FARM FIELD AND GARDEN
CANADA FIELD PEAS.
Storing the Crop-Threshing With Single Concave Machine.

After cutting Canada field peas with scythe or pea harvester it is usual to cure the bundles over once to facilitate drying while they lie on the ground. They require hand loading. The crop may be stored under cover or put into stacks, as with other grain, but it should be borne in mind that peas when in the stack will rot and the bundles will become soiled. The crop should be carefully tipped out of the stack and stored in a well-ventilated place.

BINDER TWINE.
The Working of Kansas and Minnesota Prison Farms.

The real facts in the case regarding the penitentiary twine plants are that they are extremely practical, and even make money for the state, while undressing the trust from one to two cents per pound. Warden Jewett of the Kansas penitentiary says: "The working of the twine plant here is successful in every way, and it is a benefit in every way. The net profits to the state from the Kansas penitentiary twine plant have been up to June, 1904, $88,197.49. Aside from this it has kept the price down for farmers. The year before the plant was established here twine sold for 14 cents. Last year it was sold to farmers for 8 1/2 cents in orders of more than 5,000 pounds, and 9 cents in smaller orders. This was two cents below the trust price."

The same story comes from the Stillwater prison twine plant of Minnesota. The plant manufactures approximately 2,000,000 pounds of twine annually, which is sold from one to three cents below the trust prices now. And before the establishment of the plant the trust prices were from two to three cents higher than the present. The deduction of the decrease in expense to the farmers of the state is made when it is known that the original investment was only $175,000. It is computed that the farmers of Minnesota save each year the entire cost of the plant, so that if it were a losing venture for the state it would pay because it saves the farmers, who cannot afford to pay so much more than the amount of the investment. But it does pay, and has earned a revolving fund of $600,000. Recent legislation, however, has limited the profit on twine to 1 cent a pound, which, while degrading the earning to some extent, will save the men who have to use twine that much, and consequently reduce the trust's price also.—Farmers' Follies.

Plant Lice on Brussels Sprouts.
Plant lice in the course of the more delicate members of the cabbage family, and Brussels sprouts are often badly infested with them. The crop needs close watching, says F. G. Ordway in Farm and Fireside. If you have a good knapsack sprayer (as any gardener should) the task is comparatively simple. Make a strong tobacco tea or a kerosene emulsion, or take a mixture of kerosene and water, and spray it about 100 degrees, and spray it with considerable force on the plants, holding the nozzle rather close to the stalks so that the force of the spray will reach all the tiny heads. I have a nozzle that is bent at about a right angle to the main direction, so that I can reach underneath the leaves and spray upward or in any direction I please.

Fruit Rot of Tomatoes.
Fruit rot of tomatoes is combated with more or less success by pruning and training vines to admit light and air, together with the destruction of all diseased fruits to prevent the spread of infection.

DOG AND DEER.
A Mad Flight for Life in the Wilds of Siberia.
The strength of heredity both in wild and domestic animals is brought into clear light by an incident related in a book, "In Search of a Siberian Klondike." The authors of the book were travelling by dog team through the wilds of Siberia in these spots.

Deer Making Extraordinary.
A correspondent's letter to Rural New Yorker gives the details of a "new" method of chasing wolves, a truly remarkable churn turns one quart of ordinary bottled milk re-enforced with two pounds of ordinary creamery print butter (softened up a little with milk, plus extract of carrots and a little "raportized salt," into "four pounds of fine sweet butter." This recalls that time honored recipe which crops up cheerfully every few weeks in the columns of Farm and Fireside, where it is usually accompanied by a goodly quantity of cheese is included in the alleged butter product.

Ontario Doing Fairly Well in Commercial Districts.
The new onion crop in the commercial growing districts of the United States for the most part is progressing satisfactorily. It is evident that conditions are favorable, including New York and New England, are averaging relatively better than in the central western states of Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana and Illinois. In the latter section rainfall has proved too abundant to be of any benefit, and considerable damage has been occasioned on account of a portion of the crop being washed out. This has necessitated considerable reseeded in some sections. While giving full weight to damage sustained through excessive moisture, allowance should be made for the substantial increase in acreage in many parts of the west as compared with last year. Reports from other parts of Michigan the season has proved so wet that a full acreage could not be put out, and in those sections we find an exception to the general expansion.

Nerve Pills.

It is the bright man, the man with a clear eye and brain, the active man, full of energy, life and vigor, whose very manner and presence brood success that is sought for and snapped up as soon as seen, and it seems almost pitiful that the first class, victims of excessive nervousness, who are the cause of their own undoing, should not know of the Nerve Pills of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills to round them into the old-time manly vigor again.
