LOCAL AND GENERAL.

No Paper Next Week.

As the "Glorious Fourth" comes next week, we will observe our usual custom of taking our mid-summer vacation, hence no paper will be issued from this office.

We invite you all to come to Butler and spend the day with the Butler Firemen at their third annual picnic at Alameda Park.

Don't eat green apples.

Thorn Creek was a "sizzling torrent," Tuesday morning.

Nearly all the stores of Butler will close at noon of the Fourth.

The highest honors at Yale College were won by a young Chinaman, this year.

The game fish season opened on the 13th, but the game fish—oh where are they?

Two inches of water fell from the clouds Monday night and early Tuesday morning.

Monday last was the longest day in year, and the reputed first day of summer, but—

The summer resort people are becoming very tired while "waiting till the clouds roll by."

A festival will be held at the White Reformed church, four miles west of town, July 1 and 2.

The excessive dampness is causing the wheat to rust. Harvest will be unusually late this year.

The one thing that the average man is willing to share with the world is his good opinion of his himself.

Lawns fete at Holyoke U. P. church, 41 miles north of Butler, on Wednesday, July 1st. Everyone cordially invited.

The Black family has engaged the Park for July 28th. John and Jane Criswell Black settled in Marion twp. in 1767.

We speak of "cloud bursts," when there is no such thing. A heavy rainfall is caused by the sudden condensation of a cloud.

Four cases of small-pox are reported from Cherry township, three new from Clay township, and one from Butler township.

The rain of last Tuesday morning was the heaviest of the season. It flooded the roads in some places, and damaged some corn fields.

A peculiarity of the late rains has been the lack of lightning. The clouds on their way from the sea forget to pick up their usual amount of electricity.

Postmaster Bluff is paying 20 cents each for the return of the old postoffice keys, and wants them all returned by July 6th, otherwise they cannot be redeemed.

The executors of John Glasgow, dec'd., of Clinton twp. will make another effort to sell the property on July 10th—see bill posted, and adv. in another column.

Radium, the newly discovered light powder, shines through three feet of solid metal, but it costs a million or two to make a pound of it. Its use has not yet become general.

The days of this week have seen the longest stretches of daylight for the season. The summer solstice has come and gone, but weep not, brethren, the clouds have been doing enough of that.

In another column will be found a sketch of the Hotel Kelly—a modern hotel, built within eight of Cambridge Springs—and the best place there for a week's rest and recuperation. Try it once and you will stop there always.

While some men were securing stone on the John Smith farm in Jefferson twp. one day last week, for use on the road, Wm. Smith lifted a large stone thereby uncovering a large copperhead. Bert Logan, with a gun, was standing near, and shot it.

All the ties and rails of the street-car line out West Penn St. were laid by last Thursday evening, and cars are now running over them to the Park. The proposed grade of the street at the crossing of Bluff was lowered eighteen inches, to the great satisfaction of residents of that locality.

The tunnel of the Allegheny & Western near Kaylor is nearing completion. The contractors expect that in two steam shovels working from each end will come together in the centre by Saturday. The laying of rails on the road bed is completed almost to the tunnel from the Euclid terminus, except one small portion, and it should now be a matter of but a few weeks until the cars are running into Kaylor.—East Brady Review.

Our learned and worthy friends, the Christian Scientists, don't stay at hard propositions. The subject of the morning service in a neighboring town last Sunday was the question: "Is the Universe Atomic Force?" The question was neatly handled, without a headache. To him who is a tenderfoot in these high altitudes of scientific thought the query is a par with the puzzle propounded by Charles Lamb to Coleridge: "Whether an immortal soul could be damned at last, and never suspect it beforehand?"—Franklin Spectator.

The junior exhibition of the Slipperyrock Normal school, Monday night, was an entertainment of interest. The music was under the direction of Prof. Leason and Miss Bell. The wand and dumb-bell drills were well done, while the addresses and monologues elicited much applause.

The commencement concert was held, Tuesday; Class Day exercises and Alumni banquet yesterday, and Commencement exercises today. A class of 78 graduated. Next year's class will be about three times as great in numbers.
