a la companya ang ang ang ang ang ang ang ang ang an		an a			And the second and the second					and the second strange of the second and the second		le Herald an		in the second And a set of the set o
the main provide provide a department of the					🛃 🐟 i shi ta sa shi ka 🖓 shi shekar ta 👘 t
17、1、1943、194、14、612、1449341,2210-17	$\sum_{i=1}^{n} \sum_{j=1}^{n} \sum_{i=1}^{n} \sum_{i=1}^{n} \sum_{i=1}^{n} \sum_{i=1}^{n} \sum_{i$		and the second	He makes have been a to a property and the	ne har and the set of the second set of the second s
the start purchase of a constraint the same		the second s	ter en la construction de la constru
	A FAMILY NEWSPAPER	DEVOTED TO NEWS, POLITICS, LITERATURE, THE ART	S AND SCIENCES, AGRICULTU	JRE, AMUSEMENT, &C. &C.	a a na ana ana a barrana a bar Barrana a barrana a b
R HI PRINT AND					to all the second results of persons of a
and the second	e a des sources en	inted and Published, Weekly, by George M. Phillips, in C	Carlisle, Cumberland County,	Pa	n kan de yaar ta dika ang bijita di kana da Tana Tanka na kana da kana di kana da Volumb XIII. No. 23. Wednesday Moening, Mabor 18, 1389.
TERMS.			y tentions to Sarah, so much as his suspicions of m	to the letter-box of the neighboring post-office. When to Mrs. Harris received it, knowing well the source	judge goes with me to help me bear the barden o
The "Carlisle Herald & Expositor," will be issued EEKLY, at Two DOLLARS per annum, if paid in =	POETRY.	dearest consolution of my life ! It is I who ought to her home.	e could never have doubted me."	whence it came, she went immediately to airs, Educi-	"Mr. Roberts, this will not do." She took an ture of Tyler from her belt, and pointing to it, ance, $2,50 at the end of six months, and $3,00 if	"SHE WORE A-WREATH OF ROSES."	of service to her; and shall I make her pay so dearly day, when they were conversing on the subject, "that	"Well, my dear, if clouds are about you, you kno	w waite, and commenced in her usual way: "	"Though I might blush to own it, my heart is and antil after the expiration of the year.	A. RALLAU. She-wore a wreath of roses,	for what has been my own gratification, as to force her you would have a better opportunity of really testing to give her hand to me when her heart is another's ? the attachment of Doreas by going away from hom	e know where to seek light amid your darkness."	ter."	there. I am sorry that any thing from me has enters addressed to the editor, on business, MUST	The night that first we met,	Perish the thought ! and if I cannot have the joy of, for a short time, and leaving her entirely unrestrain	- "And I will seek that light," said Doreas, gratefu	1- The poor woman, well aware what was coming, sat trembling in her chair, and simply faltered out,	On this vessel you address me not at all, or only
POST PAID, otherwise they will receive no at-	Her lovely face was smiling, Beneath her curls of jet ;	possessing her, give me at least the consciousness of ed. Ardently is I desire your union, I cannot con having nobly resigned her."	o lone to remind me whence our help cometh."	"Well, sister ?"	passing acquaintance."
ion	Iler footsteps had a lightness,	Dorcas, with a heavy heart, entered her aunt's then you make a short trip to the continent	o "Know, who sent them !" said Mrs. Harris scorr	n secret of your's well-100 well, 1 lear, for my elernat	with them, but not of them, Tyler came to his AGENTS.	Her voice the joyous tone, The tokens of a youthful heart	chamber; and throwing herself into her arms, poured Paris, and in the meantime Roberts can develope hi out to her the source of her grief.		"I happiness; for you know, as the mine says, the parta-	"What if I have been unjust ?" said he, after re- ing-one night from a crowded saloon. The nts for the "Carlisle Herald & Expositor," to	Where sorrow is unknown ;	"My dear daughter," said Mrs. Harris, "it is our own inclinations. I know you desire to act honora	Seated by a writing desk, in one of the splendid ho		dawn saw him on his way to Bellevue.
m payment for subscription and advertisement	I saw her but a moment;	duty to take meekly the chastennings of our Heavenly bly." Futher." "You are right, aunt; and the sooner I follow you	tels in Paris, Tyler was inditing a letter to his ann Soon," mused he, easting his pen on the table	fainting, and handing her the camphor bottle, said,	His aunt met um at the door.
