A Card.

BUTLER, PA., MARCH 24, 1904.

To the Republican Voters of Butler Co:

You are aware that I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of District Attorney at our primary, Saturday next. Owing to the inclemency of the weather, and the early date of the primary, it has been utterly impossible for me to see all the Republican voters.

I therefore now take this means of reaching you, and appeal to you to support me at this time for the following reasons, to-wit:

1st. I am making my third and last run.

2nd. I am the only man in the field making his third run.

3rd. My family is one of the oldest in Butler county—few can lay claim to any older—yet no one of my name ever held any public office.

If elected I will discharge the duties of the office honestly and to the best interest to the tax payer.

Thanking you for your hearty support in the past, and hoping you will help me this, my last chance.

I remain, very respectfully yours.

JOHN W. COULTER.

Blows at Trusts and Corners.

Unquestionably, the greatest event of last week was the Supreme Court decisions on the Northern Securities case, and of little less importance was the collapse of Sully, the so-called Cotton King. These blows were delivered at both trusts and "corners."

Sully's downfall was due to commercial conditions. The manipulator of the market ran up against situations that he could not meet, just as all manipulators of the necessities of life are bound to do in time. Corners in products can be relied upon to remedy their own evils. A staple that is continually growing cannot be controlled forever. Sully has discovered that. But the Supreme Court decision is altogether a different proposition. That is a question of law and of the Constitution.

It is decided that the Sherman Anti-Trust law is constitutional, and that Congress has power over corporations doing an interstate business. The Northern Securities Company is a combination that might use its powers in constraint of trade, and so the court decides it illegal.

Naturally, the political side of this question has been uppermost in Washington. The contention of the Democratic party has been that existing laws were designedly not intended to control trusts; that there must be constitutional amendments and drastic legislation, and that the Democrats alone were capable of carrying out such a policy. Now the Democratic leaders have discovered that there is ample law, and that the law has been invoked, and most successfully invoked, by the Republican administration. It has been a most discouraging discovery. Just when the Democrats think that they have an issue is invariably bowled out. They haven't much left on this trust business except the old anarchistical cry that every combination of capital should be knocked in the head on general principles. That is a ruinous proposition. Lawful combinations come as a pure business evolution, and to hit a corporation on the head just because it is a corporation would mean widespread destruction of values and and consequent business failures. Yet that seems to be the Democratic theory, and it is very well upheld by the principal candidate of the Democracy for President, Mr. Hearst.—Inquirer.

The Jap's Ambition.

Baron Suyematsn of Japan, now on a secret mission to England, is quoted as saying—

"We aspire to be a nation, but our endeavor for the realization of that idea is based on a larger peaceful acquisition of intellectual culture. We have no ambition for territorial aggrandizement. We have not the least idea of making any difference on account of race We desire to govern ourselves and advance in the world in peace—not to conquer and tyranize over another people. We come into the comity of nations, but that entirely on the European basis of civilization. Some people speak of us as pagan, but the conscience of our people is perfectly free in our country, and it is guaranteed by our constitution. We believe in toleration and absolute liberty of religious conviction, and I may say safely that religion is a million times freer in our country than it is in the country which is now our foe. We are disposed to be, and earnestly wish and strive to be, liberal and tolerant in all things. This fact I am glad to see is already so widely recognized by those Americans and Europeans who are connected with and know about such matters. We hope to advance to that place in the world where our beautiful little country will be a leader among the nations of the world in science, industry, arts, and intellectual achievements, and an example of peace and harmony toward all races, all nations, and all men.

The present war is for us a gigantic task—there is no doubt about it. We do not ask another nation to come to our help, but justice to us and to the world demands that substantial moral support be given to Japan."

Teachers' Institute.

A very successful institute was held by the local teachers in West Liberty last Saturday afternoon and evening. The meetings were well attended and the productions unusually good. Miss Mary Allen, of the borough schools, presided in conjunction with Miss Mabel Martin as secretary.

The teachers deserve great credit for their enthusiastic work, as the only speaker from a distance was R. E. Allen of Butler, who spoke on the subject of "School Room Reading."

POLITICAL.

If next Saturday is a fair day a majority of the Republicans of the county will probably go to the polls.

Harmony secured by slate-making and the use of the political club does not last long.—Ex.

