beir timber value, which same will inidently produce a valuable by-product the nate grown, thus making such plantation a valuable property years offere its maturity for lumber. This arvesting of annual nut crops obviates of a great extent the impediment in the ray of planting for lumber only, which the nature of things is a long time avestment. One who plants and cares or his nut grove is rewarded during its own day by the annual nut crops, and his children have a valuable heritge in the lumber. The present is none to soon to begin planting for such purposes. The consumption of lumber of all kinds is increasing much more makily than in proportion to the increase of population. In fifty years the intent population, and who can predict that the demand for black walnut, institut or hickory lumber may be by that time? All this has been sung more less in every paper in the land for the influence at work which prevents and from being in earnest about tree lanting and that is the feeling that it has a tree so long a time to grow that the planter will be dead before it comes maturity. But this is no excuse for how young farmer who has untillable and the planter will be electing another readent. Think how quickly four pars pages away? The best investment may young man can make who either except to live on the old homestead or lift is to plant walnut, hickory, beech which cannot be cultivated. A forest the a sure one and then ripe a richly paying one.

ACCIDENTS.

Harry McMaster, a member of Co. L, fell from a car at Butler Junction, broke a leg, and was brought home.

Miss Millie Ruff of N. Main St. had her hand badly smashed by the fall of plate glass window at her home, Mon-day. Charles Shearer, formerly of Butler, but lately a flagman on the Valley R. R., was struck by an express train near Kennerdell, on Wednesday of last week, and instantly killed.

Officer Leiber was decoyed into the woods at a Hunky wedding in Bredinsville, last Saturday night, knocked down, cut and abused, but he went at his assailants with his club, and dispersed them.

Emry Fausey, aged 8, son of L. C. Fausey, of DuBois, died Monday of lockjaw, which resulted from a wound from a toy pistol on the Fourth of July. The wound healed, but 14 days ago the boy's jaws locked and remained so until he died. He was kept constantly under the influence of opiates to ease his agony.

went on the P. H. C. excursion to Oil City, yesterday morning, were delayed at Carter station—the last in the county—for an hour or so by a collision between their train and a freight, which was standing on the track, and which did not have flagmen out. The engineer of the passenger did not see the freight till he rounded the curve, and then, fortunately was running very slow. The engine and the platforms of the forward cars were wrecked. The cars were crowded, and the impact upset those who were standing, and injured several, though none seriously.

The injured are Leah Rodgers, Mrs. Howe Lyon, Jr., George Campbell. Ike Scanlon, Lilian Sarver, Katie Kelly, Howard Gardner, Alonzo Connery, Mrs. C. A. Hite, Tracy Renshaw and John Scheiring, all of Butler, Jane Long of Buttercup, and W. L. Beatty of Prospect.

Willie Roher aged 2 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Roher of Jefferson and Elm streets, was strangled to death yesterday. The child attempted to slide out of its high chair to the floor, but the front of the chair caught and suspended it by the chin. The little one was dead before its plight was noticed. Dr. Neeley was called, but too late to revive it.

bag will be used as in other flying machines.

E. A Kindler, a Denver Col., man has completed a model for an airship and conducted a satisfactory test. He will enter it in the contest for the $100,000 prize at the Fair. Safety appliances are a feature of the airship. Canvas flaps three feet wide extetnd entirely around the balloon as on Stevens' airship. These are limp except in case of sudden descent, when they open out like umbrellas or parachutes and are large enough to check descent to a gentleness devoid of danger should the gas bags fail completely. Motive power is furnished by a storage battery. The framework, which is made of aluminum and light steel tubbng, with the motor, battery and propellor, which is six feet from tip to tip and has four blades, will weigh about three hundred pounds. A test was made recently of the model. The machine is said to have described a circle about fifty feet in diameter, rising, dipping, and finally descending to its moorings without a hitch in its mechanism.

Streator, Ill., will be represented in the seriel towneant by an airship in the seriel towneant by an airship.

which depicts in a startling manner the awful catastrophe of ancient times when by volcano and earthquakes the proud city of Pompeii went down in ruins and total destruction. This scene is a triumph of pyrotechnic art, and so thrillingly realastic in its execution that the spectator finds it difficult to realize for the time being that he is not gazing upon a terrible reality, instead of a mimic catatrophe. As the scenes of festivity near an end, in the more gayer portion of the spectacle, low but distant and awe-inspiring rumblings are heard, and a column of black smoke appears from the treacherous mountain-top of Vesuvius that looms high above the scenic city in the background. These rumblings increase until they become a series of 'remendous internal explosions and soon the volcano emits a catclysm of real fire and lava, that rushes down the mountain side in tor, rents and engulfs that fated city and its helpless people, who are seen flocking to larges of safety. rents and engulfs that fated city and its helpless people, who are seen flocking to places of safety. Massive triumphal arches, temples and palaces topple and fall with a crash and where but a few moments before all was life and gaiety, is now a smoldering mass of chaos and ruins. The ingenuity of the skilled pyrotechnist and electrician is combined in this startling scene and the result is certainly "vividly realistic" enough to more than satisfy the most enthusiastic lover of the sensational. OF MY COMPETITORS

If they told the truth concerning my pianos, myself, and my way of doing business I would sell all of the pianos that are sold in Butler.

When a party comes to you with a story concerning my business, ask them to call at my store with you and repeat it in my presence.
I am here for business, and I am hap-I am here for business, and I am happy to say I have lots of it. My patrons are my friends, I always refer to them. Ask them.

I can give you a list of over 300 patrons to whom I have sold pianos since I came here four years ago.

And if you will find any of them who will say that I have not been honorable in all my dealings with them. I will present you with a piano.

Trusting to have my just share of your patronage, I am yours for business.
