Each subscriber, by commencing the little tab on his paper, can tell the date to which his subscription is paid.

—Plenty of Rain.
—Will we have another ice company?
—Boil your milk as soon as you get it.
—If you make a flag put 46 stars in it.
—Get your harvesting machinery in order.
—The potato bug is getting ready for business.
—The Fourth of July will soon be with us again.
—One week from next Wednesday is the Glorious Fourth.
—The street-car lines are to be extended to East Butler.
—The more rain the more rest, only applies to the favored few.
—The teachers who were elected are now ready to enjoy their vacation.
—Perhaps Shanberger's conviction caused "Uncle Ben" to dance a jig.
—"A whistling woman and a crowing hen always come to some bad end."
—The Chicago P. O. is now worth $1,500 a year. Butler $2,900 and Mary $1,200.
—The R. R. engineers have received orders to do no unnecessary tooting in Butler.
—McKen street is a very fine street, and they don't want no street cars on it now.
—If there be blackberries as many as there be blossoms, the crop will be an enormous one.
—Township officials should see that the law regarding index boards at road crossings and intersections is observed.
—At the present time it is estimated that there are considerably more than 100,000 slaves in western Pennsylvania.
—This afternoon, from 2 to 4 o'clock all the stores and factories of Ohio, will be closed in honor of Governor Patterson.
—One of the Ohio colleges has a "southpaw" girl pitcher who strikes out all the big boys with neatness and dispatch.
—Amusing the public has become the greatest business on Earth. We are promised a "Carnival Co." for 4th of July week.
—Rev. Wilding of Vandergrift made trouble in the family of Harry Beck, and is in jail in Greensburg on a surety-peace charge.
—Under the new road law the commissioners are required to have the loose stones gathered up from the roads once a month.

Miss Mande J. Elliott of Coalstown and Mr. Lemmon Kelly of Cleveland, O., were married at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Chas. Snyder, 311 Market St. by Rev. E. Cronenweh, June 7. A host of friends join in wishing the young couple a long and happy life.
Mrs. Margaret Wilson of Florida, is visiting among the Nicklases and other families in and about Connoquenessing. Mrs. Philip Nicklas has been her aunt, and Mrs. Nancy Nicklas her sister-in-law. Mrs. Wilson, it will be remembered, married Samuel Wilson, who was killed at Gettysburg, and was in Mansfield, Ohio.
Senator Ankeny of Washington is an enthusiastic fisherman. Senator Piles tells the following story to him: When Mr. Ankeny became a grand father there was an immediate call for scales to weigh the fish. No other scales being available, it was decided to use grandpa's fish scales. So these were brought forth, and it was found that the fish weighed a few hours old, weighed 20 pounds.
Feodo. Machnow, the Russian giant who arrived at New York, last Saturday, was in an ugly mood when the authorities detained him for examination following the receipt of an anonymous letter questioning his sanity. He is 6 feet 2 inches tall, is 39 years of age and weighs 485 pounds. He was brought to this country for exhibition, and was accompanied by his wife and two children. He had to sleep on the cabin floor, and was such a hog at the table that he and his family were given food to be consumed in the kitchen. He was such a hog at the table that he and his family were given food to be consumed in the kitchen. He was such a hog at the table that he and his family were given food to be consumed in the kitchen.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NEW SUITS.
Norman O'Connor vs. Geo. Schenck, trespass for $500 for injuries received at the new Old Fellows Temple at Main and Cunningham Sts. O'Connor, who is a carworker, states he was walking on Cunningham St. when he slipped and fell on a defective walk, striking against an iron cabinet or which the door was open. He claims the door fell, crushing his head and that he was struck in the mouth and had several teeth broken off.
Sarah Steighner vs. Joseph M. Smith, assumpsit for $6.84. Mrs. Steighner is a daughter of the late Arthur Denney, whose last will provides that if oil is found on his farm all the heirs are to have an equal share in the profits arising therefrom. Mrs. Steighner is one of six heirs, and the sum sued for represents the one-sixth of $41.05 royalty produced from a well on the place. Other heirs being started, and the suit is brought to establish the plaintiff's rights.
Louisa Mary, William, Walton and Virginia, heirs by their next friend, Mary Hazlett, vs. John and Daniel Youngkins, trespass for $500 damages. The heirs claim that the defendants, in quiet and legal possession of a lot on N. Main St. and that the defendants, in erecting the building occupied by the Campbell House Co., came one foot over the line with their foundation and wall.
Miles Billard vs. Herman Baldwin and Constable Abner Grossman, trespass for $500 damages. Billard claims he was living in a house belonging to Baldwin in Marion twp. and, although the rent was fully paid up and the term was not expired, Grossman ordered him out of the house and when he refused to go, set his goods out on the road, and made him pay $1.50 costs in order to save them from being sold.
C. J. Myers vs. Andrew Kennedy, replevin for a team of bay horses, team of gray horses, harness and logging outfit valued at $400. Kennedy hired the property from Myers and it is charged does not pay the rent.
CRIMINAL COURT.
Steve Korichka pleaded guilty to a kick with intent to commit rape, and was fined $10 and costs.
Robert Barnhart pleaded guilty to a charge of a kick on Constable W. J. Davis and was fined $10 for 30 days and costs.

Floyd Goodrich, larceny of a pair of shoes, 30 days in jail, $5 fine and costs.
Charles Egan, Chicago, agg. ass. 90 days in jail, $5 fine and costs.
The case of Com. vs. J. F. Minter, selling liquor without license, two indictments, were continued until next term on account of Mrs. Minter having typhoid fever. Clerk in $1,000 was required.
J. H. Parker, clerk in Minter's drug store at Lyndora, pleads nolle contendere to a charge of selling liquor without license, and on account of the continuance of the Minter case, sentence was suspended until next term.
The case against J. D. Fleming, who was charged with embezzlement by C. W. Shaffer of $2,500, was continued. Fleming was in the meat business on Jefferson St. and that Fleming kept all the money, was settled. Fleming denied the partnership.
The jury in the case against Samuel Shanberger, burning his store, on Friday returned a verdict of guilty. At request of Shanberger, the attorney for the jury was polled whether brought into court and each man answered "guilty," as his name was called. Shanberger's verdict Shanberger's two indictments were broken down and left the Court room empty. The defense put up all the fight they could, but did not have much to say, except about 30 character witnesses, mostly Hebrew friends of Shanberger from Pittsburg. A motion was made for a new trial.
Frank Bickel, a young livestockman, was tried on a charge of statutory rape. Olsen, who lives at Keatons Crossing was the complainant and the offense was alleged to have been committed on his daughter, Blanche, a girl under 16 years of age, last September. The girl's story was that she had been working away from home on account of a difference with her step-mother, her father being dead. She was living with her mother and a Miss Cody at the Kennedy place on Elm St. She was with her mother and Miss Cody walked up town together, met Bickel and Frank Force, and went drove to a place where they had a party. They drove to the Mitchell school house, east of town, where she alleged the offense was committed while she and Bickel were alone. Dr. T. M. Maxwell testified to the injuries the girl had received. The other three members admitted the buggy ride together, but claimed that while they were out of the buggy at the Mitchell school all four sat on a large table for a half hour or more while the horse rested, and that Bickel and Miss Olson were alone at all during the evening. They also claimed that during the drive and while on the laprobe there was no hugging, kissing or other spooning.
The Elk Brewing Co. of Kittanning, represented by its officers, was put on trial, Monday, on a charge of selling liquor without license. They have been shipping beer into Lyndora through Sam Blank, their agent. Tuesday afternoon the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.
