All roads lead to Butler at Fair time, the time of all times for people to have the grand meeting they wait on from one year to another. Everything else is set aside for that week. The person who misses going to the fair misses about all his year's enjoyment, not that they have no other forms of pleasure, but the fair is the crowning performance of them all. Even the railroads this year will run excursion trains for Butler Fair from points much more distant than ever before. One railroad reports hauling in one day last year over 4.400 people to the Fair, and this year expects to double that amount. It won't be long to wait. Mind the date, get ready. Send word to your friends in other counties. Our word for it, this year, if weather conditions permit, will be the biggest fair ever held in Butler county. Not a little bigger but very much bigger.
