Carlisle Herald and

A FAMILY NEWSPAPER: - DEVOTED TO NEWS, POLITICS, LITERATURE, THE ARTS AND SCIENCES. AGRICULTURE, AMUSEMENT, &c. &c.

Printed and Published, Weekly, by George M. Phillips, in Carlisle, Cumberland County, Pa.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1838.

NEW SERIES, VOL. 2,-No. 10.

TERMS.

THE "CARLISLE HERALD AND EXPOSITOR, will be issued at TWO DOLLARS per annunto be paid half yearly in advance. ADVERTISEMENT'S not exceeding asquare or three insertions, ONE DOLLAR, and every ubsequent insertion, Twenty-five Cents, longer ones in proportion.

Letters addressed to the publishers on business, MUST BE POST PAID, otherwise they will not be attended to.

AGENTS.

The following persons have been appointed gents, for the Carlisle Herald and Expositor to whom payment for subscription, and advertise ments can be made. P. SHELLY, Esq. Shiremanstown, Cumb. SCOTT COVLE, Esq. Newville, do. P. KOONTZ, Esq. Newburg, do. Thos. W. Himes, Esq. Shippensburg, do. J. MATEER, Esq., Hoguestown, do. J. MATEER, Esq., Hoguestown, do. R. Wilson, New Marchanicshure, do. R. Wilson, Esq. Mechanicsburg, William Runsha, Esq. Hopewell, R. STURGEON, Esq. Churchtown, Dr. Asa White, New Cumberland,

The Garland.

Thos Black, Esq. Bloomfield, Perry-county

From various gardens cull'd with care."

From the Mudisonian.

LOCHABER NO MORE! There are few, we believe, who are aware that The exquisitely beautiful and touching ballad of the above name, was composed by the brave and generous Earl of Derwentwater, who fell a victim to his zeal in the cause of the rebellion of 1715. The avowed object of that rebellion, as is well known to every reader of English history, was the establishment of the son-of-James the Second, (commonly called the Pretender,) on the throne of England. For there were many of the most powerful and influential of the Scottish the Stuarts. Louis the Fourteenth, (who strenuously promoted the views of the malcontents) immediately on the death of Queen Anne, despatched the pretender to Scotland, where, with aid will never be realized.' the powerful assistance of his adherents in that kingdom, he was crowned at Perth. The rebellion, however, was ill-concerted, and in a short dime completely failed. Many of the rebels assembled at Preston, were compelled, by superior numbers, to surrender themselves prisoners at and Nithsdale, the latter of whom escaped from means of living in affluence, not withstandprison, through the ingenious stratagem of his young and devoted wife, while the former was my objections to be your wife, said Julia, executed on Tower Hill. "Thus fell the chief previshly. of the noble house of Derwentwater, at the age of only-twenty-eight years, leaving a young and beautiful widow, and two infant children," to Tament his early and melancholy doom."

The tender and heroic lines to which we have alluded, were composed by the Earl and addressed. to his Lady on the eve of his departure to join the rebels :-

Farewell to Lochaber, and farewell my Jean, Where heartsome with thee I have my days beon; For Lochaber no more, Lochaber no more, We'll maybe return to Lochaber no more; These tears that I shed, they are all for my dear, And not for the dangers attending on war: Though borne on rough seas to a far bloody shore, Though hurricanes rise, and raise every wind, They'll ne'er make a tempest like that in my mind, Though londest of thunder on louder waves roar, . And beauty and love's the reward of the brave, And I must deserve it before I can crave. .

Maybe to return to Lochaber no more.

Then glory, my Jeany, maun plead my excuse, Since honor commands me how can I refuse, Without it I ne'er can have merit from thee, And without thy favor, I'd better not be-I gae then, my lass, to win honor and fame, And if I should luck to come gloriously home, A heart I'll bring to thee with love running o'er:

to his pensive and tearful recollection the bestling braes and brawling burns of the home he may visit 'no more." "'O, the exile's heart hath weary hours!" Henanse

FROM THE NEW YORK MIRROR.

