

Early Spring Buyers can be Found Daily at The Modern Store

Some choice new things here every day.

Mobairs, Secilians in Black and Colors; also neat stripes, 50c to $1.50 yd. Voiles, Crepes, Examines Australians. New Silks for waists and shirt waist suits.

New trimmings in the popular grape and fruit designs.

Handsome line of New Draperies in Silklines, Bungalows, Cretones, etc.

The latest and best at moderate figures. See us before you buy.

Eiser-Mardorf Co.,
221 South Main Street, Butler, Pa.
Mail Orders Solicited

BICKEL'S Spring Footwear

A grand display of fine footwear in all the new styles for Spring

LADIES' FINE SHOES. Just received a large shipment of SOROSIS SHOES and the styles are very handsome, made in lace or button, light or heavy soles, with low or extra high heels, made of the finest Dongola kid and Patent vicid. Many styles to show you. All widths. A to EE.

MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S SHOES. The most complete stock we have ever had. All the latest styles in plain or patent leathers.

MEN'S FINE SHOES. A full line of Men's Patent-kid shoes—the latest styles $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $4.00, $4.50. Men's fine calf, Vicid and Box-calf shoes, $1.50 to $5.00; also complete stock of Men's fine Oxfords.

BOYS' AND YOUTHS' SHOES. Our stock of Boys' and Youths' shoes made on the latest style Spring last are very attractive. We have full stock of Boys' and Little Gents' fine shoes in Patent-calf, Box-calf and Vicid-kid.

Gokey of Jamestown, N. Y., has started up again and we have a full stock of the well known Gokey hand-made box toe and plain toe shoes for men, and copper tipped shoes for the boys.

All Winter goods to be closed out regardless of cost.

Blacksmith Agrona, Shoe-makers supplies, High Iron Stands for repairing, Sole Leather cut to any amount you wish to purchase.

JOHN BICKEL,
128 South Main St., Butler, Pa.

HUSELTON'S C. O. D. Sale of Shoes

There Is a Bunch of Money

Lost and made in Shoes this month! We lose—You win!

1250 pairs Fall and Winter Shoes.

Men's, Women's and Children's—so far not sold—will, as is our custom—BE CUT IN PRICE and promptly gotten rid of!

SALE IS NOW GOING ON!

TAKE DUE NOTICE!

HUSELTON'S DON'T ASK FOR SIZES ASK TO BE FIT.

OPP. HOTEL LOWRY, 24 North Main Street, Butler, Pa.

K E C K Fall & Winter Weights

Have a nativeness about them that mark the wearer, it won't do to wear the last year's outfit. You won't get the latest things at the K E C K clothing store. The up-to-date tailor can supply them, if you want only the latest things in cut and fit and workmanship, the finest in durability, where else can you get combinations, you get them at

G. F. KECK, Merchant Tailor,
24 North Main Street All Work Guaranteed, Butler, Pa.

Now Is The Time

To begin to think about what wearing you are going to do before the Spring rush begins. Our stock of Wall Paper for 1903 surpasses all previous seasons. Double the amount we ever carried. Quality, taste, designs and colorings can't be best. Come in and look around even if you don't want to buy. It will be time well spent and a pleasure for you to see the FINEST and LARGEST display of Wall Coverings ever shown in Butler. No trouble to show goods.

Picture and Mirror Framing a specialty.

Patterson Bros'
236 N. Main St. Phone 400. Wick Building.

HAMMILL'S CELEBRATED KIDNEY ROOT TABLETS

Greatest Kidney and Liver Remedy. Positive cure for Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Constipation, Rheumatism, Blood Purifier.

For Sale by all Druggists, or by mail, 25c, 50c, and $1.00.

HAMMILL MEDICINE CO.,
No. 302 MILITARY STREET, PITTSBURGH, PENN'A.

Subscribe for the CITIZEN.

BUSINESS—At home, for plan and list of money-making receipts, formulas, etc., write to: Y. M. & J. S. Johnson, Pittsfield, Mass. 2-12-11

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages.

Ely's Cream Balm

cleans, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is instantaneous and a cure follows. It never dries—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents.

W. S. WELLS & CO.,
119 N. 3rd St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Cross?

Poor man! He can't help it. It's his liver. He needs a liver pill. Ayer's Pills.

Buckingham's Dye

Want your mustache a beautiful brown or rich black? Use Buckingham's Dye.

