DOCTOR RICHARDS 26689.

The highly bred and handsome stallion Doctor Richards will stand for service at Butler Fair Grounds in charge of the undersigned. He is a beautiful golden chestnut, stands 16 hands high, has excellent conformation, with action and carriage equalled by none. Doctor Richards inherits the blood of Abdallah 56, both through Nutwood (sire of 175 performers) and Robt. McGregor (sire of the world's champion trotting stallion, Cresceus, 2:021, and 107 other performers,) and his pedigree in every detail, represents the blood that has produced world's champions.

Boxing and the Loose Bundle-Box There are two ways of tying wool still practiced in many sections. Both have their advocates, and both have their merits. Boxing, as it is called, is probably most commonly practiced with wool on farms. On ranches wool siderable.—Henry J. Viets in American

The loose bundle is preferable except in two ways. A loose bundle is more apt to come to pieces before reaching sorter unless too large an amount of twine is used. Both are objection able features, says a South Dakota sheepman who describes the two ways of tying wool in Orange Judd Farmer. In boxing the fleece can be done up in a more compact form with the use of less twine and is less liable to come to pieces in handling. Buyers, how-ever, do not make any serious objection to either form when properly done.

First the shearer should endeavor to keep the fleece in as nearly a compact tion to either form when properly done.

First the shearer should endeavor to keep the fleece in as nearly a compact form as possible. After removing all tag locks lay the fleece flesh side down and after closing in the edges fold over toward the center from all sides, folding over enough to make a bundle about a foot square; then turn the fleece over on about four feet of twine, passing it around the second time the opposite way, and the firmly. The same posite way, and tie firmly. The same the plants take new root and spread. cocess is gone through in preparing it | Field and Farm.

Almost any one can make a woo ox. For each side take boards (A, A) here feet long and one foot wide and for the center three pleces (B. C. B) a foot square and hinge them together, as shown in the cut. Now saw two notches on each of the four sides to hold strings, as indicated in diagram. Cut your strings about three feet long and lay them on the board, as indicated by dotted lines. After folding the fleece as stated above lay it on the box, fold up the sides, then the end pieces, fastening them with cleats. The ends of the strings are handy to tie to-grow cucumbers to train them up er's Garden. They can thus have al the room they want to stretch out their vines and still will not be running all over everything else, as they so often do if left on the ground. Any of the ommon sorts of cucumbers will climb like a gourd. About the time the vines if they enjoyed it. The cucumbers sit better, and you don't have to hump your back picking them. Besides, you save a great deal of space, which is quite an item in a small garden.

The best soil for chicory is a limy, sandy loam. Stony soil and clay soil are equally unsuitable. The surface soil should be deep and the subsoil porous enough to allow the long taproots to penetrate a foot or more. The seed is sown about the last week of May. Chicory seed is fairly hardy, more so than corn. Just before sowing the seed it is well to lightly harrow the land to destroy young weeds. Seeds should be sown fifteen to twenty to the foot, requiring two to three pounds per acre. The rows may be twelve to fifteen inches apart when the cultivation is to be done by hand, but under horse cultivation rows should be sixteen to stateen inches apart.

POTATOES FOR PROFIT.

Deep, Rich, Fine Soil, With Clean The potato is never so much at hom and so perfectly happy as in a deep rich and thoroughly pulverized soil.

Any one who doubts this can easily test it for himself by taking a small patch and thoroughly pulverizing the soil to a depth of twenty inche; then put on as much phosphate as you think it needs, then twice as much more. Be very sure the fertilizer is thoroughy mixed with the soll so as not to urn up the seed; then pieces of pota bes with two eyes, one in a hill Good sized potatoes are preferred for Finally put the hills three feet apart each way so as to let in the sun. Cul-tivate well and note the result. Of course this plan cannot easily be car-ded out on large areas, nor would it be best. A little increase in depth each year is all one can ordinarily do. In making the small patch above mentioned do not literally dig down twenty inches, but only so far as good soil is found. Then throw on good soil from adjoining land to make the required depth.

Their Reward, The Land and the Seed. It is usually better to turn over a piece of greensward in the fall to be planted to potatoes the next spring. Stones, little and big, should be out of the way of the disk harrow, so that a good fob can be done. And here it is important that one should harrow a piece all it seems to need and then do twice as much more. If potatoes are planted more than one year on the text."

sition of that which he or she is expected to swallow, whether it be food, orink or medicine.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his medicines, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. has "taken time by the forelock," as it were, and is publishing broadcast a list of all the ingredients entering into his leading medicines, the "Golden Medical Discovery" the popular liver invigorator, stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, brokendown, nervous and Invalid women.

This bold and out-spoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all harping critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled, from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the strongest endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines. A copy of this little book is mailed free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. A ddress Dr. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugarecented anti-bilious granules. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not beget the "pill habt," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor. It takes no more time to spray pota-toes before the foliage is destroyed by beetles than after. It also takes much less time to cultivate them before the weeds get the start than afterward, Out of fifty-five varieties of potatoes tested for rot at the Rhode Island ex-periment station the Professor Julius Kuhn shows the greatest immunity from injury by the blights of any of

NEWS AND VIEWS

Some one has figured it out that to day more than 40,000,000 Americans live on almost 6,000,000 farms. One eadwinner in every three is a farmer. One of the best indications of the tre mendous influx of new settlers to North Dakota is seen in the movement of farmers from the states of the middle west. Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin and Nebraska particularly are sending a throng of sturdy and experienced farmers to the northwest. The spring outlook has commended

Ohio is said to deserve the name "hayseed state" of the Union because she cuts and cures more hay of all kinds than any state in this country. Nearly all the destruction caused by insects comes from not taking time by the forelock. People wait until a horde of destructive insects suddonly ap-pears, and then comes the query, "What are they, and how can I de-NAILED TO THE CROSS.

And, if so which mode of death was considered ing? The remoteness of the event and the fact that in this case historical truth may have been sacrificed to pictorial effect make the above questions hard nes to answer. The early writers allost invariably refer to the thieves as having been nailed to the cross, while the early picture makers adhered to the general rule of representing them separate crosses.

First Matrimonial Agency. Advertisements" ought to attract at-cention in our time, when requests for narriage fill the journals in the form of gress or jocular and sometimes serius announcements. That may seem to be a new phenomenon of modern life, yet M. Henri d'Almeras in La Revue Hebdomadaire says the real originator of this industry was one Villaume. In the last days of the empire he set up in Paris a sort of universal agency, which would supply furnished apartments, domestics, wives and hus-bands.—Journal de St. Petersburg.

An old time way of proving one's right to the payment of money loaned was by tally sticks. A plain stick was used, and when a man loaned a sum i stick was broken, and the creditor and debtor each took a part. When the time for payment came the man who had the stick which fitted exactly to the stick held by the creditor received in exactly the same shape, so there was never any dispute about who had Next Door to Court House.