A Milliner's Card.

When lovely woman longs to marry And snatch a victim from the beaux, What charm the soft design will carry? What art will make the men propose The only art; her schemes to cover, To give her wishes sure success; To gain, to fix a captive lover, And "wring his bosom," is To parss;

Control of the second

SELECT VALE.

From the Southern Literary Messenger.

The Perils of Passion.

Your sorrows are self-bought, and you may reap

"The iron harvest that your hand hath sown." We have strange news to night, Julia,

Henry had just returned from the village; and his countenance betokened that something unusual had occurred What-what news, Henry?' inquired

Julia, with some surprise. 'The death of our friend Adams.'

'Adams! is James Adams dead? I saw denly?-a fit-a fall-or a duel, perhaps. 'Poor man! yesterday his goods were attached; is not his failure in business the supposed cause of this dreadful act? In which the more confidence pressing or after them, In this way, the types he left a note in which he said hope was cherished with the more confidence pressing or after them, In this way, the convinced I could not be mistaken. I that he had lost all, and preferred death, appeared to view the act of self-murder ed one of the most accomplished young But the fortune promised him by his ing severely for her own ill-conduct, and She was particularly partial to the study uncle at Hartford, would have made him filled with fear, could not believe that he of the French, and frequently expressed independent. Was he not sure of that had committed suicide. The conclusion, the wish that she might become a perfect

'He was. But he was this morning informed of the death of his uncle. With this intelligence came also the report that he property had all been willed to his uncle's attorney and particular friend, Mr. to the feelings of despair, and committed the sun of prosperity might again shine Mr. Harwood is recovering from a severe the sum of two hundred thousand dollars.' We are then left to our own meagre resources,' said Julia; 'Adams' promised

"What aid?" asked Henry, hesitatingly -for he saw in the countenance of Julia a look of disappointment.

Among them were the Earls of Derwentwater mense estate, to furnish me with the to the last summons. ing your poverty. That alone overcame

Henry was struck with astonishment. neral knell of his earthly happiness .--What-thought he-has it come to this? In two short years, have I thus been brought to experience what, but yesterday, I confidently believed could never be my lot to suffer.

'Julia," said he sternly, 'I am astonish-There's naething like leaving my love on the shore edl. What means this sudden outbreak evening was enchantingly delightful; and, ing her return home. She was sitting at To leave thee behind me my heart is sair pained: against your husband? Have I deserved in spite of all the causes of her unhappi. the open window of the parlor, perusing By ease that's inglorious no fame can be gained; this treatment from you?" Do you thus ness, Julia felt invigorated from the rice, the letter, when a man, miserably clad, requite my kindness and love?"

are doomed to live in poverty. Had you of exercise and amusement.

'Julia,' said the husband, 'I have heard ... The truth at once burst upon the mind reduced him to so miserable a condition, my feelings that I fear never will he heal- it had, in her happier days, been pointed and invited him into the house, And then, I'll leave thee and Lochaber no more! ed. This moment would I give worlds, out to her by her friend Adams, as his This ballad has received an enthusiastic enco- could the scenes of this day prove to be uncle's. She could not be mistaken; it these parts, I presume; what calamity mum from the glowing pen of the authoress of but a dream! I can bear the buffetings was even so. She had time only to raise can have brought you to so wretched a Continue in that most elegant of her imaginary and the frowns of a cold and selfish world her heart in thanks to God for Ilis good condition. productions. The air to which it is sung is said without; but domestic bickerings and ness, before she and her daughter were to be inexpressibly soft and plaintive, and in the squarels are too much for me. How often welcomed into the house by Mr. Har son of inisfortune, he replied; many a ing invitation to visit America at as of seeing the internal arrangements, and and taking them by force from their weary hours of the Caledonian exile's heart a bound norm this destroying spirit to the managements would the management of a school in actual families to be married, to his soldiers, ter the circle of my domestic life. Alas!