1000s. of druggists at R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H.

Johnston's Beef, Iron and Wine is the Best Tonic and Blood Purifier. Price, 50c per pint. Prepared and sold only at Johnston's Crystal Pharmacy.

R. M. LOGAN, Ph. G., Manager,
105 N. Main St., Butler, Pa. Both Phones

Everything in the drug line.

Purvis' Pharmacy

S. G. PURVIS, Ph. G.
Both Phones.
213 S. Main St., Butler, Pa.

MARSH ROOT

No better combination, as we prepare it, can be formulated to act more specifically upon the Kidneys and Liver than Marsh Root. As a Liver Invigorator Marsh Root is now a conceded fact, and where the Liver is torpid and sluggish Constipation manifest, the body filled, the eyes blurred, and weakened, the complexion poor, a sensation of dizziness, and languor prevailing, Marsh Root will overcome them.

As to the Efficiency of Marsh Root, and its right action on the Kidneys, you can be your own judge if you are afflicted, and if it fails to relieve or cure you, take the bottle back to your Druggist, and he will give you your money back. Marsh Root stands for the cure of Inflammation or Catarrh of the Bladder, Blocked Kidneys, Scalding Urine, Rheumatic Gout (Gravel, Uric Acid, etc.). The organs that require the most careful attention (and are the most often neglected, and the human fillets or strainers—the Kidneys, and therefore doubly require your attention. Do not delay when the Kidney machinery needs repair. Do not allow a break down to go ahead and make a habit of it which in time saves time. In 99 cases out of every 100, the Marsh Root for a small outlay will relieve you of your trouble and worry. For sale only at

Reed's Pharmacy

Cor. Main and Jefferson Sts., Butler, Pa.

Have You a Neighbor?

If so why don't you get together and have a telephone system.

We manufacture them. Ask us and we will tell you all about it.

Electrical work of all descriptions done on short notice.

The U. S. Electric Mfg. Co.
BUTLER, PA.

SILLY

By M. L. Avery

Copyright, 1902, by the S. S. McClure Company

Her name was Priscilla, but through abbreviation and corruption it became "Silly" and finally degenerated into "Silly". "So easy do even names go to the dogs, you know," she explained to Dick.

There were some people in the village who did not hesitate to say that Silly herself would "go to the dogs" some day, she had such "silly" ideas. "You are preferred to wear plain clothes rather than spend time indoors on needlework. She could not be content on for the sewing circle nor dragged to the sewing society. Moreover, she was not as fond of going to church and Sunday school as she might have been.

"That's the matter, sweetheart?" "That's one of your attractions," drawled Dick. "When a woman hasn't any sense, it's really a drawing card. These days, 'Silly' is a novelty, you know. Women are so awfully wise and clever that they put a fellow to the blush."

"You're sitting on the green grass within a fragrant bower of pearl and rose. Something like dewdrops gathered in the girl's forgotten eyes."

"What's the matter, sweetheart?" "Dick, it's the name and the fitness of the name. It seems so absurd to me about it. But I do not know, it seems to me to be a name which has cared enough about me to let me keep the sweet name my mother gave me. I suppose they thought it was a waste of time and money to do anything else. I had been their own child, they'd never have called me Silly. And to think I'd stick to it all my life!"

"If it were your name, now," said Dick, "I could change it for you."

"Don't be silly!"

"You're that when you laugh at my looking foolish. It's really a laughing matter, thought of you, like all the rest, that sensible talk is wasted on me. Do you, Dick, oh, what woman I do not give to be a wise, clever woman with a dignified name! Nobody in the world will ever take me seriously as long as I am called Silly!"

"I'll take you seriously if you'll let me take you as my neighbor," said Dick, "would you be willing—you, a variety man—to have a wife called Silly? You wouldn't? I can see it in your eyes. Nobody in the world will ever take me seriously as long as I am called Silly!"

"For heaven's sake," cried Dick in alarm, "don't do anything and I'll be glad!"

"She never has a serious thought, that girl," her aunt remarked. "If her name don't fit her to a T!"

She was coming up the walk, her arms full of apron blossoms, her hand dangling at her side, singing one of the rattle tunes with which she scandalized the town.

"She do seem to be light headed," observed her uncle, Samuel Morris. "But, then, she's a good hearted thing."