SHELLY, Esq. Shiremanstown, Cumb. Co.	Yet methinks I see her now, With a wrenth of summer flowers,	-"I - know-it, my dcaremether, but my heart will advice the better. I can endure any thing but this sus	Wwill my fits be desided - Debouts will take advan	Come, come; it is not time to faild, yet Do you	"Where is Doreas ?" said he, hurriedly. "Gone !"
COTT. COTLE, Esq. Newville do . Koontz, Esq. Newburgh do	Upon a snowy brow.	rebel. Tyler has been my all in all. I have loved pense, and will, start to-morrow." him too well for my spiritual good, and it is but just "Doreas," said Mrs. Harris, when they were hold-	tage of my absence to offer her his hand, and she shal not know the struggle it costs me to give her up."	Uncar meaven. 110.	"And Roberts ?" ."Gone toowith her !" She intimated they
Hos. W. HIMES, Esq. Shippensburg do	A wreath of orange blossom	that I should be punished with the frowns of my idol. ing their nightly consultation a little before bed-time.	Resuming his pen, he wrote that Paris was the most	at "Well, listen to me, Mrs. Ethelwaite. I hat boy	cloped.
MATEER, Esq. Idguestown do	When next we met she were: The expression of her features was	Yet oh !! that some milder instrument of punishment "I am grieved to tell you, but have you not observed	delightful place in the world; that he was enjoying himself highly, and that he need not be expected how	my Martha, and he as much as promised me he would.	Tyler went to his room with a stricken heart.
WILSON, Esq. Mechanicsburg, do	More thoughtful than before ;	had been mercifully adopted." Tyler to be unusually gloomy since Sarah's depar- "Be patient, my dear," said Mrs. Harris encou-		. He went to India, and there fell in love with that vi-	threw himself on the bed ; and shortly after, an woman, a house servant, brought a letter, saying JILLIAM RUNSHA, Esq. Hopewell. do	And standing by her side was one	ragingly ; "it is but the infirmity of men-to-be jen- "I have."	hannel to be main in lough to Mautha Damas and hi	a fut he built not marry her - I breat to - and - you are-	Dorens had left it. With a trembling hand he to
T. ASA WHITE, New Cumberland do	Who strove and not in vain, To sooth her, leaving that dear home,	lous. His suspicions will soon die away of them, "You will be less surprised then when I tell you that selves, and then you will again be happy." to morrow he leaves for Paris, and Litrongly suspect,	mother. The letter he enclosed in a blank envelope	to help me prevent him." "But, sister, he is going to marry Sarah Roberts."	open, and read- "I have not a word of reproach. Flove you too
Ros. BLACK, Esq. Bloomfield, Perry county. BLACK, Esq. Landisburg do	She ne'er might see again.	" Ma'am ?"	and the day after the conversation of Dorcas and he aunt, it arrived at Bellevue.	"It's a lie! and it's all my doings. I estranged him	to embitter one drop in your cup of joy Be h
DLACK, ESIL LAURISOUR	. I saw her but a moment, . Yet methinks I see her-now,	"Do not take it to heart: it is only a passing whim. "I am by my fears prepared for the worst, as I am He feels hurt, it is true, because he thinks you mani- by your counsel and by heavenly assistance fortified to	Mrs. Harris, herself, read it to Dorcas; admittee	from Doreas-I sent him to France-I started the re- port-I shall soon say he is already married, and at	with your bride ; and sometimes, when far selar from you by the waste of waters, cast a thought o
GARLEGANT'S	With a wreath of orange blossoms	fest a partiality for Roberts ; but helieve me, my dear, bear it. There are but a few-dregs remaining in my	the clause in relation to a certain event to be "coufir mation strong as proofs of holy writ;" and wound up	your peril you are not to deny it-nay, you are to af-	DORCA
ALSAM OF HEALTH.	Upon a snowy brow.	the feelings will be but transient. In the meantime cup of bitterness, and these I am prepared to drink," it perhaps might be as well to be a little less pointed "Bid him furewell affectionately; and I cannot ad-	her torture by commending her " dear, forsaken daugh		Stupified at first, and then frenzied, he rushed -the letter to his mother, and in an unguarded mon
pared only by JOHN S. MILLER, at his Drug re, opposite the Market House, Frederick, Md.	And once again I see that brow, No bridal wreath is there,	in your manner, towards Roberts. You know we vise you to hint a word to him about the past, present,	ter" to the favor and protection of the Almighty; vow- ing if she was not to see Tyler before the certain	W Warm well Falling and a Hall south the	drew from her the foul conspiracy.