> obtain the means of securing to myself the morning by the voice of her daughter, blied the poor beggar; but I fee from were both called to their reward in Heat more success. It is the plan which has was chosen President of the Senate and the pleasures of society. Enough have who, with joyous countenance, was canno human hand of justice. The upbraid ven; and Mary Lees his adopted and built up the common schools of New Or. King of Franklin country, Speaker I seen of your incapacity, and of your gerly calling her attention to the other lines of my conscience alone, are what only child, came into possession of his England and New York, and has produce of Representatives, both ferable to my present condition!'-

her eyes around, she perceived herself no not send for him, mother?! longer in the hearing of her husband. He nation never to enter its walls again.

-though it afforded him no sufficient gentleman will take care of us. did. She knew also, that his disposition that the old gentleman would provide for would be happier without me! With would not allow him readily to grant her them; for he proved a guardian to them, him in apparent good health this morning; posed to be Henry Lee's, was found near mon that he had extended the aiding where I well knew I should be beyond what can have caused his death so sud, the margin of the river, in the town of hand in the right direction. He imme-No, neither, replied Henry; the put of about twenty miles from Hartford, Con. made great progress. Mrs. Lee had not ate the impression that I had put an end liberal spirits, distributed thro teachers for common schools, many of an end to his own existence immediately necticut. Search was now immediately neglected the moral and intellectual imafter dinner. His body was found sus: made for him; every part of the river in provement of her daughter; and the supended in the chamber of his store at four the vicinity was closely examined, and perior advantages now secured to her for Yes; he left a note, in which he said dence, from the fact that he had always the family. Mary found herself-esteemwith great horror. Julia, though suffer-ladies in the circle of her acquaintance? large estate, at the demise of Mr. Hars however, in the public mind was, that scholar in that language. Mr. Harwood papers.

of want—a life of wretchedness.

a gentleman, far advanced in years, rode prised of her intended visit.
up to the miserable dwelling of Julia Lee She now pursued her studies under the

Julia consented though not without dearest friends. some hesitancy, and a secret apprehen-

when we should not be pointed at as the inficent mansion on - street, near the poorest family in the neighborhood centre of the towns enough. You have inflicted a wound on of Julia. She had seen the house before; she addressed him in her own tongue, ourselves to be torn asunder, and disgrac scenes of the past, she would have been livion. agreeable. I will bear it no longer. Would rase between their present and former wish to be relieved of Would that it liv to her parents, sufficient to ensure support of the colleges. The plants, to Nat. Int. and to be relieved of Would that it liv to her parents, sufficient to ensure support of the colleges. The plants, to Nat. Int.

him again, answered the mother.

said Henry Lee, one evening, addressing vince her that her conduct-was-most un wept enough. I will work for you, and have been our comfort and solice thro becoming and cruel toward her husband be a good girl, mother. This kind old forgiveness, even were it in her power to indeed. They all soon became warmly passion, I hastily abandoned her. I On the following morning, a hat, sup- was every day strengthened in the opi--, in which he resided, at the distance diately placed Mary at school, where she persons were despatched to the neighbor, at quiring a finished education, were ing towns, in the hope that possibly he highly appreciated by both. In the course cumstances were related in a journal schools has been devised and improved, tive, or more public life; but others are weeks, still entertained hopes that her soon determined to place her in a situal can be more severe than that I have al-Lawson. It was too much he gave way husband would return to her. She felt, tion where her wishes could not fail to be ready suffered. indeed, that she could not leave this world, gratified. He had a brother in-law, named But where, eagerly inquired Mary, the stal deed, without once reflecting that the sun of prosperity might again shine the word of pardon. But hope finally traggind a greech lidy and adopted that the word of pardon. But hope finally traggind a greech lidy and adopted that the word of pardon. But hope finally traggind a greech lidy and adopted that the word of pardon. But hope finally traggind a greech lidy and adopted that the word of pardon. But hope finally traggind a greech lidy and adopted that the word of pardon. But hope finally traggind a greech lidy and adopted that the word of pardon. upon him. Had he waited even until ceased to administer to her any relief; and country as his permanent residence. In proud am I of my country—though I she was compelled not only to look upon choosing France for his home, he chose the awful crime of self-murder; for a let- herself as a widow, but almost as the mur- its language also, and soon nearly ceased ter from his agent in Hartford, received deress of her husband! What remorse to speak his own. Mr. Harwood at once this evening, contradicts the unfavorable what sorrow did she feel! She awoke made arrangements to place Mary unifer from disturbed and frightful slumbers, in his protection. She had now reached nobility inflexibly opposed to that change in the attack-of the fever, which had threatened her grief, in sensible and sober reflection, cared to her the object he had in view.