She could not remember her parents. They had died when she was so little. She seemed to be a sort of orphan in her uncle and aunt's family, a rather burdensome and unpleasant one, which by God's grace they must put up with. They lived in a village, a hamlet, on the outskirts of a quaint, rambling old village. It was set about with orchards where many birds loved to nest. Silly, when she might have been seen, was wearing herself a petticoat, making a crazy quilt or doing some other sensible thing, preferred to stay out in the orchards with the birds.

Mr. Samuel Morris dreamed that a burglar was pressing a pillow down over his face. He tried to cry out, but could not. He heard a door banging at the door and a voice calling: "Uncle, uncle!"

"Somebody is killing poor Silly," he thought, but he could not move.

"Then some one has taken him out of bed. There were smoke and a gleam of shooting flames. Something wet was stepped over his face. He was being dragged over the floor and down the stairs by one who panted hard. A voice—Silly's—was screaming:

"Help me save uncle! Somebody go back for aunt! I couldn't find her!"

"No use!" yelled cried back. "Come out quick! The house is about to fall!"

"I'll save her or I'll die trying! Take uncle!"

They told him afterward, the few neighbors who had seen the fire after it was well under way and had come to help, that the old woman, who had been back the steps led down behind her. She had jerked the wet blanket from around him and thrown it about herself.

How she found her aunt in that smoke filled house, with the roar and singing of the flames in her ears, the flash of fire in her eyes, she never could tell. But that she did, trying the cure of Inflammation or Catarrh of the Bladder, Blocked Kidneys, Scalding Urine, Rheumatic Gout (Gravel, Uric Acid, etc.). The organs that require the most careful attention (and are the most often neglected, and the human fillets or strainers—the Kidneys, and therefore doubly require your attention. Do not delay when the Kidney machinery needs repair. Do not allow a break down to go ahead and make a habit of it which in time saves time. In 99 cases out of every 100, the Marsh Root for a small outlay will relieve you of your trouble and worry. For sale only at

FARM GARDEN

CELERY VARIETIES.

Golden Self Blanching and Giant Pascal—Defects and Merits.

I shall hereafter grow only the Golden Self Blanching celery for summer and fall use, says a New York gardener in Country Gentleman. The White Plume is easier to grow, less liable to blight, but the quality is much inferior to the Golden Self Blanching. I would never eat the White Plume myself, and my customers will not buy it after I have tried the level again.

Get out the Babcock tester and go all over the western hemlock. Don't let the heifers form a habit of drying up early.

Feed well and keep them milking well up to calving time.—Farm Journal.

WESTERN HEMLOCK.

Its Claims as a Substitute For Spruce and White Pine.

Western hemlock has suffered so severely through the reputation of its eastern relative among lumber men, manufacturers and consumers that it has at present scarcely any market standing. To remove this prejudice and to introduce the western hemlock to the market by pointing out its uses, its economic value and the conditions under which it may profitably be grown and manufactured was one of the purposes of a two seasons' study on the ground by the bureau of forestry. The conclusions to which this study has led have been summarized as follows:

First—The wood of the western hemlock is far superior to that of the eastern hemlock.

GIANT PASCAL CELERY.

(Three feet high, with the two foot rule in diameter.)

have sold the Golden Self Blanching. The stalks are shorter, thicker, and when rightly grown, with plenty of the Giant Pascal when well grown and blanched, and any celery is to be desired that approaches it in flavor. I have been able to blanch the Golden Self Blanching with boards to the Giant Pascal. It cannot be left out of doors with boards or straw. The plants will grow in a very rich soil, supplied with water when it is needed, and thoroughly sprayed with Bordeaux mixture.

The best celery to follow the Golden Self Blanching and for use about Christmas is the Giant Pascal. I am thinking of trying to blanch the plants out of doors with boards or straw. The plants will grow in a very rich soil, supplied with water when it is needed, and thoroughly sprayed with Bordeaux mixture.

The best celery to follow the Golden Self Blanching and for use about Christmas is the Giant Pascal. I am thinking of trying to blanch the plants out of doors with boards or straw. The plants will grow in a very rich soil, supplied with water when it is needed, and thoroughly sprayed with Bordeaux mixture.

THE LONDON TAPSTER.

Hard Luck Stories That Take the Place of Open Begging.

