An interesting enumeration has been given of the sources of color. From this it appears that the cochineal insects furnish the gorgeous carmine, crimson, scarlet carmine and purple lakes; the octopus gives sepla—that is, the inky fluid which the creature discharges in order to render the water onaque when attacked; the Indian yelopaque when attacked; the Indian yellow comes from the camel; ivory chips roduce the ivory black and bone black; the exquisite Prussian blue comes from fusing horses' hoofs and pigs' blood; blue black comes from the charcoal of the vine stock; Turkey red is made from the madder plant, which grows in Hindoostan; the yellow sap of a Siamese tree produces gamboge; raw glen-na is the natural earth from the neigh-borhood of Siena, Italy; raw umber is an earth found near Umbria; Indian ink is made from burned camphor; mastic is made from the gum of the nastic tree, which grows in the Grecian archipelago; bistre is the soot of wood ashes; very little ultramarine, obtained from the precious lapis lazuli, is found in the market.

The Dust In the Air. The Dust In the Air.

The air of cities is impregnated with dust and filth. To combat their deleterious effects the streets should be freely ventilated and watered. Wind and rain are the great destroyers of dust. From the fields the wind lifts the debrie of vegetation—pollen, seeds, the debris of vegetation—pollen, seeds, spores of fungi and bacteria; the dust of the soil—silica, silicate of alumincarbonate and phosphate of lin and peroxide of iron. In and proceed-ing from volcanic regions fine particles of carbon and dried mud are taken up and wafted hundreds or even thousands of miles. In and round about cities and towns the finely ground dust of the pavements, fragments of straw, hair, stable manure, debris of insects, soot, epithelia from floor sweepings or shaken from rugs, carpets and bedding, together with gases and other volatile emanations from factories, rendering establishments, shattoirs, tanyards and stablishments, abattoirs, tanyards and compost heaps of all sorts, though not of the air, are in it, in so much as to be in some degree almost everywher present.—Sanitarian.

A canny Scot.

A canny Scot lived in a small settlement some miles from the neighboring town. The distance, however, could town. The distance, nowever, cound be considerably lessened by cutting through a large estate. This practice was accordingly so much resorted to that the owner gave peremptory orders for all trespassers to be turned around and sent back the way they came.

One time, however, the Scot in question to take some arti-tion, having occasion to take some arti-cles to town in a wheelbarrow, decided to run the risk and was about half way through when he saw the owner in the distance. Not relishing the idea of retracing his steps, he bethought himself of a scheme, and, promptly turning the wheelbarrow to face the direction from which he came, he sat down upon it as if resting.

Soon the owner came up and, seeing him there, roughly ordered him to turn around and go back. As "back" was in this case his objective point, the Scot obeyed and went on his way rejoicing.

Dia Not Look Right.

The intelligent compositor, one of the kind that figures in many an anecdote, worked on an Arkansas paper at a period when a well known novelist was editor. One day the printer undertook to set up the word "doughnut." He spelled it "donut."

"See here," said the novelist, "don't you know how to spell 'doughnut?' You've misspelled it here."

The intelligent compositor came over and gazed at the proof and scratched his head in perplexity.

"Well," he admitted, "that doesn't look right, but it had a 'w' in it once, and somehow that didn't look right other." Did Not Look Right.

An Anecdote of Disraell's habit of exaggerated adulation led to so bold an attempt by the fair recipient to turn it to her advantage that he was driven to save the situation in a way that was very far from being appreciated. The charmer, a young lady of "advanced views," finding the great man so exceedingly profuse in his attentions. views, inding the great man so ex-ceedingly profuse in his attentions, thought it an excellent opportunity for making him a convert to her utopian ideals, which were of the most daringly democratic order. After a long recitademocratic order. After a long recita-tion of her propaganda she wound up with a fervid appeal to the prime min-ister to immortalize himself by espous-ing her ingenious panaces for remedy-ing the wrongs of humanity. As she finished her impassioned harangue, with flushed cheeks and flashing eye, Disraeli, who had been silently watch-ing her with apparently the profound-est sympathy and admiration, suddenly dropped his eyeglass and softly mur-mured, "Oh, you darling!" "If it had been at dinner," she afterward de-clared, "and I had had a knife I would have stabbed him!"—Blackwood's.

Where There's a Will There's a Way "One of those things which go to show that where there is a will there is a way is well exemplified by a happening in a certain southern city," said a well known former railroad man. "A man before his marriage had purchased a beautifully located lot in the city cemetery and paid $100 for it.

After awhile he married and some ten or twelve years afterward died and was buried in the aforesaid beautifully located lot, and his grave was carelocated lot, and his grave was carefully tended for awhile by his widow. When the big fair came off in Chicago and all the world was en route to that Mecca the widow took a notion she must see that show. As a result of a long cogitation over ways and means she had the body of her deceased husband exhumed and railroaded fifty miles away and repuried at a cost of miles away and reburied at a cost of about $75, when she sold the cemetery lot for $600 and had a good old time at the big world's fair. The Epidemic of Typhoid.

Men can hardly be made to realize that a little sputtering spark of disease which might be stamped out in an instant may mean death if it is allowed to keep on. Dyspepsia, constipation and liver complaint seem like trifling matters but they will eventually wreck the constitution as surely as a spark will blow up a keg of powder.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medial Discovery has had a wonderful de and the cures resulting from its its issue-builder, better than cod liver libecause it does not sicken the stomin, or offend the taste. have resulted from pneumonia.

PNEUMONIA AND GRIP.

These two diseases, together with typhoid, chiefly engross the attention of our people just now. The best advice we can give is to put the body into a perfectly sound, healthy condition. Be assured that you have rich, red blood and an active liver. Occasionally take a good vegetable laxative, such as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, to rid the body of the poisons clogging the canals. Pimples, boils, eruptions, extreme weakness, feelings of nervous exhaustion, coughs and colds are the warning signals which should be heeded. Keep the stomach healthy, the bowels regulated and the blood pure and rich, and your body is a stronghold against which the germs of these diseases cannot make a successful attack. When you are pale and feel exhausted or despondent consult nature: "Nature is the real physician in such cases," says Dr. R. V. Pierce in his book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser." Exercise in the fresh air and sunlight is of great assistance in keeping the system healthy. Many years ago Dr. R. V. The Epidemic of Typhoid.

The Berns multiply spend of the United States this season. They are supposed to get into the water or milk we drink. The germs multiply by growing long and dividing into two. This happens every half hour, so that one germ is capable of producing about one hundred trillion germs in twenty-four hours. That is why if they every get into the water comes down with the disease. There are exceptions, however, and they are the persons whose health is perfect, whose blood is pure, and liver active. When the germs get into a healthy body they are thrown off with the other poisons. Recent Chicago statistics show that one-eighth of all the deaths in the past two years in that city have resulted from pneumonia.