She could-now see what happiness was, She received the proposition with much from experiencing the extremes of mise- joy. Though warmly attached to home, ry. Bitterly, did she repent that she had she nevertheless entertained the idea that reproached her husband for his poverty, it would be a very pleasant thing to visit when in comparatively happy circumstan- lirance, aside from the advantages affordces-for she saw before her a scene only ed of perfecting herself in the French language.

"You know it was not for love that I this unhappy woman, without detailing took her departure for Paris. On the many instances of pain which she ex-voyage, which was a long and tedious perienced. Her path was beset with one, she more than once wished herself he should be possessed of his uncle's im- of death often seemed about to deliver her courage, however, did not entirely forpicture. It was in the year 17-, when ceived by Mr. Jeffreys, who had been ap-

It is true, he had not always lived on the in a costly and splendid carriage. On direction of one of the most popular wife! would to Heaven I could call thee tion which the government affords to those sides this, it does what the manual labor happiest terms with his wife—having be- knocking at the door, it was opened by a teachers in Paris—devoting her attention fore frequently discovered in her signs of young Miss, apparently about ten years of more particularly to the acquisition of and sobbing most bitterly. dissatisfaction. Attributing this misfor- age, who invited him to walk in. He ac- the language of the country. She was tune, however, more to poverty than the cepted the invitation, and at once made also much aided in her pursuit, by the want of affection, which he supposed was known the object of his visit. He had son of Mr. Jeffreys, whose qualifications lives to bless you! only overclouded in consequence of his heard of the wretchedness of the poor wo enabled him to be of great service to her. unsuccessful endeavors to acquire an easy man and her daughter. He had come to But a few months had passed, before she competency, he suffered it in silence: afford them relief. His first request was, found herself prepared to speak the lan-But, to be thus saluted by a wife he sin- that the mother should allow him to take guage fluently; and the pleasure she decerely loved, and at such a time too, was her daughter, Mary, and call her his own rived from conversing with young Jefcalculated to produce in his mind most child. His next was, that she should freys, and others with whom she became herself accompany them to his residence acquainted, tended greatly to relieve her in Hartford, and consider herself at home mind from the depression she frequently in his family during the remaining years experienced, in reflecting on the distance which separated her from her home and

