

THE BUTLER CITIZEN.

WILLIAM C. NEBLEY - Publisher. THURSDAY, JULY 28, 1904.

REPUBLICAN TICKET. President—Theodore Roosevelt.

POLITICAL. At the conference, held in Butler, last Thursday, Senator Williams gave way to Mr. McNeese of Kittanning.

At the conference, held in Butler, last Thursday, Senator Williams gave way to Mr. McNeese of Kittanning, and made him the nominee of the Butler Armstrong district for State Senator.

At Jefferson City, last Thursday, the Missouri Democrats nominated Circuit Attorney Folk of St. Louis for Governor.

President Roosevelt is preparing his "letter of acceptance" at his summer home at Oyster Bay, L. I.

Davis, the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee, has subscribed a million to the campaign fund for the Democratic ticket.

All the Democratic guesses on the Presidential election start off with "Agout Belmont's latest."

The troubles of the Democratic leaders seem to have ended with the St. Louis convention.

The strike by the employees of the great meat-packing establishments of Chicago was resumed, Monday.

The last high water marked the beginning of the end of the old dam at Walker's mill.

The work from Manchuria yesterday was that the Japs had turned both flanks of Kurapatkin's army.

COMMERCIAL agencies report that the iron and steel trade is better, and it is reported from Pittsburgh that the net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the last quarter are about $20,000,000.

KILLED AT MARS. A relief operator named Pa, while crossing the tracks at the Mars Station to board the southbound 5:30 for his home in Allegheny, last evening, was struck and instantly killed by the northbound B. & P. Express.

WAR NOTES.

The military operations in Manchuria were overshadowed, last week, by the war cloud that arose over Europe.

Our turn may come next. Carriages of coal and provisions shipped from San Francisco and Seattle are constantly on the high seas bound for Japan.

Provisions and coal, excepting under special conditions, are not contraband of war, and if any of our vessels are seized our Government should insist upon a strict construction of the Law of Nations.

In Manchuria the military operations of last week were in the vicinity of Liao Yang, a railroad town now said to be occupied by the first Jap army.

On Sunday a battle lasting for fourteen hours took place near New Changzang, a large town near the mouth of the Liao river.

On Monday detailed accounts of the capture and sinking of the English steamer Knight Commander, off the coast of Japan.

The vessel sailed from New York, May 6th, with a large and varied cargo of merchandise, consigned to firms at various East Indian and Chinese ports.

The sinking of the English merchant man, Knight Commander, was the subject of discussion in Parliament, Tuesday.