The plain and open tapster who accosts you in the street purely to beg may generally be known by an amazing overplentiness in opening the conversation. He is the only person I know who begs pardon for taking the liberty of speaking to you, and he always says, "I beg pardon for taking the liberty of speaking to you in a public thoroughfare like this, which I am quite aware it is a great liberty, but, through trust in you will kindly pardon the great liberty of a poor, 'ardworkin' man, sir, in takin' the great liberty of askin' if this street is the 'Aymarket, sir?' (Or the way to the Strand or the day of the month, or something).

You answer the question, but you don't stop the stream of apologies. "Thank you, kindly, sir," pursues the tapster, pouring out the words, "thank you, kindly, sir, if you'll so far pardon the liberty of a poor, 'ardworkin' man, sir, in askin' the question, which unfortunately I have just asked, and which I beg pardon for taking the liberty of askin' if this street is the 'Aymarket, sir?' (Or the way to the Strand or the day of the month, or something).

DAIRY TALK.

Present Work Makes Future Profit. Put in Your "Best Licks" Now.

Some men feed their cows as they would feed their pigs. They give them more thought as to the power of the animal to assimilate the food afforded than they would give the fowls that furnish manure. The results of such a course of feeding are not so good as they would be if the cow were treated as a rational being. Why not treat her so?

The cow that is thin in flesh has an aim in life quite distinct from any we have in view. She is not to be fattened, we want it in the butter tub. The cow has the advantage of us, and we might as well admit it first as last. It is only in the extreme that we will do her good milk and plenty of it.

It does not pay to give just enough food to keep an animal alive. Enough must be given to produce for profitable growth or production.

A cow well fed and perfectly unshowered this year will produce more next year and so on from year to year.

Give the cows a chance every day to get out and rub themselves and get

THE LONDON TAPSTER.

Hard Luck Stories That Take the Place of Open Begging.

The plain and open tapster who accosts you in the street purely to beg may generally be known by an amazing overplentiness in opening the conversation. He is the only person I know who begs pardon for taking the liberty of speaking to you, and he always says, "I beg pardon for taking the liberty of speaking to you in a public thoroughfare like this, which I am quite aware it is a great liberty, but, through trust in you will kindly pardon the great liberty of a poor, 'ardworkin' man, sir, in takin' the great liberty of askin' if this street is the 'Aymarket, sir?' (Or the way to the Strand or the day of the month, or something).

You answer the question, but you don't stop the stream of apologies. "Thank you, kindly, sir," pursues the tapster, pouring out the words, "thank you, kindly, sir, if you'll so far pardon the liberty of a poor, 'ardworkin' man, sir, in askin' the question, which unfortunately I have just asked, and which I beg pardon for taking the liberty of askin' if this street is the 'Aymarket, sir?' (Or the way to the Strand or the day of the month, or something).

THE LONDON TAPSTER.

Hard Luck Stories That Take the Place of Open Begging.

The plain and open tapster who accosts you in the street purely to beg may generally be known by an amazing overplentiness in opening the conversation. He is the only person I know who begs pardon for taking the liberty of speaking to you, and he always says, "I beg pardon for taking the liberty of speaking to you in a public thoroughfare like this, which I am quite aware it is a great liberty, but, through trust in you will kindly pardon the great liberty of a poor, 'ardworkin' man, sir, in takin' the great liberty of askin' if this street is the 'Aymarket, sir?' (Or the way to the Strand or the day of the month, or something).

You answer the question, but you don't stop the stream of apologies. "Thank you, kindly, sir," pursues the tapster, pouring out the words, "thank you, kindly, sir, if you'll so far pardon the liberty of a poor, 'ardworkin' man, sir, in askin' the question, which unfortunately I have just asked, and which I beg pardon for taking the liberty of askin' if this street is the 'Aymarket, sir?' (Or the way to the Strand or the day of the month, or something).

CHINESE MAGIC LANTERNS.

How Their Instruments Differ From Those in Use in This Country.

The magic lantern, like porcelain, gunpowder and printing, may have been introduced into this country by the national flag of the United States. This is a simple fact—Leonard Larkin in the Strand.

The title of "Mrs." The title Mrs. was in olden times applied to unmarried as well as to married women and to young as well as old. Sir Walter Scott spoke of Joanna (unmarried) as Mrs. Joanna Baillie. Although it was not perhaps so universal as to address young children as Mrs. or Miss, it was not infrequently done. A novel in the title of Mrs. yet it was frequently done. The most ludicrous example of this occurs in the register of burials for the parish of St. Margaret, Westminster. The burial of Milton's second wife and that of his infant daughter, named after her, who died at the age of five months, are both recorded in that register, the name in each case being entered as "Mrs. Katherine Milton," without any mark of distinction save the letter "C" for "child," after the second name. Even in the reign of George III, as we read in "Pope's Letters," unmarried ladies used to be styled Mrs.

