Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the best laxative for old people. They cure contipation and biliousness.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than which adhere to the membrane trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y. The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

IN THE SUGAR BUSH.

Preparing For the Run of Sap-Hov If you use a wooden storage tank, see if it needs to be tightened up. Be sur it is well painted. See that your conductors are ready for use, and if you did not wash and scald your buckets last spring when you finished your sugaring now is the time to attend them. Don't wait till the day you nee them, for if you do you will be likely to lose a good run of sap. Take a day and go through your woods and with a sharp hatchet smooth off a small place on the tree just where you will hatchet when tapping.

If you have not already got covers for your buckets, get them now. I will give a description of those we use, and we think there is no better cover made for the money.

That little cold this strenuous wintry weather has given you may develop into something more serious. Better check it at once. Lewin's whiskey will do it.

Try it. I ordered from the rolling mill what GIBSON.

Gover.—B, 2 by 8 plank with corner saw off at dotted line D; C, C, boards nall on side and end of plank for guides; cover in position for bending at D; spile hole in cover; F, edge of plank u der cover, A.]

covers we needed, paying them much a pound for the iron, and sent them a pattern and had them cut them into the shape wanted. They charged me so much for cutting and allowed me so much for the waste iron cut off. I had them cut into squares about one and a half inches farther across that the top of my buckets and then cut off three of the corners so that the cor-ners would be the same distance from ners would be the same distance from center of cover as the sides, the fourth corner they cut off about one-third as much. I had them shipped to me in that way. With a wad cutter I cut a hole in the corner they left about three-quarters of an inch farther out than where they would have cut it had this corner been cut like the rest. This hole is to slip the solle through. is to slip the spile through.

Now take a piece of 2 by 8 hardwood plank and saw it off square, then cut one corner off diagonally, cutting the same distance back each way from the corner; tack a piece of board on the end and one on the set of scantling on the end where you sawed the corner off, letting them project above the scantling a little. These pieces form a guide for your cover in bending the corner true. Place your cover on scantling and slide it up into this corner, letting the long corner of cover project out through this opening in corner a shown in cut, and press cover close up in corner, and then with a wooder mallet bend the corner down, making a sharp squ'ze bend, and you have your cover ready for use. Make one first, try it, and see if the bend and hole are all right. In using them drive the spile, then slip the cover on to the spile, and then hang your bucket. You need not remove the cover during the season, simply turn your bucket either way on the spile, emptying your sap without removing the bucket from the spile. Such a cover ought not to cost over 3 cents and will last a lifetime if painted or dipped in linseed oil.

A New Way With Stones In Fields A writer in Farm and Fireside says it was his habit to remove each year turned up by the plow. But he became satisfied that he was injuring the land thus treated. All soil was originally disintegrated rock, and the dissolving Most Durable process is still going slowly on wherever stone comes in contact with the elements. Thus by the constant removal of all stone we are robbing the soil of no inconsiderable amount of fertility, besides depriving it of the heating Running Cream influence and mechanical loosening ef. Seperators, Churns, fect afforded by stone or gravel in the soil. After giving the matter thought the writer adopted the plan of breaking with a stone hammer on their native soil, just where left by tillage, all flat and other stone found to be sufficiently rotten to be breakable. He found that much the greater part of the stone could be thus broken in pieces small enough to give no further reachly areas critical and with less less than the country and the country bor than they could be loaded for haul-

Cheap Ration For Driving Horses.

That the chemist cannot always determine the real food value of a forage crop is indicated by some experiment of the Wyoming station. It was found there that the carbohydrates in straw are better digested by horses than from analysis might be expected. For sev eral weeks horses were given a ration of twenty-one and a quarter pounds of alfalfa hay daily and three and two-fifth pounds of straw. This was a nitrogenous ration, a little above the standard for driving horses. The animals did not gain in weight, but re mained healthy and stood up well to moderate work. The straw and alfalfa ration was considered cheap and
