By DAVID G. PAGE, before the Kansa Dairy association.

All over this great state many farm ers are milking large numbers of cows who ought to cut down their herds and add a number of hogs to thei tock. Many hog breeders ought to ell off some of their stock and buy me good milk cows that will be able give the full pail every day. The m should be sold after separation ut the skim milk should never leav the farm. It is only by a perfect balance of hogs and cows that dairying n Kansas will yield its largest return and that hog breeding will bring the greatest amount of cash. Eastern thods of intensive farming are being rapidly but surely transplanted to the ertile prairies of the west, and farm s are beginning more and more alize the returns from dairy cows.

Early Cultivation. realize the importance of thorough early cultivation, thus preventing any check in the growth of plants because of weeds or crusted soil. The farmer should see that from the time of ger mination to the maturing of the corn the plants are not subjected to any unfavorable conditions, but are given an opportunity to make a steady, vig rous growth. If their development is checked from any cause they will never fully recover, no matter how favorable the after treatment. As a consequence of heavy rainfall the stalks may increase rapidly in height and at the same time, for lack of cultivation r of soil fertility or for other reasons they may be slender or of poor color Thrifty corn plants are thick, strong and of dark green color.—C. French Forestry. In France our forests have, as every nhabitant of our country knows, a code of laws. It was first used in 1827, and it embodies the regulations which were enacted by the famous ordinance of 1869. That ordinance reaches far back into the centuries, for it recognizes prescriptions which had been enacted by Charles the Wise in the fourteenth century. In order to keep our forests and to supervise them they have an army of their own, an army of rangers, foresters and keep ers, an army of 6,000 men, who are subject to military discipline, so that in time of war all this army is available to the minister of war, but in ordinary times it is under the control of the minister of agriculture for servce in connection with the forests.

CRAB GRASS. Expert Advice on Fighting a Peculiarly Stubborn Pest.

Assistant Agrostologist Carlton P. Ball of the United States departmen of agriculture replies in Country Gen-tleman to an inquiry from an Albany county suburban resident: Crab grass an annual, living from season season by means of the seed which ripens and drops to the ground amon germinate until the weather and so have become very warm. When the infested area is small and it is at all possible to do so, the largest possible number of these seedlings should be ulled up while they are small. Where it is not possible to exterminate them by this method they may be kept down to a large extent by a judicious use of the lawn mower. One way in which this can be done is by mowing frequently and regularly, as one does in the ordinary practice of lawn manage ment, thus keeping the flowering heads cut off as fast as they appear. This method, however, drives the plant to the production of small seed heads close to the ground, usually on short porizontal branches, which cling closely to the ground by rooting at the joints, as previously mentioned. These heads re too low to be cut by the mower blades. It is possible, however, when this stage in the process is reached to raise them to an erect position by means of an iron rake skillfully maniphat the teeth just dip into the surface of the sward, not approaching to the ground at all, and draws it toward him with a quick, jerking motion, he can draw up these prostrate branches without uprooting the entire swaru, which would be disastrous, of course, to all grasses alike. It is possible for a single workman to cover from onefourth to one-half acre in a day in this way, and by following him with a lawn mower run perfectly at right angles to the direction in which the rake has been used nearly all of these stems will

LIME IN SPRAY MIXTURES. Variation In Composition—A Pound Not a Definite Unit. By L. A. VOORHEES, New Jersey.

Lime is now quite widely used in the preparation of the various remedies for fungus diseases and insect attacks. In making bordeaux mixture for plant diseases and many of the washes rec ommended for the San Jose scale, for example, lime is used in varying quantitles. The object of the use of the lime in the case of the bordeaux is to convert the sulphate of copper into a hydrate of copper, while at the same time rendering the mixture neutral or alkaline and improving its adhesive properties. In the case of the washes me is added to serve as a base for the sulphur compounds formed as well to improve the sticking qualities Lime a Variable Product.

Owing to the wide variation in the omposition of limes, both in reference the actual lime contained in them and to their form-that is, whether an oxide, a hydrate or a carbonate—it is obvious that one pound of lime is not definite unit; hence in the formulas used for these mixtures the amount of lime recommended is usually in excess of that which would be required to accomplish the purpose if the term had reference to a standard rather than a variable product. The Litmus Paper Test.

It is because of variability of com osition and in order to insure neutral ity and thus avoid injury to the foliage or fruit, by the use of an acid mixture or even from an excess of lime, that the recommendations include the test for neutrality with red litmus paper. This paper turns blue as soon as sufficient lime has been added to make the mixture alkaline. This test is sure and should always be used before applying the mixtures, especially in those liable to contain an acid.

Soluble and Insoluble Humus products formed from the decay of the nsoluble humus. The soluble products are chemically combined with some mineral matter. The amount of water soluble humus in soils at any one time is small; that lost by leaching and in drainage water is replaced through decay of the insoluble humus, which gradually decreases in amount unless fresh supplies of humus forming materials are added to the soil,

The description is too long to quote and, indeed, too well known, but Si Walter Scott's criticism on it may not be so well known. He says: "This is one of the most beautifu passages of the poem. The 'fierce and far delight' of a thunderstorm is here described in verse almost as vivid as its lightnings. The live thunder 'leaping among the rattling crags,' the voic of mountains, as if shouting to each other, the plashing of the big rain, the gleaming of the wide lake, lighted like a phosphoric sea, present a picture o sublime terror, yet of enjoyment, ofter attempted, but never so well, certainly never better, brought out in poetry."

A HOT CHALLENGE.

Colonel Frank Wolford and His Firs Kentucky Cavalry. In the essays by Eugene Newman of ublic men and events a good story is told of Frank Wolford, who command Union army and who later was a rep resentative in congress from that state.

It was said that the colonel of the First Kentucky had some novel com-mands that he "fired" at the boys, such as "Huddle up, thar!" "Scatter out, thar!" and "Form a line of fight!" It is related that when some West Point officers were sent out to investigate and report on the efficiency of certain volunteer regiments Wolford's cavalry fell under their scrutiny, and they criticized it very severely. Wolford heard them patiently and then said: "See them two rigiments over thar? One is a Michigander and the other an Ohier squad. You have just passe them as all right. Now, I know nothing about your drills, your evolutions and your maneuvers. My boys know how to ride, how to shoot, how to fight and how to stand fire, and you take ther two rigiments over thar I showed you. Station them whar you please—on any ground, in town or country, in field o and what we don't kill or cripple o hem me and my boys will chase out o state of Tennessee before the sun is in the heavens tomorrow morning."

It is said that when artists are seek-ing for models the palm for beauty and symmetry of figure is given to the girl f Spain, while the daughters of rural reland are a good second. The pretty faces and graceful throats are found among English maidens. A model for a perfect arm would be sought for among Grecian ladies, while a lady of the Turkish harem would be regarded as the possessor of a daintily com-mendable hand. Italians are usually good in figure and some of the mos beautiful models, perfectly proportioned, are derived from the women of sunny Italy. Frenchwomen, as a rule, are not in request, being too thin and vivacious for the purpose, while the face and limbs of a German frau are too commonplace for artistic work .-

Dull Pain or Nervous Sick Headache is a certain Indication of an Oncoming Apoplexy or Paralysis.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills.

If the person subject to attack of diz-ziness or swimming of the head, com-monly called vertigo, would only stop to realize that these symtons are not a disease in themselves, not temporary ailments, but the plainest sort of warn-ings from nature of grave troubles of deeper origin, of an exhausted nervous system or an oncoming apoplexy, epi-lepsy or paralysis, the matter would receive prompt attention.