Wonderful Insect Vitality.

It is a standing puzzle to the entomologists how far little insects of the mosquito and butterfly order can brave the winter and yet retain their vitality. The larva of the milkweed butterfly has been exposed to an artificial blast of 68 degrees below zero for a period of twenty-one days. Each specimen is supposed to contribute one cash, or a twentieth of a cent, when the hat is passed around. Generous or enthusiastic patrons frequently give from 10 to 15 cash, so that the average performance nets the proprietor about 2 cents. This seems ridiculous to Americans, but in a land where an insect can be sold for 5 cents a day the owner of a successful butterfly lantern is looked upon as a very well to do individual.

The little plays which are written about the insect figures are as conventional as our own immortal Punch and Judy. The "wicked tiger" depicts the career of a dissolute animal who from killing pigs and dogs and finally eats a beautiful maiden and is slain by a Mongolian chief in full armor on horseback. The "wicked witch" forms her contract with the devil for a husband's substance in a rousing, hanging and, in the last scene, hangs herself in a blaze of red fire, while the other expresses her indignation at the extraordinary oriental gesticulations. The "cruel magician," the "great dragon," "The fairy foxes" and other plays of the eastern folk are as familiar as household words.—New York Post.

Engagement Rings.

The custom of giving engagement rings ranks back to long before the Christian era. With the ancient Egyptians engagement rings were always of iron, to indicate the mutual sacrifice of liberty of the contracting parties.

One of the very earliest adornments of betrothal rings was a loadstone, which symbolized the attractive force which caused the iron and the steel to be drawn together. The iron and steel family circle made that the betrothal ring is believed that the fourth finger has always been the bride's ring finger.

Hard to Part With.

The man at our boarding house has the remains of a once prosperous pocket comb, from which the teeth have long since fallen out.

"Why," we ask him, "do you carry that thing around with you—that worthless old comb?"

And he replies: "Why, I can't part with it!"—Baltimore News.

MADE TO STAND PULLING.

The Great Tensile Strength of the Government's Paper Money.

"The way some cashiers pay out small bills in exchange for large ones must make other men as tired as it wears me," remarked an observing business man to another Washingtonian as they watched the cashier of a fashionable uptown cafe pull at and strip the ones and tens in exchange for a ten as though he were pulling a piece of molasses candy over a hook and hated to let go.

"It does," acquiesced his friend, who happened to be a United States treasury expert. "The way some cashiers jerk, snare and pull at bills as they pay them out is utterly absurd. The old adage about pinching a silver dollar until the eagle screams pines before the way the up to date silver cashier jerks the long ones is hardly exaggerated."

"In this connection I will give you a fact that is not generally known, and that is the weight a new treasury silver note, and four notes in a sheet will sustain without breaking. The figures may be accepted as official and accurate."

"Single treasury note measures 3 1/2 inches wide by 7 1/2 inches long and will suspend 41 pounds lengthwise and 91 pounds crosswise. Notes are printed four to a sheet. A sheet will suspend 168 pounds lengthwise and 177 pounds crosswise."

"The remarkable strength of a United States treasury note may thus be seen at a glance, and I venture to say that not one person in a million would have guessed the great tenacity of the paper which, when properly printed and stamped, becomes good money."

"The above facts are interestingly related to the treasury expert's explanation of the weight sustaining and necessarily resisting power of wear and tear of our paper money, and then he said:

"You see, it is this way: Biller stick together, see, and we cashiers have to make up any shortage out of our own pockets, and that's one reason why we can't pay out two for one, or five for one, and by counting out our money as if it were drops of our lifeblood, we are less liable to pass out one for the other."—Washington Star.

PICKINGS FROM FICTION.

Ambitious people must always be disappointed people.—Fame For a Woman.

The best kind of courage often comes from a full stomach.—"Captain Blackie."

Love is like honey—it must be taken by sips. One must not swim in it.—"The Thawed and the Priest."

The man who is weakened in mind by doing by the ingratitude of others is serving God on a salary basis.—"The Power of Truth."

Five times out of ten a woman falls through love, and she must be reached by love if she is to be restored.—"Down in Water Street."

