The past week has seen the Japane mount up into the thousands. army chasing the Russian army from the hills on the west side of the Yalu, comparatively level country to the by war ships, were landing an army in minent range of hills between them and the the West coast of the Liao Tung peninrailroad. Besides this the Japs have landed an army on the narrow neck of the penin-sula on which Port Arthur is located. Arthur, sometimes called the Russian and have taken possession of it—includ-ing the railroad—thus completely iso-World. The Russians say the Port has a garrison of ten thousand men and that it is provisioned for a year, but from the number of things they don't know at St. Petersburg about things in Manchuria, nobody will be surprised if

As a consequence of the victories ssians, the Chinese are becomin ligerent, the war spirit is growing neutrality by the Russians. The ousins, the Japs, may cause the Chinese to get-a-move-on and start some more "yellow-peril" talk; but the natures of the two peoples are very different. The Tartars of northern China are fighters but the vast majority ilar to that of a sheep, who fights only when he is cornered.

This is the month of May-strike eaks, in spots, over the country erything has either been settled or put in a fair way for settlemen excepting in Colorado, where martial law continues in a county or two and the situation is very perplexing. The Dun agency reported two-hundred and seven commercial failures for last week, and the dullness in trade was blamed or reported a decrease of six per cent in ancial transactions—the payment by e United States of $40,000,000 for the ma Canal, the sale of $37,000,000 of merican subscriptions of $25,000,000 to he Japanese loan were some of the ems which were talked about in items which were talked about in financial circles. Such large transactions are rendered possible at this time because of the large amount of money that is deposited in banks and trust companies, many capitalists being content to let their funds remain in the custedy of the institutions. That so much money is idle indicates an unhealthy business condition, which in part may be attributed to the extraordinary condition that comes with each Presidential year.

Before the Senators and Representatives scattered from Washington, last week, there were conferences at which healthy business condition, which in part may be attributed to the extraordipary conunctions of the control of t the preliminaries of the coming National Convention, and the Republican platform were discussed.

Probably the drift of the tariff resolution will be found in a recent utterance of Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island, who just before leaving Washington, said—

"The Republican Party is wedded to no set of tariff schedules, and will cheerfully readjust the present duties whenever the conditions warrant and the welfare of the country requires it."

This is the view of the President, and it meets with a ready response among Republican leaders generally except in Ilowa and some of the Western States, where there is an idea that a more positive declaration should be made—a promise of action at the next session.

If it comes to a trust issue before the people the logic of the situation will be with the Republicans, for their position is hostility, not to enterprise in general, but to monopolistic trusts or those that conspire in restraint of trade, and their plan to reach such organizations is through the law.

There is no longer a demand for continuing the subscript of the studies wheneved the cities who must purchase food and count every penny. It is unfortunate that the poorer portion of any community must buy those things which are becoming popular. We none of us aspire to be human hogs, and we all hope that the coming benefactors of mankind will be those who will lead us along the surest paths of dietetic integrations of Mr. Quay's plan to reach such organizations is through the law.

There is no longer a demand for constitutional amendments and supplementary laws. The ground has been cut completely from under the Democratic feet in that direction. It has been discovered by decisions of the Supreme Court that any conspiring corporation can be reached. The Northern Securities case has settled that question.

So what the Republican Party will offer to do in the coming campaign will be to get at the trusts separately through the enforcement of the law without distribution business, while the Democrats. turbing business, while the Democrats will find their remedy in assailing the protective tariff.