A dispatch from Philadelphia dated last Saturday read, "Among the front row Republicans of this city the Pennypacker candidacy for the Supreme Court Justiceship is no longer a mystery. We have it here that Senator Quay has decreed that the Perkiomen seer shall grace the ticket, which is to be made at Harrisburg and that the scruples of the latter have been fully overcome. From now on the disguise will be thrown off and the county bosses who have obeyed instructions by electing uninstructed delegates will hear confidentially from the grand Llama, whose name is Quay, and they will hear that Pennypacker is the choice of the machine.

While Senator Penrose was romancing here today to newspaper men that he knew nothing as to the Supreme Court Judgship situation, he was tipping off the county leaders with whom he had engagements that they were expected to assist in helping the governor to a seat upon the highest court.

Senator Quay has in the meantime gone over the situation with care and is now perfectly satisfied in his own mind, figuring one county with another that the governor can be nominated with ease.

A dispatch from Norristown, dated Tuesday, said:—In the Republican convention to-day, when nine State delegates were chosen, Gov. S. W. Pennypacker received a setback, though this county is his residence. Not only was Judge Aaron Swartz, of this place, indorsed for Supreme court and the delegates instructed for him, completely ignoring Pennypacker for the high tribunal, but the reference in the resolutions to Pennypacker's administration as having "added luster to his spotless reputation and warrants confident expectation that the rest of his administration will be eminently creditable," was greeted with hisses and jeers of derision.

Over in Lawrence county, Pomeroy, a member of the last Legislature, was defeated for renomination because he voted for the Press Muzzler Bill. Walter L. Reynolds and Weingartner were nominated. Reynolds was a member of Co. E, 15th Regiment, in the Spanish war.

The Completion of the North River Tunnel.

March 11, 1904, must ever be memorable in the history of New York as marking the completion of the first tunnel to give access from Manhattan to the neighboring shores of New Jersey. The event was signalized by the passage beneath the North River, dry-shod, of President Wm. G. McAdoo, of the N. Y. & N. J. R. R. Co., and a party of invited guests. Although it will take another year to clean up the work, build the approaches and put in the finishing touches, the long-looked-for and much-delayed North River Tunnel is at last an established fact. Great credit is due Engineer Charles M. Jacob and his staff for the way in which a difficult and discredited work has been brought to an unusually successful termination, the junction being effected with mathematic exactness.

With the breaking away by the workmen's tools of the last screen of material, there is marked the practical consummation of an engineering work which has been in progress intermittently for about a quarter of a century. The scheme was originally planned in 1874. The first English company that took hold of the project had carried the tunnel about 2,000 feet beneath the bed of the North River when they met their first serious difficulty in a blowout, which resulted in the death of twenty men who were working at the heading. Three years after this the company failed; and after a period of seven years, during which nothing was done upon the scheme, another company took hold of the work, only to meet with failure. The present New York and New Jersey company took up the work in 1901, when 3,895 feet of tunnel had been completed from the New Jersey side; and in spite of some very complicated problems presented by a ledge of rock which was encountered not far from the New York side, and a blowout which occurred at this point and occasioned considerable delay, the work has been prosecuted without interruption. The second tunnel, which parallels the one that has just been completed and lies a little to the south of it, is being excavated with a more modern and greatly improved shield, which is enabling the work to be prosecuted with greater rapidity. Already it has been pushed forward about 1,500 feet beneath the river, and the rate of progress per day is steadily increasing as the work is carried forward. The indications are that some time in the spring or early summer of 1905, it will be possible to run cars between Manhattan and New Jersey.

In this connection mention should be made of the fact that the contract for the excavation of the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel beneath the North River has recently been let to the O'Rourke Engineering and Construction Company, and that for the tunnels beneath the East River to S. Pearson & Son, of London. The contract provides for the completion of the tunnels in two years, with the stipulation that the time limit may be modified if any labor troubles occur during the progress of the work.—Scientific American.

A Great Coal-land Deal.

Five hundred Indiana county farmers will be made happy within the next fortnight by the receipt of notices that their coal holdings, totaling 60,000 acres, will be taken up by May 1. This means the distribution of about $2,500,000, the withdrawal of appeals in 100 suits asking annulments of options, and the development of a vast tract of territory which has been tied up by the recent financial stringency, and consequent litigation

It is almost three years since Colonel John McGaughey of Indiana, acting for Eastern capitalists, secured options on the greater part of the 60,000 acres in Indiana county.

It was taken up at $40 per acre. For months the farmers waited patiently for some sight of the $40 per acre, and then, as other purchasers were seeking the coal, they tried to terminate the powers of attorney, only to find that these documents were drawn in such a way as to prevent any such action.

