the Executive Mansion; the building was decorated for the occasion and the "new Governor was wonderfully agreeable."

WASHINGTON NOTES.

On Sunday Representative Showalter entertained J. B. Black and W. J. Marks of Butler, and S. Frankle of Chicora.

But six weeks of this congress remain, and the status of the important bills in both houses was generally discussed. The House on Saturday passed the Department of Commerce bill, and it has adopted the Naval Increase bill in its entirety. New anti-trust and anti-monopoly bills were being introduced daily. In the Senate the anti-trust and Cuban reciprocity legislation was being blocked by the fight over the statehood bill — two speeches by its opponents occupying nine days, with more of the same in sight.

The "swagger set" in Washington society is yet regretting the loss of Wu, the brilliant Chinaman; is critizising the remodeling and refurnishing of the white house, one woman speaking of the red room as "a regular conflagration in still life;" and laughing over a parson's new and short blessing, "For good health, good friends and good cheer good God make us thankful."

On Tuesday, Senator Quay threatened to block all legislation unless a vote was taken on the statehood bill, next day.

Publish the Laws.

From time to time an effort on the part of many people of the State has been made to secure the passage of an Act of Assembly requiring the publication of the laws passed at each session of the Legislature in the newspapers of the State. The matter is again receiving considerable discussion and there seems to be no rational reason why this benefit cannot be conferred upon the people. The chief argument against such a law is the matter of the expense which it would inflict upon the State. This is used only by those who are least familiar with what that cost ought to be. Compared with the benefit which such an Act would confer, to say nothing of the justice of the matter, the expense would be small indeed.

Discussing the question the Connellsville Courier says: "The wisdom and the justice of the proposition do not admit of argument. The Legislature will enact a bookful of laws by the time summer comes again. The people will be required to obey these laws under penalties more or less severe, and as a matter of common fairness the people should be made acquainted with them in the most public manner, that is to say through the columns of the newspaper.

"It is true that the State Printer issues a volume of Acts of Assembly some months after the session is ended, but even these books are not for general circulation. The courts and the lawyers, who are charged with the duty of punishing people who offend against the law, are about the only people who get copies.

"An offense against the law is not always an offense against good morals, and a man's conscience cannot be depended upon to keep him out of the courts. The latter take cognizance of and punish offenses against the Divine law unless they are covered by the statue. The courts go by the books, the books are denied to the people, and it is held that ignorance is not innocence.

"It is hardly necessary to argue the question further. It is too preposterous. The laws ought to be advertised in the public press as they are passed, and they ought not to be effective until they are so published.

"The Legislature is extremely inconsistent in this matter. It has made laws providing that legislation by city and borough councils shall not be of any force and effect until published and the public thus notified.

"At the session of 1900, Governor Stone admitted to the editor of The Courier the justice of a proposed bill requiring such publication, but he refused to approve it because of the desperate condition of the State's finances at that time, saying that he would sanction no legislation that carried with it any additional appropriations.

"At the succeeding session, the finances were in better shape, but the newspaper publishers were so occupied in defending themselves from a threatened libel law that would have put into the hands of every good and bad man in the State a scalping knife especially whetted for bald editorial heads, and those heads had no time to think of anything but their own safety.

"The coffers of the state treasury are now full to overflowing. The comparatively trifling expenditure required for the publication of the session laws will not be missed. There is no excuse on that score.

"The incoming Governor is a jurist of integrity and ability, and his keenly developed sense of justice will, we feel sure, guarantee on his part the cordial approval of such a measure as we have suggested."

LT.-GOV. TILLMAN of South Carolina shot a Democratic editor of Charleston, last week, and the editor died Monday. From the published accounts of the shooting it looks like a deliberate murder. S. C. surely has has enough of the Tillmans.

Old Remedy for Smallpox.

Now that this disease is prevalent in so many parts of the country, any suggestion in regard to its prevention and cure is of interest. Some time ago a writer in the Stockton (Cal.) Herald gave a recipe which he said had been used in hundreds of cases, to his knowledge, and which he said would prevent or cure smallpox, even though the pittings are filling; also, would cure scarlet fever. We cannot speak knowingly as to his remedy, but give it as he wrote it, as follows:

"Sulphate of zinc, one grain; foxglove (digitalis), one grain; half a teaspoonful of sugar. Mix with two tablespoonfuls of water. When thoroughly mixed, add four ounces of water Take a teaspoonful every hour. For a child, smaller doses according to age."

While not able to certify this remedy as a preventive or cure of the terrible disease, we print it as given, with the author's positive assurance of its efficacy. At the same time we give this advice: If taken with smallpox, consult a good doctor at once; place yourself entirely in his care, and see that you and your household are completely isolated from the outside world. Remember, primarily, that if vaccinated your chances of taken the disease are lessened more than a hundred fold.

A Sleigh Ride.

A lot of young people from Butler and vicinity enjoyed a very pleasant sleigh ride to Mr. and Mrs. Eli Boyers, and daughter Blanche, of Harmony, last week. The young folks enjoyed a fine supper, after which they danced and played games until about three o'clock in the morning, when they concluded to return home, thanking Mr. and Mrs. Boyer for the trouble they had gone to too make everything pleasant. They left wishing the family peace and happiness in years to come.

Grammar School Commencement.

Sixty boys and girls, graduating from the grammar grade of common school, held their commencement Monday evening in the Park theater, which was filled to its capacity.

