POLITICAL.

The oldest political rumor, of late, comes from Washington. Senator Knox is to take a hand in the politics of the state; he and H. C. Frick of Pittsburgh are to work together, and Frick is to succeed Penrose as U. S. Senator.

Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia is continuing his war on Penrose and Durham in that city, and one by one their adherents are being removed from office. Senator Penrose is said to have abandoned his plan to nominate Penneyker for Supreme Judge for fear the Philadelphia trouble will spread over the state, and to be now looking for a country candidate, who has not been defeated. Judge John Franklin is said to have been approached in the matter.

The Pennsylvania Legislature is composed of 70 Senators and 204 Representatives, elected by the whole people, and presumed to represent them and them alone. Such a body, theoretically speaking, is the flower and crown of popular institutions. The people in mass, assembled at the polls, delegate their inherent power of self-government to a select few who meet to enact their views into laws, and the Pittsburgh Times asks the pointed question: When did such a Legislature assemble in Pennsylvania?

On Saturday last the Democracy of Butler county nominated W. M. Kennedy for Sheriff over J. L. Burton by a vote of 1700 to 634. The vote on County Commissioner was very close, W. H. Graber 1299, G. F. Easley 1183, J. A. Mating 1140 and Blair Hooks 829—nominating Graber and Easley, the latter over Eichert by 13 votes.

W. A. Lowry for Prothonotary, C. C. Johnston for Treasurer, and W. B. Currie for Register and Recorder had no opposition. R. A. White and G. N. Wilson are the nominees for Auditor, and N. A. Dumbauld for Coroner.

At the convention, Monday, Ed. McShane was elected Chairman. The next primary was fixed for March 24, 1906. Honors are even in this county, this year, regarding the old soldiers. Each party nominated one.

In our election table, last week, part of the vote of Clinton township was misplaced. S. C. Moore of that township had 94 votes in his own township, but the figures dropped down into the Connoquessing North column.

Dr. Samuel G. Dixon of Ardmore, Montgomery county, was appointed commissioner of the department of health, Tuesday, by Gov. Pennypacker.

The machinery of the Expo. at Portland, Oregon, was started last Thursday, by a win by the White House. President Roosevelt pressed the key of the instrument at 4:32 p. m. our time or 1:22 p. m., theirs, and exchanged greetings with President George of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition.

"TOKIO is always for peace" said the Japanese Minister at Washington, "but Russia must realize the present situation in all its seriousness, and be prepared to face it." That is a big "but," however, as the war is prohibiting political meetings and suppressing all agitation, and the nation is rushing headlong into revolution.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has appointed Ches. J. Bonaparte of Baltimore to be Sec'y of the Navy, in place of Paul Morton, who retires at the end of this month. Mr. Bonaparte is a grandson of Napoleon's younger brother, Jerome, who married a Miss Patterson of Baltimore, while his wife was at that harbor and who was afterwards forced to divorce her and enter into a political marriage with a German princess.

This Japanese government has placed orders in this country for two hundred locomotives, hundreds of steel cars and other railroad equipment amounting in all to about fifteen millions of dollars. They are building railroads through Corea, and they will probably take possession of and operate the trans-Siberian road east and south of Harbin, as their terms of peace to Russia now probably include the complete evacuation of eastern Siberia.

A Perilous Adventure. Two young men of Penn township named Frazier and Sutton had an experience a few nights ago to which all the dime-novel adjectives can appropriately be applied.

They went to Evans City that evening, partook of something that made them very sleepy and started home late, going to sleep in their buggy.

Their horse took the usual road home until he came to the crossing just west of the Glade Run trestle, where, instead of following on up the hill, he turned to the left and followed the railroad to the trestle and began crossing it.

He did not go far, however, until his four feet were caught in the ties, and the two sleepers were awakened by his struggles. They awakened—and with an awakening. They realized the peril of their situation, and called for help. The watchman at the other end of the trestle came running across to them—and ran on past them and flagged the Buffalo Express just then due.

Then the train crew, watchman and sleepers cut the buggy loose and toppled it into the run, and the two men struck on the horse. They got him up and upon a plank and all him off the trestle—the sleepers holding his head down so that he would not kick.

The track was cleared, the train passed on and the young men went home, but they have not been saying much about their adventure.

The incident, however, suggests the keeping of watchmen at both ends of that trestle.

Daubenspeck Reunion. The second annual reunion of the Daubenspeck family and those of kin by marriage will be held at the residence of Elmer W. Daubenspeck near North Hope, Aug. 29, 1905.

Everyone welcome, come and bring well filled baskets, send notices to friends. By order of the CAMPBELL DAUBENSPECK, Pres., H. S. DAUBENSPECK, Sec., Bruin, Pa.

WAR NOTES.

Three Russian cruisers which escaped the battle in the straits of Corea arrived in Manila harbor last Saturday after a voyage of about 1500 miles. They were all damaged and the senior officer aboard asked that they be allowed to stay two weeks for repairs. They were badly damaged above the water line and were claimed to be damaged below it, and our Admiral there appointed a committee to examine them, and also reported their arrival to our government. The committee reported that it would take two months to repair one of the vessels, and they were ordered dismantled and interned during the war.

All the Russian officers aboard the damaged vessels assert that their fleet was thrown into confusion (thereby gaining defeat) by submarines; but the Japs make no mention of the use of them, and the chances are that the first casualties to the Russian fleet were caused by the superior marksmanship of the Japs. In a heavy sea part of the under-water body of a large vessel are constantly exposed and become the target; but hitting that target with a shell from a moving gun, at a distance of a mile or two requires much practice under similar conditions, and this the Japs are said to have had.

