Open to the Public.

Last Friday for the first time in its existence the Butler plank road was shrow open to free traffic and toll-taking abolished. The road, which extends from Pittsburg to Butler, a distance of 32 miles, on that day passed not the possession of Allegheny county, having been purchased from the Butler Plank Road Company in order that the toll-house keepers were notified that no more toll should be collected. The county's action is the result of years of endeavor on the part of the property owners along the road who protested against tolls.—Dispatch.

Allegheny county has purchased and has taken possession of the plank road from the Butler-Allegheny county line to the city. All the toll gates on that end of the road have been discontinued and the road is now a public one. The purchase price was $65,000.

This end of the road is yet owned by the Plank Road company and is yet a toll-road, but as it has never paid the company there is no telling how long it will continue so.

The proceedings in Allegheny county were under the Act of 1876, and were levoid of any such scandal as has attached to the purchase of the Beaver county bridges, under the same act.

The Yellow Fever.

Up to Tuesday the total deaths from yellow fever in New Orleans and vicinity were 68 and the total cases on hands 346. The quarantine guards of Mississippi are alleged to have crossed the Pearl river to the Louisiana side, and the Governor of the latter protested to the Governor of the former state.

Mississippi has five armed boats patrolling the coast to prevent fishermen from breaking through the quarantine lines. These vessels are also assisted by the United States revenue cutter Winona. The Mississippi boats will not allow Louisiana fishermen even to uter Mississippi sound, east of St. Joe ight, but from reports received it apears that one of these patrol boats will not allow Louisiana fishermen even to other Mississippi sound, east of St. Joe ight, but from reports received it apears that one of these patrol boats will not allow Louisiana fishermen even to other Mississippi sound, east of St. Joe ight, but from reports received it apears that one of these patrol boats will not allow Louisiana territory, and one restrated to the Mississippi river, a distort of the Borgne canal, which extends from a lake to the Mississippi river, a distort of four and a half miles.

The reports that China intended asking an indemnity Mr. Sato had read, and regarding this he said:

During the first two years of the war every officer of that regiment was either killed or disabled, and hence it was that Sandy, who had been promoted step by step, found himself at its head, and became its Colonel, while Joe got no higher than Corporal.

The battle of Gettysburg was on, the regiment was on the firing line, and one morning Joe approached Sandy and said, "Colonel. I am going to be killed today, and here is something that I wish you would send to may mother."

"Oh, nonsense, Corporal." said the Colonel, "its more likely to be me."

"No," said Joe, "you are going to live through this and get home, while I am going to be killed today."

"Well, if you feel like that," said the Colonel, "take this and go the rear" and he wrote him a pass to look for stragglers anywhere.

Le took the pass, read it and stuck

The Colonel saw him fall and ran to him and helped to put him into an ambulance, and then went back to the line. Joe was taken to the field hospital. A few days after a surgeon handal ed the Colonel a bullet, saying I cut this out of a dead man and at his request hand it to you, and the Colonel knew what had happened to Joe, and as he had no affection for that bullet he threw it away; but he sent the mother the trinket Joe had given him.

After the war was over a cousin of Joe who had followed him to the hospital and who was with him when he died, called upon the mother at her home, and told her all about it, and the mother listened to his story.
