The Two Orphans.
The most interesting event of the coming theatrical season will be the appearance of the famous all-star company presenting "The Two Orphans" at the Nixon Theatre, Pittsburg, week of October 17. Mr. Tallner, the veteran manager who produced the play at the Union Square Theatre in 1874, has gathered a company of stars for this revival, and the enterprise is attracting much attention on that account. A half dozen theatrical companies have been disbanded to enable their leading players to participate in this important revival.

Avenue Theatre, Pittsburg.
LORD AND LADY ALICE—NEXT WEEK.
The famous Empire Theatre, New York, success of "Lord and Lady Alice," one of the most delightful comedies in the English language, will be presented at the Avenue Theatre by Manager L. W. Taylor, following "The Cavalier." The announcement of this play in a stock theatre possesses unusual interest, as it was revived last season at the Criterion Theatre, New York.

Some Old Friends.
Those who know "how cruelly sweet are the echoes that start, when memory plays an old tune on the heart," will be pleased by an offer made by the Geary & Brothers piano manufacturers, H. Kiebig & Brothers of Pittsburg. They will send a copy of their "Some Old Time Songs" to anyone who will fill out and send to them the coupon printed on the other page of this paper.

LEGAL NEWS.

NEW SUITS.
W. P. Snyder vs. W. F. Slocum, trespass for $100 damages. The plaintiff alleged that on Sept. 27 Slocum beat, kicked and wounded him so that his life was in danger. Slocum had property and bail in $1000 was required.
On petition of John Younkens for the heirs of R. H. Campbell, a rule was granted on the County Commissioners to show cause why an appeal from an assessment of $1400 on a farm in Parker twp. should not be allowed.

At Pittsburgh, Pa., Monday, Oct. 4th, the plaintiff and defendant, while at work for the defendant, last year, was knocked down and run over by a car in their yards, his arm being cut off.
Wm. Watson of Mt. Chestnut has entered suit on trespass for slander vs. E. L. Bryan, John Scott and E. L. Shuster. In the estate of H. W. Ueller, an issue has been joined to test the validity of the will of Ueller, administrator and the mother, brothers and sisters being plaintiffs and the two children, defendants.

NOTES.
James E. Marshall was appointed guardian of the children of Charles Helmhold.
In the matter of the petition of the town council of Butler borough for the appointment of viewers to assess damages and benefits in the widening and extension of Franklin street, the court appointed Alex. Mitchell, J. M. Leightner and Jacob Keck, who are to meet on the premises Oct. 17. The lands of the P. Railroad heirs is the property concerned in this matter.

In the Allegheny Co. Criminal Court, last Friday, J. Henry Jahn was convicted of the embezzlement of $900.
A divorce was granted, Saturday, to Elizabeth Hentz from James Hentz, according to the rules of the Borough ordinance, Board of Health department, W. & J. College is sick with typhoid fever.

On petition of Assessor O. M. Phillips of the Third Ward, the names of Dr. L. R. Stackpole, Harry C. Brent, Louis L. Monroe, David L. Floyd, John Floyd, C. W. Irvine and W. H. Griffith have been added to the Registry lists.

The Butler Grocery Co. has petitioned for a writ of mandamus, W. A. Goehring and the late Frank Hunter were the principal stockholders.
In keeping with an order from the bench at the May term of court, Judge Douglass Greenburg, Pa., refused the application of 40 foreigners for citizenship. According to the ruling no foreigners are to be admitted to citizenship unless they can read or write. Half a hundred applications were made at the hearing, but it was decided to go forth in the papers that they had no knowledge of the English language.

Angela Berger, of Washington county gave a peculiar reason for being a just peace for running away with another man's wife. Berger was accused of eloping with Mrs. Vincent Chevener and pleaded guilty. He said: "Chevener owed me $47.80 for goods and I saw no chance to get the money so I took his wife." Berger stated that he had no great affection for the woman, but thought she was next best to the money. Both Berger and Mrs. Chevener were committed to jail.

The state Supreme Court meets in Pittsburg, next week, and will continue in session for several weeks.
At its sessions two cases of general interest will be heard—the appeals from the decisions of the Allegheny county court in the Judges' Salary act of 1903 and the Russ case.
The facts as they are set out generally known, and the Russ case grows out of a bill for nearly $6000 incurred by the trustees of 1897 for whisky, whiskey, beer, cigars and other supplies, furnished the legislature of 1897 by James Russ, a Harrisburg caterer, who had the dedication of the Grand tomb, but the bill was vetoed by Gov. Hastings. The legislature then brought suit last December in the Dauphin county court for the recovery of his claim. The court threw out the case on the ground that there was no contract between the state and the caterer. Russ has since been trying to collect his money from the members of the legislature of 1897 by assenting each of them $15 as their pro rata share of his bill. Few of them have paid any money, and the fact is that the members of the legislature of 1897 are now being sued by the state for the amount of their bill.

The cases from Butler county will be heard during the week beginning the 17th.
The cases from this county for this term are:
Wm. H. Waller vs. Independent Natural Gas Co. vs. Butler Water Co.
Darius, against vs. Wick, a quigley vs. P. R. Co.
An assault that may result in murder and an attempted escape discovered in the nick of time were two sensational features of one day in the Western Penitentiary, Allegheny, last Saturday.
As the result of a desperate fight in the south block of the institution Saturday afternoon a negro prisoner is in the prison hospital suffering from severe knife wounds that will cause his death. His assailant, another negro prisoner, a notorious Allegheny county convict, is in solitary confinement.

The guard tonight discovered that a form on a cot in a cell in the north block was a dummy and a quick search revealed that a prisoner had escaped to the prison roof and was attempting to make his way to liberty. He was secured and placed in confinement.
While Warren W. McJunkin admitted the facts in both the cases he declined to reveal the names of the criminals involved, stating that they were matters not fully investigated and all the facts must be admitted to the prison board before they are pronounced.

OIL NOTES.

The market—Remains at $1.56.
In the districts producing Pennsylvania oil, which included the fields of New York, Pennsylvania, southeastern Ohio and West Virginia, 808 wells were completed in September. The new production amounted to 9,211 barrels and there were 311 dry holes.

Jefferson twp.—Henry Keesey has a good casing on the David Lefevre, near No. 2 school-house, from the gas sand; and a Pittsburg firm has one from the fourth on West Virginia. The Standard and Plate of Butler is drilling on the Henry Nichols between them. These wells open some territory that has never before been drilled.

Marton—The Clonking Hen Oil Co. sold their big gasser on the Wm. Marshall, near the new Coney Island company. Report has it that they got $5,000. The well had a pressure of about 600 lbs.

Connoquessing—W. H. and Lewis Rader have a fine well on the latter's farm on the 100-foot. It was showing Tuesday for a 100 barrels. The farm is owned by the new Coney Island company. Report has it that they got $5,000. The well had a pressure of about 600 lbs.

Pen twp.—The Phillips wells on the Campbell and Martin are doing from 50 to 60 bbls each.
St. Shiba ex't., has a fair producer on the Mangal.
No. 2 on the Marshall is doing 8 barrels, and the South Penn's on the Staples is reported dry.