The details of the battle between the Japanese and Russian fleets show that the Russians failed to put up a good fight, but the sea was very heavy and their gunners could not land their shots, and the experienced gunners of the Jap fleet soon disabled several of the Russian ships and these were attacked and sunk after dark by the Jap torpedo boats. Admiral Togo's fleet did not send his torpedo boats among the Russians until after sunset, also that his fleet had the Russians surrounded almost from the beginning of the battle. The fighting continued all night and into Sunday morning, the latter part of it being a chase during which few serious results were achieved, and a few escaped and made good to Vladivostok and Manila.

It is estimated that eight thousand Russians are sleeping beneath the waves as a result of the battle and four thousand are prisoners, while the Japs lost but eight hundred men in killed and wounded, and three torpedo boats.

ACCIDENTS. Ed Garvais, a baker for J. A. Richey, had his face and left arm burned by a gas stove on Saturday.

Wattie Allison had an arm torn by a barbed-wire fence, Sunday.

Two Slavs were killed by falling steel plates at the Car Works, last Thursday morning.

Mrs. Agnes Graham of Butler twp. fell in her yard Saturday and fractured one of her arms at the elbow—a very bad fracture to reduce.

John Smith of Callery was struck by a train and had his right leg broken and his right leg was amputated below the knee.

A boy driving his four cows home for their evening milking, had the cow crossing the gate of the tunnel in Forward twp. last Friday, just in time to connect with a passing train, and the cow and the bull that accompanied them, were made short work of. One cow was carried on the engine, and the other cut, and the dead looked like a slaughter house.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by the coroner's jury of Allegheny county in the death of Harry Snyder, aged 16 years, of Valencia, who was fatally injured by a circular saw last Friday.

Snyder, who was six feet in height, was employed as an oiler at a portable saw mill on the Maxwell farm, near New Kensington, Pa. On Friday morning he was riding on the carriage that carries the logs to the saw. As the carriage approached the saw Snyder jumped into the pit between the wedge and the rapidly revolving saw. He lost his balance and slipped, recovering himself he again slipped, falling backwards on the saw. His spine was cut through and a large portion of his hip cut off. Portions of his entrails were torn out and thrown on the rafters of the shed. Although so near death, Snyder regained consciousness. He talked to his aunt and other relatives, drank a glass of water and drank a glass of beer, and of water a few minutes before he died. Snyder lived several hours after receiving his injuries.

FILES. The theatre on Fifth Ave., Pittsburgh, known as the Avenue Theatre and which was erected nearly fifty years ago for an Odd Fellows hall, was destroyed by fire last Friday afternoon. The fire started in the upper story, and the roof was burned before the fire was discovered. A performance was on in the Grand, next door, at the time, but the Grand was burned before the fire was discovered. Some mishaps but no fatalities. The Grand Opera House was damaged.

The home of Edward and Elgin Danenpek at McAdams, Pa., was destroyed by fire, Sunday morning. The fire originated from an explosion of gas in the cooking stove, and in a moment the entire building was in flames. Little or nothing was saved, and Edward was slightly burned in trying to save some things. Loss about $1800 and no insurance. The young men and their sister lived together in the house.

School Notes. At the meeting of the Butler School Board, Monday, D. H. Sutton was elected President, P. W. Kline Secretary and H. H. Newman, Treasurer. The Treasurer's salary was fixed at $500, and the Secretary's at $400.

C. E. Cronmeyer, Harry S. Klingler and John Findley were appointed a Committee on Finance. It cost $65,000 to run the schools of the town, last year, and there are a few outstanding warrants.

The new board is composed of the following members—First ward—Dr. R. Grossman, John Findley and D. H. Sutton. Second ward—Harry L. Graham, I. H. Newman and L. E. Christley. Third ward—E. H. Quinn, Norman Boyer and H. S. Klingler. Fourth ward—J. A. Bonner, James L. Garraway and J. M. McCollough. Fifth ward—W. T. Mulline, C. E. Cronmeyer and P. W. Kuff.

Oil and Gas Notes. The market remains at $1.37. Butler twp.—The Phillips well near the old Beckman house, and about 400 feet west of the McBride well, was drilled last Friday night, and started at the other end of the well, 300 a day, but stopped, Monday, and is now doing about 250 barrels a day. It is about 300 feet south of the big well shut down on top of the sand, and is about 100 feet from the well drilled in and shut Tuesday and is rated at from 25 to 50 barrels.

The Southern Oil Co. well on the other half of the Waldron, and located to the northeast of the big well, about 400 feet, was at the sand yesterday afternoon, with good indications. The Reiber well on the Schlagel, 2000 feet southwest of the gusher and on the 15 degree line came in dry, yesterday afternoon.

The gusher is holding up at about 25 barrels an hour, or 90 a day. Callers—Eider & O'Brien's new well on the Staples is doing 50 barrels a day. Their No. 4 Richardson reached the pay Tuesday and is being flowing.

Oakland—Miles & Co. are drilling on the Jas. Hutchinson, and have leased the John Goodgold.

When the head aches hard and throbs, when the neck and eyes grow stiff, the face flushes or grows deadly white, when any excitement or over effort brings on an attack of nervous headache so severe that it leaves you weak, tremulous, shaky and utterly worthless for days, it is a certain indication that the nervous system is shattered—that rest and power is gone—that you need a medicine that will rebuild and re-supply the nervous system.

The Nerve Pills, however, proved to be just what I needed and cured the attack in a hurry. As a result I feel steady in nerves, physically strong and vigorous in every way sound and well. This makes me feel I can't get too high of the medicine.
