

For a variety of reasons, which it is not necessary now to enumerate, we have delayed the publication of this week's paper until to-day.

I would not give a cent for the Judge of an election who would not admit to vote all his own party whose right is doubtful.

This is the doctrine and these the words which were promulgated a few days since by a Loco-foco LAWYER of our Borough, on the public square and in the presence of several citizens.

We have been taught to believe that every man is bound to adduce satisfactory evidence that he is a qualified elector, or he cannot be permitted to exercise the right of suffrage.

The editors of the Volunteer have yielded up their column to Wm. S. Ramsey for the purpose of allowing him, under the editorial head, to praise himself and utter the venomous outpourings of his feelings against his opponent for Congress, Fred'k. Wats, Esq.

Mr. Ramsey starts with the assertion that he will throw his "gloves off," and go to work at Mr. Wats' character.

That Mr. Wats, in his legal capacity, should be attacked by William S. Ramsey is not strange.

The recollection of the trial of Henderson against Lambert was fresh in the mind of this young man when he wrote his libelistic article.

We would ask why Mr. Ramsey speaks of Mr. Wats as not possessing the requisites of a gentleman or scholar?

We would direct the attention of the reader to an address on our fourth page, signed by distinguished citizens of both political parties.

COMMUNICATIONS.

For the Herald & Expositor.

Mr. Phillips—Three weeks have now elapsed since the appearance of my former communication, alleging that five-sixths of the democrats of the borough were opposed to the nomination of John Corman as commissioner.

But there is another matter connected with this subject, with which I was not acquainted when I wrote my former communication, and which should arouse the indignation of every honest man against the base perpetrators of the act.

We have here exhibited before us a beautiful and striking specimen of the tricks and stratagems of the editor of the Volunteer and his little clique, to keep on the back ground those who will not sanction all their schemes of personal aggrandizement, and to push forward those who are connected with them by ties of interest and office.

There are some members of the party, who urge us to oppose Corman, but it is not enough for the clique, the Messrs. Lambert, M'Ginnis, Fowler, Squier, M'Carthy, and Bell, should be deputed also to make room for John Corman as commissioner.

After waiting nearly two hours for the tardy demagogue to gather, the meeting was organized, and the speaker took the floor. He began by announcing the ticket formed at the county convocation.

After bathing in the spirit of '98, the orator came gliding down the life time with the spirit of democracy beaming from his face and burning on his tongue.

For the Herald & Expositor.

Mr. Norton—I have been a good deal amused in reading the eulogiums of your correspondents upon a number of the unique toasts drunk at the loco loco 4th of July and Harvest Home celebrations in this county during the present season.

Now, any old politician who was a reader of the Democratic Press in the memorable contest between Findlay and Helster in 1817, when John Binns was the great champion of the democratic party, will recollect the above (with two additional parts of sentences) to have been one of his declarations immediately after the receipt of the returns of the election from this county.

But even the intended amendment which the doctor has added to the sentiment of Binns, have only destroyed its purity, pungency, and symmetry.

Mr. Phillips—Last night, according to the usual notice, the Porter men held a meeting at Dimmitt's tavern on the rail road near his place.

You would naturally suppose that Mr. Ramsey scanned all the minutiae and doings of the party from the year '98 down to the present time but verily he seemed to know his part too well to attempt it.

After bathing in the spirit of '98, the orator came gliding down the life time with the spirit of democracy beaming from his face and burning on his tongue.

Certainly the captain did not see the absurdity of his declaration, or he would not have made it.

The speech came off without eliciting a single manifestation of applause.

The audience were either destitute of zeal in the cause, or else varied into silence by the over-prowd eloquence of the speaker!

Mr. Phillips—You have probably heard of this time of the result of yesterday's election in this borough.

Mr. Phillips—Last night, according to the usual notice, the Porter men held a meeting at Dimmitt's tavern on the rail road near his place.

You would naturally suppose that Mr. Ramsey scanned all the minutiae and doings of the party from the year '98 down to the present time but verily he seemed to know his part too well to attempt it.

After bathing in the spirit of '98, the orator came gliding down the life time with the spirit of democracy beaming from his face and burning on his tongue.

GLORIOUS VICTORIES. The Friends of Ritner Every Where Triumphant.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE CUMBERLAND.

In Allen township, the friends of Ritner carried their Inspector by a majority of 13.

In North Middletown, one of the Van Buren strongholds, our friends made no opposition to the Porter men, but let them manage their affairs in their own way.

Mr. Editor—Please thank Lawyer Hepburn of your place in behalf of the Ritner men of Monroe for the very efficient service which he rendered us in this township by the celebrated speech which he delivered at the Porter meeting held in Churchtown a short time since.

Mr. Editor—Please thank Lawyer Hepburn of your place in behalf of the Ritner men of Monroe for the very efficient service which he rendered us in this township by the celebrated speech which he delivered at the Porter meeting held in Churchtown a short time since.

Mr. Editor—Please thank Lawyer Hepburn of your place in behalf of the Ritner men of Monroe for the very efficient service which he rendered us in this township by the celebrated speech which he delivered at the Porter meeting held in Churchtown a short time since.

BERKS. Make way for Berks. She presents a bold front.

BUCKS. The news from this county is favorable.

CHESTER. In this county the friends of Special Payments carried 25 Inspectors.

DAUPHIN. Dauphin did well. Our friends in that county elected 14 Inspectors.

DELAWARE. Little Delaware is herself again. The Whigs have carried nine townships.

ONE HUNDRED CHEERS FOR HUNTINGDON. Porter totally routed and gloriously defeated.

AT HOME!!! Below I send you the result of the Inspector's election in a number of our townships.

PHILADELPHIA. In the county of Philadelphia our friends have exceeded their most sanguine expectations.

LANCASTER. The friends of Ritner carried every Township in this county but seven.

LEHIGH. We have carried a majority in the townships of this county, and a friend writes—Lehigh will certainly give a very handsome majority for Governor Ritner.

Make Way for Washington County.

RITNER FULLY TRIUMPHANT AT HOME. From a Postscript in the Washington Reporter, Sept 29th.

In Washington Borough, as usual. Canon—Anti 72, Porter 81. Cecil—No Porter opposition—too weak.

BUCKS. The news from this county is favorable.

PHILADELPHIA. In the county of Philadelphia our friends have exceeded their most sanguine expectations.

LANCASTER. The friends of Ritner carried every Township in this county but seven.

LEHIGH. We have carried a majority in the townships of this county, and a friend writes—Lehigh will certainly give a very handsome majority for Governor Ritner.

NOTICE. BIRING resident to remove to my own house, my present residence will be offered for rent until the 1st day of April next.