About two years had elapsed since her sion that all would not prove right. They arrival in France, when Mary received a reached Hartford just at sunset. . The letter from her mother, earnestly desirand a secret joy stole through her heart at and with dejected countenance, came to-Poverty! poverty! respond- witnessing with how much pleasure her ward her and addressing her in broken ed Julia, with a contemptuous look; we daughter relished this, to her, novel mode French, humbly begged a morsel of bread to save himself from starvation.the spirit of a man, there would be some . This is my house, said the old gentle. Her heart was open to the petition, and reason to hope that the time might come, man, as he reigned his horse up to a mag. His request was at of ce granted. Observing him to be an Englishman, and anx so unexpected a meeting-with intelliions to learn what missorune could have and many a storm, which has nearly permit. With that night came more happiness proved my entire destruction, have I ento Heaven that the scenes, not only of to- condition: 'Oh, how happy should we were in my power to heal the wound them a comfortable and affluent support rely on the colleges, and academies for day, but of the last two years of my life, be, mother, said she, if my dear father that I, a long-time ago, inflicted in the while living. were a dream! Widowhood were pre- were here! Would be not come, mos heart of her whom I solemnly swore to Mary's invitation to young Jeffreys was is to be observed here, that the colleges ther, if he knew we lived in so pretty a protect, defend, and support, before all accepted. His visit was one of unusual themselves have furnished, and will con-Julia stopped suddenly -- for on casting place? I am sure he would. Can you others! But the deep, dark gulf of death interest to him, and not less to her, whose tinue to furnish directly a large number for ever separates us! Poor girl, she hand he came to solicit. They were of teachers of common schools. Indeed in Mrs. Lee could not repress her tears. sunk in sorrow to the grave, with no one united: and blessings ceased not to attend N. England, the colleges are supposed to had taken his hat and overcoat, and left Do not you know, my daughter, that to soothe the aching heart-hastened to them. They avoided THE PERILS OF the house precipitately, with a determi- your father is dead? We can never see her end, it may be, by the very want of Passion, by attending to the voice of wis- furnish a vast majority of the teachers of the necessaries of life to sustain her! dom, whose ways, in the beautiful lan- common schools. The cause and process The night was an unhappy one to Julia; But we will be happy now, mother. I And her sweet infant, too, must have guage of Scripture, are ways of pleas are plain. There are a great many young for it required but little reflection to con- am sure I would not weep-for you have followed her!-a daughter, who would santness, and whose paths are peace. life! Oh the danger—the fatal results FROM THE KEYSTONE. of passion! She reproached me for my apology for hastily abandoning her, as he The little girl was correct in the belief poverty -- she carnestly affirmed she How shall Pennsylvania ob vote their vacations, and a small part of tain Teachers for her Com-wounded pride, jealous, and filled with attached to each other, and Mr. Harwood purposely refused myself time for reflection, before embarking for a distant land, me! Nay, I took especial pains to cree great mass of the people. These lew The process has produced thousands of to my existence. But a few months af the community have gradually but effect whom have risen by this course to emiter having determined to return to her fually awakened the public mind, and im- nence and usefulness, and to seats in the -- I heard incidentally that she had died bued it with the same feeling. Within councils of their country. They pass under that awful impression! The cir- the last few years a system of common through the common schools to more acconvinced I could not be mistaken. I have been made for the payment of teach-teachers, if ever supplied. then dared not return; and sought to basers, and for the erection of school houses.

constantly searching for new objects to interest and absorb my attention. I have the principle of calling forth a correspon- liberal support to her colleges and acadetravelled the world over; but life itself ding sum from the community by volunhas been constantly a burden to me. I tary assessment upon its members. By They are mutually and equally necessary Henry Lee was dead; and his death, ac- narrowly watched the disposition and in- have lost all hope of ever bettering my these legislative enactments the necessary to each other. Unless the colleges and companied with the supposed circumstan. clination of his daughter: He saw with condition. Lam indeed far more mis- funds are provided. And there is a prosces attending it, was announced in the peculiar pleasure her love of knowledge, grable than even my appearance indi pect that the necessary school houses will ford facilities for liberal education equal and witnessed her extreme anxiety to be- cates. No, lady. I flee from the pursuit also be provided. Our youthful popula- to those of our sister states, our enterpri-Time passed on. Julia, for several come mistress of her favorite study. He of no living being; for no punishment tion, which ought to be brought into the expect never to return to it. From what part of America are you?

in his history. The town of -, in the state of Connecticut. My father was a poor man; of common schools should direct their at- cannot find employment in the common and my wife, who before our marriage, tention. was usually designated as the 'accomplished Julia, died before she attained he age of maturity.

'And your name is'-

'Henry Lee.' 'My father! my father!' she exclaimself into his arms, when he rose

'What, Julia -- my wife? still lives !her. I deserve no favor from her; but at all in this country. Hence schools ex- years, of Mr. James Rogers, of Boxton. she knows I was not alone to blame- pressly for teachers cannot be relied upon Me, were burned to death during the aband she will forgive me-yes, she will for a proper supply. The experiments sence of their mother, a few days since. forgive me!

ceived a letter from my mother desiring this way, and derive but little benefit. me to embark for home immediately. The poor man was nearly overcome a gence at once so gratifying, and the prospect, of being again, united to the bosom companion of his early days.

