

THE BUTLER CITIZEN.

THURSDAY, JULY 28, 1904.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOTE: All advertisers intending to make... their intention to do so not later than Monday morning.

Borough Ordinance. Butler Fair. Photographers Notice. Pain's Burning of Rome. Excursions.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The Butler Golfers will hold a tournament, tomorrow. And now the Chinese baseball team...

The new Nile-green khaki suits worn by the officers of the Guard are very fetching.

Though our school Board elected teachers and raised salaries, there have been ten resignations since.

Thirty-two thousand people went to Grove City, last Thursday, to attend the dedication of the Wayside Inn.

The annual reunion of the 102d Pa. Vols. will be held at Kenwood Park, Pittsburgh, Tuesday, Aug. 9. Roll call at Casino at 9:30 a. m.

The Butler county militia company and the 16th Reg. band left Butler, last Thursday noon, for Oil City, and went on with the regiment that night to Gettysburg.

Petrolia is booming. Several new houses have been built there this summer...

A milk weasel or other animal is working havoc in chicken coops, from five to twenty chickens having been killed in several pens.

The street-car line to the new Fair Ground, on the hill west of town, has been completed. The buildings are nearing completion and the new track is already in fine shape.

The rear walls of the new theatre rise sixty-five feet above the sidewalk. The front wall of the Butler County National Bank building rises about seventy-five feet above the sidewalk.

At Rochester, Pa., last Thursday, the P. R. R. Co. laid 99 feet of track on Island Lane, and after 6 o'clock the borough officials tore it up and threw the ties and rails into the Beaver river.

While a wealthy family in Allegheny were at their summer residence in the country, last Thursday, thieves went to the house, in broad daylight with furniture vans, and took almost everything in it.

A Brooklyn judge has granted a divorce for two years, with privilege of re-marrying at the end of that period, which leads the Bradford Herald to remark that the return coupon is a new thing in divorce politics.

Are you going to Youngstown on next Tuesday? August 2nd. Everybody else is going with the Protected Home Circle. Fare, only $1.25. Train leaves Butler at 7:30 A. M. Youngstown at 8:00 P. M.

The firemen tested the new nozzle at the Diamond pipe, Tuesday evening, and they are a success. When the nozzle-men shut off the water it escapes at the plug. Water was thrown as high as the top of the Bank flagstaff.

Crop reports from all over the state are favorable. Grain, grass and fruit were retarded by the cold and wet weather, but little seen to be damaged by insects and worms. The continued wet weather, however, may cause the potatoes to rot.

The dog catcher captured 14 canines their first day, Monday, and a dozen on Tuesday. High Constable, Kramer, has a cage built over the bed of an ordinary wagon and has two assistants watching them. The dogs are kept at the pound on Mercer St. for two days and are then sold or shot. The redemption fee is $2.00.

Go into any restaurant or any hotel in the large towns, during the heated term, and the cream given you to put in your coffee may be putrid; while, if you ask for a glass of milk you will receive good, or nearly as good, milk as you would in the country, fresh from the springhouse. The reason probably is that cream from old milk is mixed with fresh, warm strippings, and canned and shipped before the animal heat in it has escaped.

Officers of the Pittsburgh drygoods Co. were entertained and driven over town, yesterday, by the Board of Trade. Several sites which the Board offered gratis for the location of the proposed woolen mill were visited. The sites offered were on Vozgely's Island, on the Duffy property near the Lead Works, the Anderson property west of the Brewery, the Negley property, the Salt Works, the Duffy property at North Butler, on the Ford Barber farm, and on the Ritz, or old McJunkin, farm, on the West Penn road. If the woolen factory is brought to Butler the shirt factory will be consolidated with it.

BORKE COCKRAN, recently told a meeting of the Women's Federation of Clubs that the difference in salary between a former Polygram and a new wife, "comprehends a group of wives at one time, while divorce simply means tameness." This simply shows that Mr. Cockran, in his zeal to be emphatic and say something "feeling" to the ladies, was not a little off his beam.

"Ed" Butler, the boss of St. Louis has been indicted for the most flagrant crime since the time of Tweed. Indeed, it seems that if the New York krafter were alive now he would think that he had been entirely too moderate, as Lord Alton remarked. Butler was convicted and sent to jail some years ago by the reputable Folk, acting as the jury in the case, and escaped on a technicality in the indictment. Now he is again in toils, and the same technicality which last week sent him to jail is to be brought against him.

Mrs. Maybrick, an American belle from Elmwood, Chandler, was released from an English prison, after serving fifteen years of a life sentence for poisoning her husband, last Wednesday. Butler was the one who secured her release, and with her mother, the Baroness de Roche, will soon appear in this country to contest the case.

The case of a man named John, who had been indicted for the murder of a woman, was brought to have the woman pardoned soon after her conviction. It was a case in which the woman was charged with the murder of her husband, and she was released after fifteen years, which is not uncommon where she is in bed, and the guilt and where the prisoner had made a good record.

It was often reported that Queen Victoria was supposed to say something of the sentence because she did not like reports of Mrs. Maybrick's conduct, and she was released after fifteen years, which is not uncommon where she is in bed, and the guilt and where the prisoner had made a good record.