The coal itself is of the Upper and Lower Freeport veins, the former 6 to 8 feet thick and the latter 4 to 5½ feet thick, the strata being remarkably uniform in depth and clear of slate

WAR NOTES

On Monday it was reported in Tokio the Port Arthur had fallen, and the Japs were jubilant. It was stated that the Japs had landed a division back of the town during a bombardment, and had captured the place.

The Russian commander at the Yalu admits that the Japanese army in Korea is advancing toward the river, and has occupied Anju, north of Ping-Yang, the previous base. Unofficial reports tell of some fighting. In one engagement the Russian loss in said to have been 600.

Farmers' Institute.

Farmers' Institute was held in the small Court Room Friday and Saturday. W. H. H. Riddle called the first session to order. George Varnum of Centre township was elected Chairman, Lester Stoughton, secretary, and the rival candidates for Clerk of Courts, Lorrell E. Christley and Robert McFarland, made the addresses of welcome and response respectively.

Following sessions were presided over by Jos. Criswell, Norman Glenn and James Douthett. The lecturers were Profs. J. C. Thayer of New Castle and D. H. Watts of Kerrmoor, Pa., and Wells E. Cook of the department of agriculture. What they said was most interesting and instructive to everyone farmer or otherwise. The attendance was large and the gathering a most pleasant one in every respect.

Neighboring Primaries.

In Lawrence county, last Saturday, Judge Wallace beat Malcolm McConnell for the Republican nomination for Judge by 619 votes. There was trouble at several of the polling places, and suits are talked of. Acheson of Washington county, had no opposition for Congress. Elmer Phillips none for State Senate, nor M. S. Quay and G. W. Johnston for Delegates to the National Convention. W. S. Reynolds and Geo. Weingartner won out for assembly, and Dr. Cox for Coroner.

The official vote was Wallace 4,487, McConnell 3,868.

In New Castle there were several scraps. Black eyes were numerous, but in one place only did serious trouble occur. That was in the first precinct of the Fourth ward. There an attempt was made to vote a Democrat, and the inspectors, Joseph Patterson and Charles Gourley, objected. A heated argument ensued, which ended in the inspectors refusing to receive the vote.

Two constables were furnished with warrants and they arrested the inspectors. County Committeeman Bernard Rocks and ex-Sheriff James H. Brown mixed matters up for awhile, but no serious damage resulted.

It took the official vote to decide the Judicial contest in Mercer county, and Williams won by 111—Williams 4868, Miller 4752.

Silas Hunter, W. S. Palmer and W. W. Johnston were nominated for Assembly, and D. I. Baker for Poor Director.

There were disputes at several of the polling places, Saturday, and many exciting incidents occurred In Patagonia, a fist fight between a number of ward workers resulted in several receiving battered heads. One man, whose vote was challenged at Sharpsville, became infuriated and kicked the ballot box into the street. He was arrested. The following were named without opposition, Congress, J. C. Sibley; State Senate, Jas. D. Emery.

In Armstrong county the nominees are: Congress, Jos. G. Beale; State Senate; G. W. McNeese; Assembly, Frank W. Jackson and Hiram Serwick; National Delegate, J. Frank Graff. State Delegates, Wm. Gallagher, J. H. King and Frank Isensee.

In Venango county the only contest was for Sheriff, and James McElhaney was nominated by the convention on first ballot. The balance of the ticket was nominated by acclamation, as follows: Assembly, B. H. Osborne and Dr. G. W. Magee; coroner, Dr. H. S. Stone; County surveyor, H. J. McKinley. John H. Connor was elected chairman of the County Committee.

The Washington County Republican Convention on Monday adopted resolutions commending the administration of President Roosevelt, indorsing the work of Congressman E. F. Acheson, advocating the improvement of the state's water ways and favoring the nomination of Judge J. A. McIlvaine for the Supreme bench.

Republican primaries were held throughout Allegheny county, Saturday, without a single clash, except in the Eighth legislative district, where a red hot fight ensued between W. H. Coleman of McKeesport and James F. Woodward of the same city, rival candidates for assembly.

The ticket nominated is as follows:

Judge of the Orphans' Court, Wm. G. Hawkins.

Coroner, Joseph G. Armstrong.

Director of the Poor, Henry W. Ochse

Congressmen, Wm. H. Graham, 29th district; John Dalzell, 30th district; Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, 32d district

The legislative fight in Beaver for Republican nominations has resulted in the nomination of T. L. Kennedy of New Brighton and John E. Carson of Beaver Falls. The third candidate was I. F. Mansfield of Beaver, who has served a number of terms in the lower house His defeat was a surprise to his friends.