Zeigler's orchestra played an opening overture and Rev. Worrell offered prayer. The graduates on the program acquitted themselves with great credit. John J. Scheiring, Esq., on behalf of the Directors presented the diplomas. The class roll is as follows:

Free Scholarships.

Fathers and mothers will naturally be interested in knowing how their boys and girls may obtain free scholarships in some of the leading educational institutions of the country, and they ought to be pleased to learn how easy the plan is. The publishers of The Pittsburgh Sunday Gazette have worked out this plan at considerable effort and expense, and take pleasure in submitting it to the public. There are a number of scholarships to be given as the reward of effort in a congenial field, and to those who do not gain these great rewards there will be reasonable compensation.

The plan is this: The boy and girl, each, who secure the largest number of subscribers to The Pittsburgh Sunday Gazette up to June 30 will be given first choice from the list of schools announced in The Gazette. The boy and girl, each, having the second largest number will have second choice, and so on until the list is exhausted. But to every boy and girl who enters this competition will be given 25 cents in cash for each new subscription obtained.

An additional special reward is offered: To each boy and girl who sends in 50 new paid subscriptions will be given a gentleman's or lady's gold-filled hunting-case watch. Both are excellent timepieces, guaranteed by a leading Pittsburgh jewcler.

Contracts for scholarships have been executed, or are now pending, with the following institutions:

PARK THEATRE.

MILDRED HOLLAND.—JAN. 23.

On Friday evening Jan. 23, Mildred Holland will present at the Park Theatre her latest success, "The Lily and the Prince," which is the most pretentious production she has ever appeared in. Her part in this new effort is well fitted to her undoubted talents.

"The Lily and The Prince" is a romantic play at the beginning of the Sixteenth Century, based on an attempted over-throw of the Papal States. Its plot is new and very interesting; the lines are for the most part splendid, the action is well sustained, and the situations are strong and logical.

AMERICAN MINSTRELS.—JAN. 24.

The Daily Advertiser, Tiffin, O., says of The Gus Sun American Minstrels: appeared at the opera house Saturday evening to a large and enthusiastic audience, and presented one of the best attractions seen here for a number of years. The beautiful scenery and costumes are certainly worthy of special mention.

The above company will appear at the Park Theatre, Matinee and Night, Saturday Jan. 24. Prices, Matinee 15 and 25, Night 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents.

A FIGHT FOR MILLIONS.—JAN. 26.

"A Fight for Millions," Malcolm Douglas's thrilling comedy-drama, which packed houses in New York, Philadelphia, and other large cities, will be seen at popular prices at the Park Theatre for one night, Monday Jan. 26.

The play is one of the most fascinating before the public. In "A Fight for Millions" two young men strive for gigantic fortunes, and their efforts lead them into a maze of wonderful scenes and exciting situations.

COL. HAWKS—JAN. 27TH.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Oct. 20, 1900.
Sou. Lyceum Bureau, Louisville, Ky.

Gentlemen:—Hawks is O. K. He carried our people by storm. The audience numbered 3,500 to 4,000, and I believe they all heard. You recommended him unqualifiedly and we were more than delighted with him. We don't ever want better. Could not have had a better number to open our course with. You know we were a little afraid to open with a lecture, but Hawks beats a concert company and he thoroughly delighted our people. Thanking you, I remain, Yours truly,

W. CARL WYATT, Sec'y.

Board opens Saturday, Jan. 24.

E. D. No. 8, March Term, 1903. H. H. Goucher, Attorney.

All the right, title, interest and claim of Rebecca McCaw and Margaret McCaw, dec'd., with notice to T. W. McCaw, administrator, C. T. A. of the said Margaret McCaw, deceased, of, in and to all that certain piece or parcel of land, situated in Adams township, Butler county, Pa., bounded as follows, to-wit: Beginning on the Evans City road at a point distant eight hundred and thirty-eight (838) feet from the corner of the Pittsburg road; thence along said Evans City road north 2 and ½ degrees east one hundred and fifty feet (150) to an alley fifteen feet wide; thence by line of said alley south 87 and ½ degrees west two hundred feet to Garfield avenue; thence by line of said Garfield avenue south 2 and ½ degrees west one hundred and fifty feet to a point; thence north 87 and ½ degrees east two hundred feet to the Evans City road aforesaid, at the place of beginning; and having a two story frame dwelling house and outbuildings thereon erected. Seized and taken in execution in satisfaction of a judgment obtained on a writ of Fieri Facias for the debt, interest, attorneys commission and costs secured by a certain indenture of mortgage given by Rebecca McCaw and Margaret McCaw to James Welsh bearing date the 4th day of December, A. D. 1893, entered and recorded in Mortgage Book 83, page 107.

Seized and taken in execution as the property of Rebecca McCaw and Margaret McCaw, deceased, with notice to T. W. McCaw, administrator C. T. A. of the said Margaret McCaw, deceased, at the suit of James Welsh for use of H. H. Goucher, Trustee.

TERMS OF SALE—The following must be strictly complied with when property is stricken down.

1. When the plaintiff or other lien creditor becomes the purchaser, the costs on the writ must be paid, and a list of the liens, including mortgage searches on the property sold, together with such lien creditor's receipts for the amount of the proceeds of the sale or such portion thereof as he may claim, must be furnished the Sheriff.

2. All bids must be paid in full.

3. All sales not settled immediately will be continued until one o'clock, P. M., of the next day at which time all property not settled for will again be put up and sold at the expense and risk of the person to whom first sold.
