JURY COMMISSIONER, A. Dale Thorne.

Senator Tillman says this week will see the end of the debate in the Senate, though indications fail to support him. The Republicans and Democrats are divided in the questions involved, which are of a legal and business character. It is said that the hair sultting arguments will continue all splitting arguments will continue all month, and that a vote may be reached by May 1st.

thoroughly identified by his family, and then reinterred in Bear Creek cemetery, near Petrolia.

When last seen Campbell was on his way to the old homestead, walking in the direction of Bear Creek. His son thinks that his father, in attempting to cross a foot bridge across Bear Creek, he come where he was last seen, tell into the stream and was either killed by the fall or stunned so that he was unable to escape from the water of the creek which ordinarily is not very deep. The body remained under the ice until the recent high water when it was carried into the Allegheny and floated down to where it was found.

A singular fact in connection with the finding of the body is that it was recovered at a point in the river almost directly opposite the home of C. P. McCafferty, a schoolmate and friend of Campbell's, and through whose investigation the identity of the body was revealed.

The bursting of an air hose caused a freight train on the West Penn division of the Pennsylvania railroad to 'buckle' at Batler Junction, Monday evening. Four men were injured, the waiting room was demolished, the station was knocked over an embankment and about a dozen cars were smashed to kindling wood, the debris of the latter blocking the tracks for hours. The injured were: Charles Casterline, station agent, badly bruised; August Gilg, clerk, cut and bruised; Elmer Johnson, shoulder hurt; — Wann, ankle twisted.

The wrecked train was going east at the rate of about 25 miles an hour when the air hose bursted. The engine was disconnected and shot ahead, but the brakes set on the first car and the others on the train jumped the track and crashed into the buildings.

The injured men were in the station and had no warning. They went over the embankment with the wrecked station, a one-story frame building. All were able to free themselves from the debris and go to their home.

It is said that one of the wrecked cars contained 500 pounds of dynamite.

Sudden Death.

Miss Margaret B. Blair died suddenly at the home of her mother in Buffalo twp., Wednesday, April 4, 1906, aged 20 years. Some circumstances connected with her death caused the physicians to notify the coroner and an inquest was held Wednesday evening, which was continued, Monday, by Coroner Patterson and a jury composed of G. W. Cramer, W. J. Bartley, G. B. Risley, Wm. R. Nicholson, D. M. McDermott and R. W. Cramer, whose verdict was that the girl's death was caused by hemorrhage following malpractice by a person unknown. The case is now in the District Attorney's hands.

The world's greatest show at present is the volcano called Vesuvius in Italy, near which the city of Naples is located It became active a few days ago and has been belching forth flame, smoke, ashes and lava ever since, day and ilght.

Vesuvius is the most celebrated volcano on earth. It has been intermittenly in eruption since the beginning of human history, and has wrought more damage than any other. These are no records preserved of eruptions of Vesuvius prior to the terrible destruction of Herculaneum and Pompeii in 79 A. D.

Subsequent to the destruction of Pompeii and Herculaneum there were many fatal laya flows. Some of these of which records have been preserved were in A. D. 203, 472, 512, 685, 993, 1049, 1198 and 1896.

which records have been preserved were in A. D. 203, 472, 512, 685, 993, 1049, 1198 and 1306.

From 1306 to 1631, with the exception of a slight cruption in 1500, the terrible mountain was quiet. The eruption of 1631 lasted three months. The eruptions increased in frequency in the 18th century. In 1772 smoke rose four times as high as the mountain, stones and ashes were thrown 10.000 feet in the air. One rock was 108 feet. In 1794 a stream of lava estimated to contain 46 000,000 cubic feet was emitted. The last century was a busy one for the volcano, it was in eruption 30 times. It closed work for the century in 1895.

Vesuvius in Italy, Stromboli in the sea and Aetna in eastern Sicily are in line, and form the most interesting group of volcanos known to man. Stromboli is a cone sticking out of the sea, and is in eruption nearly all the time. and yet people live around its edge, and raise (so 'tis said) grapes from which the hnest of wine is made.