Don't call yourself a friend and be thinking about the time when the other side of the friendship can do for you.—"Aunt Abby's Neighbors."

Philosophy is primarily a matter of food; secondarily, a matter of clothes; and thirdly, a matter of automobiles.—"Two Thousand Miles on an Automobile."

Half the trouble of this troubled world comes from the fact that, for one reason or another, women are not able to look up to the men with whom they have dealings.—"The Vultures."

Engagement Rings.

The custom of giving engagement rings ranks back to long before the Christian era. With the ancient Egyptians engagement rings were always of iron, to indicate the mutual sacrifice of liberty of the contracting parties.

One of the very earliest adornments of betrothal rings was a loadstone, which symbolized the attractive force which caused the iron and the steel to be drawn together. The iron and steel family circle made that the betrothal ring is believed that the fourth finger has always been the bride's ring finger.

Hard to Part With.

The man at our boarding house has the remains of a once prosperous pocket comb, from which the teeth have long since fallen out.

"Why," we ask him, "do you carry that thing around with you—that worthless old comb?"

And he replies: "Why, I can't part with it!"—Baltimore News.

MADE TO STAND PULLING.

The Great Tensile Strength of the Government's Paper Money.

"The way some cashiers pay out small bills in exchange for large ones must make other men as tired as it wears me," remarked an observing business man to another Washingtonian as they watched the cashier of a fashionable uptown cafe pull at and strip the ones and tens in exchange for a ten as though he were pulling a piece of molasses candy over a hook and hated to let go.

"It does," acquiesced his friend, who happened to be a United States treasury expert. "The way some cashiers jerk, snare and pull at bills as they pay them out is utterly absurd. The old adage about pinching a silver dollar until the eagle screams pines before the way the up to date silver cashier jerks the long ones is hardly exaggerated."

"In this connection I will give you a fact that is not generally known, and that is the weight a new treasury silver note, and four notes in a sheet will sustain without breaking. The figures may be accepted as official and accurate."

"Single treasury note measures 3 1/2 inches wide by 7 1/2 inches long and will suspend 41 pounds lengthwise and 91 pounds crosswise. Notes are printed four to a sheet. A sheet will suspend 168 pounds lengthwise and 177 pounds crosswise."

"The remarkable strength of a United States treasury note may thus be seen at a glance, and I venture to say that not one person in a million would have guessed the great tenacity of the paper which, when properly printed and stamped, becomes good money."

"The above facts are interestingly related to the treasury expert's explanation of the weight sustaining and necessarily resisting power of wear and tear of our paper money, and then he said:

"You see, it is this way: Biller stick together, see, and we cashiers have to make up any shortage out of our own pockets, and that's one reason why we can't pay out two for one, or five for one, and by counting out our money as if it were drops of our lifeblood, we are less liable to pass out one for the other."—Washington Star.

PICKINGS FROM FICTION.

Ambitious people must always be disappointed people.—Fame For a Woman.

The best kind of courage often comes from a full stomach.—"Captain Blackie."

Love is like honey—it must be taken by sips. One must not swim in it.—"The Thawed and the Priest."

The man who is weakened in mind by doing by the ingratitude of others is serving God on a salary basis.—"The Power of Truth."

Five times out of ten a woman falls through love, and she must be reached by love if she is to be restored.—"Down in Water Street."

Don't call yourself a friend and be thinking about the time when the other side of the friendship can do for you.—"Aunt Abby's Neighbors."

Philosophy is primarily a matter of food; secondarily, a matter of clothes; and thirdly, a matter of automobiles.—"Two Thousand Miles on an Automobile."

Half the trouble of this troubled world comes from the fact that, for one reason or another, women are not able to look up to the men with whom they have dealings.—"The Vultures."

Engagement Rings.

The custom of giving engagement rings ranks back to long before the Christian era. With the ancient Egyptians engagement rings were always of iron, to indicate the mutual sacrifice of liberty of the contracting parties.

One of the very earliest adornments of betrothal rings was a loadstone, which symbolized the attractive force which caused the iron and the steel to be drawn together. The iron and steel family circle made that the betrothal ring is believed that the fourth finger has always been the bride's ring finger.

Hard to Part With.

The man at our boarding house has the remains of a once prosperous pocket comb, from which the teeth have long since fallen out.

"Why," we ask him, "do you carry that thing around with you—that worthless old comb?"

And he replies: "Why, I can't part with it!"—Baltimore News.