POLITICAL.

Canlidate Stuart was given a hearty reception and made a favorable impres sion upon his large audience in Butler, last Friday night. He is a man in the ne of life and mental vigor, and he tilked as such, and he probably made some votes by his appearance here.

He pledged his best efforts to enact the Republican platform into laws of of the state, particularly as to the right of trolley companies to carry freight; and, as to what now looks like the most stupendous robbery of the State Treas ury since "Tonnage Tax" days, he pledged a thorough investigation and the punishment of the offenders, if 'graft" can be fastened upon them.

His words were about as follows: His words were about as follows:

"Whether the State capitol is entitled to the high praise which has been accorded it or not, if, in its construction of furnishing, there has been any fraud or wilful extravagance—which to my mind is almost the equivalent of fraud—surely there is no man but will agree with me that those who have participated in or profited by such fraud should be met with prompt punishment, and also be compelled to make restitution. If elected governor, I promise you, fully realizing the responsibility resting upon me, that I shall see that a thorough investigation shall be made of the entire question.

were Dr. Showalter, who presided candidates Murphy and Houck, J. F Burke and Alex McDownell, all of whom were heartily applauded.

There will be fourteen party squares on the official ballots for some of the counties of the state, this year, and among the rames pre-empted are Mitchell, Pennsylvania Blacksmith, Roose velt, Square Deal, Nomination Paper Party, Senatorial, Judicial Reform. Butler Republican and Federation.

The Triennial Assessment.

MR. EDITOR:—Concerning the coming triennial assessment I am inclined to agree, in part, with your correspondent of a week or two ago, viz: That-the farmer, as a class, comes nearer paying full value taxes upon his property than any other class of citizens—his property all being exposed to the view of the assessor, and being of such nature not readily concealed—even were he inclined to do so.

The goal to be striven for by the assessors over the county in both town and township should be equalization of values, so that you and I owning property of the same value pay the same tax, a difficult task as few of us see alike. The County Commissioners have gone to considerable trouble and expense in having printed for the benefit of the assessors the law governing their action, together with instructions as to how to go about their work. The assessor's duty in my judgment is to visit each separate property and to assess same at such value, according to law and his instructions, as his best judgement may dictate, taking into consideration in determining the value of each separate property its improvement, location as to market, its products, oil, gas, coal, limestone, timber, etc., and to do away with the custom of dividing all real estate in his district into two classes. he custom of dividing all real is his district into two classes—red and unimproved, and fixing itrary value on each class, withgard to the separate value of each or sub-division of land, and then ally proceeding to take the last durantees and number. to ascertain names and number res, and proceed to make out his cate or assessment accordingly well known fact that both in town and township there are those whose valuations are too high and those whose valuations are too low as compared with each other, and by reason thereof, the one pays more and the other less than they should—a condition that should be religiously avoided. I think all fair minded men and good citizens gladly pay their fair and equal proportion of the tax necessary to defray the necessary expense of good government, but the best of us are inclined to kick and feel righteously indignant upon discovering well known fact that both in town and expense of a reinclined to kick and resignate of a reinclined to kick and resignate on the second resignation of the second reinclines are paying more than our next and reignbor who has equally as valuable that we are paying more than our next neighbor who has equally as valuable property as we have.

It is about time the assessors over the county, and especially in those townships immediately surrounding the Borough of Butler, and perhaps other towns and sections of the county traversed by railroads, both steam and electric, waken up and assess lands that for years been treated by them as unimproved meadow or swamp lands, at something near their real value, the bottom lands along the Connoquenessing creek, BonnieBrook and Coal run, in the vicinity of Butler are very valuable as manufacturing sites, sites for railroad yards, etc., and are held at fabulous prices, let the assessors attempt to buy some of the "swamp" lands in the vicinity of the intersection of Connoquenessing creek and BonnieBrook or Karns Crossing, or in the vicinity of the Car Works—lands assessed at $30 to $50 per acre, and the owners are asking from $1000 to $5000 per acre, so the writer is pretty reliably informed. If the said land owners continue to stand in the way of improvements by holding their lands at fabulous figures let them pay taxes on same at least in proportion to its value as you and I do on some of mer lands at randious nightes let them pay taxes on same at least in proportion to its value as you and I do on some of our hilly farms that would not sell for one-tenth the money per acre offered for the low lands or swamp sections above mentioned.

If the assessors fail in their duty concerning the average assessment of such contracts the contract the contract the contracts as a such contracts the contract the contract

Gov. Pennypacker began his short speech of accentance with the speech of acceptance with the sentence

"The Capitol is much more than the building in which the Legislature hold-its sessions, the courts sit in judgment and the Executive exercises his authori and the Executive exercises his authority ty here. It is a concrete manifestation

It must not be, it shall not be, the civilization of a mere plutocracy, a banking house, Wall-street-syndicate civilization; nor yet can there be submission to class hatred, to rancor, brutality, and house, Wall-street-syndicate civilization; nor yet can there be submission to class hatred, to rancor, brutality, and mob violence, for that would mean the end of all civilization. Increased powers are susceptible of abuse as well as use; never before have the opportunities for selfishness been so great, nor the results of selfishness so appalling; for in communities where everything is organized on a merely selfish commercial basis, such selfishness, if unchecked, may transform the great forces of the new epoch into powers of destruction hitherto unequaled.

"We need to check the forces of greed, to insure just treatment alike of capital and of labor, and of the general public, to prevent any man, rich or poor, from doing or receiving wrong, whether this wrong be one of cunning or of violence. Much can be done by wise legislation and by resolute enforcement of the law. But still more must be done by steady training of the individual citizen, in conscience and character, until he he grows to abhor corruption and greed and tyranny and brutality and to prize justice and fair dealing.

"The men who are to do the work of the new epoch must be trained so as to have a sturdy self-respect, a power of sturdy insistence ca their own rights, and with it a proud and generous recognition of their duties, a sense of honorable obligation to their fellows, which will bind them, as by bands of steel, to refrain in their daily work at home or in their business from doing aught to any man which can not be blazoned under the noonday Sun.

Notwithstanding the threatening weather of Tuesday morning, October 2nd, many people were seen wending their way to the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Badger of Concord twp., where friends and neighbors, to the number of about three hundred, met to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs Badger, and the day proved to be a model one for such a meeting.

After the older people were all seated Rev. W. H. Sloan called them to order and Rev. J. H. Braden asked a blessing. All seemed to enjoy the excellent dinner which the good women had prepared, and one was forced to believe that the heads of the young chickens were not spared. Some were heard to remark that the family physician would get the most benefit from there sults of such a dinner.

After dinner the meeting was called to order by Rev. J. H. Braden; O. R. Thorne was elected chairman and S. B. Badger, secretary.

A Paint Education

Oil is the life of paint. Dead oil, dead paint; it peels off, washes off. Italis off. You have to paint again. You've been there. Well, you have been getting paint with dead oil in it.

prices for canned off. Get the best linseed oil and mix it with Hammar Condensed Paint yourself. Then you know you've got fresh paint. Paint that will stick right, look right, wear right and at the right price.

Men of experience always do this. It saves money and saves work, too. We'll explain paint points at length if you will drop in on us some day—before you paint this season.

We are sole agents for the paint you get without oil—and mix. It is the famous Hammar Condensed Paint. Gallon of paint, gallon of oil. Simple enough. Absolutely fresh and new. Guaranteed for five years. We can show you in two minutes how Hammar Condensed Paint will save you money, at least 25 per cent in cost and 100 per cent in wearing qualities.
