the hardest file, but the instrument will easily scratch any imitation that has ever been made.

Having scratched your pretty bit of glass till it is worthless, drop it and the diamond into hydrofluoric acid. Before long the glass will be dissolved, but the diamond will not suffer at all. Then there is still another experi-ment. Take a bit of stuff with red and white markings, pass the stone to be tested over it and closely observe the result. If the stone be an imitation ference of color will be appreciable.

A genuine diamond rubbed upon wood or metal, after having been pre-hardest stone. With her more beautiful sister she possesses also the quality of resisting the attacks of the file, but she is, however, cloudy in appearance and of a milky hue. The topaz is slightly yellowish and surrenders to the cutting teeth of the file. There are a great number of white diamonds, but a pure, clear, transparent stone without a shade of color is more rare than is often supposed.

Besides white diamonds there are some which exhibit the shades of red, blue, green, yellow, brown, black and pink. Heat sometimes causes a diamond to change its color, and after a other stones of that color.