No time was now lost. The next

"I need not describe the meeting of the mon Schools.

300,000, and is annually increasing - their leisure time and talents to teaching Now if we assign forty pupils to each the common schools of other commonteacher, the number of teachers he cessary wealths. This is now the case to an exto supply these schools will be 7,500. It tent beyond all supposition. On the other seems then that all that is necessary to hand, if our colleges and academies are bring our entire youthful population un- in good condition, and our common-school she continued, more and more interested der instruction, is a suitable supply of system not in successful operation; these well qualified teachers. This is the im- enterprising young men of our own state shown that this is of difficult accomplish other states where the common schools ment. Three plans have been proposed will enable them to support themselves. and applied. In Europe Normal schools, To all this may be added: the success of or schools for teachers have been relied common schools will fill the academies: d. behold your own daughter before on. But they have not been as success- the success of the academies will fill the We pass over a few years in the life of Arrangements being completed. Mary jou! I am not deceived—it is my fa-ful as was to have been expected, except colleges: the success of the colleges, as I ther!'

the She was on the point of throwing her-succeeded in France. Their success in schools with teachers, which, coming from promised, when troubles and sorrow, and the messenger safely in the arms of her mother. Her skild! Can it has no still the skild! Can it has no skild of death often seemed about to deliver her of the last summons.

The death often seemed about to deliver her of the last summons.

We turn to a more pleasant part of the serious difficulties. She was kindly respectively.

Tell me—how came you here? What her advantage, the serious difficulties and the same has another advantage. It was in the year 17—, when occived by Mr. Jeffreys, who had been appointed in the proposed in the serious difficulties. The was in the year 17—, when occived by Mr. Jeffreys, who had been appointed in the proposed in the possible that you live to witness the sorrow and unisery of your witness the sorrow and u breeze of fortune hath borne you onward ernment from this source. Employment sired by manual labor schools, i. c. enato so favorable a condition? Oh, my is scarce. Hence the certain remunerations the student to support himself. Beto life again. he exclaimed, weeping who become togethers, though small, yet plan cannot do: i. e. while the studen: is sufficient to enlist the proper number Btay, fathen! she lives! she lives! of individuals. Now as these conditions school, and thus carries forward the great cried Mary. My own dear mother still do not exist in France, or in other parts plan of universal education. of Europe, schools for teachers are com-Gracious Heaven! may I dare to meet paratively unproductive. The necessary Burned to Death, Two children, her! Oh lead me-yes-lead me before conditions to insure suggess scarcely exist the elder four, and the younger two Ch, I bless the fortune that has brot state pay the expense of educating a young their children alone never take warning. us together!' said Mary. 'Compose man for a teacher, when he has obtained Had these fair innocents been properly yourself, my father -- and you shall soon his education, the state has no means of dressed in flannel and worsted garments, know-all. Mother still resides in Con enforcing its just expectation of his ger- their clothes could not have taken fire. necticut. We were wretchedly poor and needy; but a good old gentleman, by the vices. Other employments are more a and this sad accident could not have ocname of Harwood, came one day and greeable and more productive than teach- curred. The beggarly pride of bedecktook us to his home in Hartford, where ing school, and the young man feels him- ing children in gaudy calico has caused she is invited to remain so long as he self competent to enter into them. He the loss of numerous lives. Again we lives. It is by his kindness and genero- therefore either declines teaching, or tea- say, mothers, be advised, and take warnsity also that I am here pursuing my ches but a short time after his education ing --- New York Erd studies. I was preparing to return- is accomplished. It appears therefore. having the moment you accosted me, re- that the state may expend much moneyin organized in colleges and academics in chief containing Spanish adollars, the which young men shall receive the suita- whole amounting to six or seven thousble instruction as teachers of common and dollars, was found by two boys on schools, while they are accomplishing their Thursday afternoon, in Pierfont's Hill, own education. This plan has two ad Brooklyn .- New York Gazette, packet that sailed took the father and vantages over the first plan. It will endaughter to the shores of their own na. list a greater number of young men. Betive country and home. And here let cause, while they are preparing to teach, sin has committed the disgusting trousme remark, that on leaving, Mary failed they are accomplishing their own educative of levying six hundred of the fairest I am what the world may well call a not to give young Jeffreys a most press- tion. And it affords them an opportunity women among the Polish peasantry, operation. To these advantages perhaps in the military, forms at Wozessensk. it even now threatens to drive me mad! to the bosom of Mrs Lee; than she had countered. I have sought rest in various long separated hasband and wife. Sufmer ally engage in instructing the lower class vaint they might occasion. The women may be added, that they might occasion. The women may be added the may be added. The women may be added the may be adde age of one year dependent upon us for pose-and her pillow was no longer a I despair of ever realizing it until the the wrong-each begged most earnestly edge of teaching. It must, however, be aided their attempts to escape, were protection—for life! And shall we suffer pillow of straw. But for the unpleasant past shall be irrevocably buried in ob- to be forgiven by the other. The day was one of mutual congratulation and joy; attended with some difficulties. Rew Ledger ed forever, by our own folly-nay, crimes! happy indeed. But the past could not be 'It cannot be that your character is and that night were their hearts unitedly young men have sufficient falent and ail-Julia, it cannot be. Talk of poverty! blotted from her mind. Her reflections, stained by crimic and that you are flee raised to God in humble and sincere dress to be at the same time a student in Mississippi. News has reached this but for met long since would you have however, were those of a repentant heart, ing from the hand of justice! exclaimed prayer for the pardon of all their mis- the school, & a teacher in the same school, city of the meeting of the Legislature and most devoutly and sincerely did she Mary in surprise. If so, we have no decids--for His protection against the Honce this plan, though more successful of Mississippi; and (what we were no Say what you will, Henry, you are the pray to be pardoned for the faults which protections for you here. Explain your unhappy consequences of gaston and than the first, is not by any means adequate prepared to hear of) a Whig majority in cause of all my unhappiness, continued had already brought upon her so much self, said she, for we shall be obliged to for His constant guidance and blessing, to produce a sallicient number of teachers, both branches of the Legislature and a self, and blessing. Julia, covering her lace; and were I free wretchedness. She felt a secret assurance call the police.

In less than one year from that time, to prouge a summer from you, with my own hands would I that she was forgiven. She was awoke in Tam guilty of a great offence, re- Mr. Harwood and his aged companion. At third plan has been relied on with has was forgiven. She was awoke in Tam guilty of a great offence, re- Mr. Harwood and his aged companion. At third plan has been relied on with has was forgiven. She was awoke in Tam guilty of a great offence, re- Mr. Harwood and his aged companion. At third plan has been relied on with has was forgiven. She was awoke in Tam guilty of a great offence, re- Mr. Harwood and his aged companion.

teachers for common schools. But it men who have talents and enterprise, but want money, and perhaps friends. They seek their education in the colleges, which they attend during the sessions, and dethe sessions to teaching school, by which they obtain funds to pay their way at For how many years the intelligent, pub- college during the sessions. Sometimes He spirited and patriotic cifizens of Penn-they intermit a session, and devote them-

It remains now to show that Pennsyl-These appropriations are wisely based on vania ought to extend the same steady and mies, as she does to her common schools. academies are in good condition, and afsing young men will go abroad, and obtain common schools, amounts to at least their education in other states, and devote portant point towards which the friends will not enter our colleges because they schools to enable them to meet their col-Experience in Europe and America has lege expences. Hence they will go into supports himself he instructs the common which have been made show this. If the Will parents who are compelled to leave

- Specie Found .- A tin box, very much decayed, containing several hun-A second plan is to have departments dred severeigns, and a silk handker-

Bansanovš.—The Emperor of Rus-

want of interest in all that renderallife ments of the foom, and the happy con- most disturb me, and what I would most immense estate; subject only to an annu- ced by reaction a great extension and firm these gentlemen, being decided Whig.