HIS valuable Medicine has already acquired a selebrity to which few others perhaps in so short	The widows sombre cap concerds	are commanded to feel for each other's infirmities." of future." The words of Mrs. Harris drove away every tear "Mother ! I am a woman-and trustme, not wanting	event, she would not see him after it-for he should	She cast on her a scowl of the blackest malignity;	Snatching her by the arm, he dragged her-te aunt, whom he also seized in the same manner, he ever arrived, and its extensive use for 4 or 5	Her once luxuriant hair;	from the eye of Dor cas, who, rising in her own simple in a woman's pride."	never cross her threshold as the husband of Sarah	and seemed about turning away. Mrs. Ethelwaite imploringly raised her hand.	thus confronted the guilty pair.
York, Lentucky, Missouri, South Carolina, Al-	And there is no one near	native dignity, sail: "I do know it, aunt; but I can "I can trust you-iny-dear; but it is lateshall we not help Tyler to bear a burden that implicates my not to bed?"	Her aim, her horrid aim, was to drive Doreas to	- "Your hand is up. Swear by it then, as you hope	"Speak !! shouted he ; "confess! or rather s a Georgia, and New Orleans, which has attend- with unparalled success.	To press her hand within his gwn, And wipe away a tear;	wh honor. Walter Roberts has entitled himself to "Yes, but I fear not to sleep-good night," and	the commission of suicide !- She had never an idea of that mental and moral greatness, that borrows vigor		for yall, you foul hypocritu !"
ndreds of persons have used it, and, nine out of uses have been permanently cured of Dyspepsing	I see her broken-hearted is	ny esteem, and I have but treated him as he deserves kissing her, she left the room. o be treated. If Tyler is offended that I reciprocate "Not to sleep ! no ! but it will not be long before I"	from being frampled on, and distils energy from de-	"Well, then, have done with your folly. Your se-	Mrs. Harris condensed her features into a with expression of hatred, and rejoined-is, note been permanently careful of Spirits, Pal- ies, Nervous Tremors, Lowness of Spirits, Pal- ons of the heart, and all those train of Discases	Yet methinks I see her now;	he attention and courtesy of your visiters, I must shall sleep and that soundly. Revenge they say is a	on the day following, Roberts, trembling with auxie-	cret-is yet with me-how long, depends upon your- self; and so saving, she went in search of Dorcas.	"Your mother? do you call that thing your moth ing from a disordered condition of the stomach very or derangement of the Digestive functions.	11 10 1 - 1 - 1 2	aubmit to lie under his displeasure though it he my sweet pillow for the soul to rest upon, and I'll have morest trial, next to the frowns of my Maker. Itrust, it !"	ty, called upon Dorcas. Heartless libertine as he was,	"My dear girl, I did not think to be, so soon, the	"Yes! and you are a woman, or you should taught how to speak of her. as General debility or weakness, Flatulency,		hough called upon to endure those of the one, I shall Not long after this, Sarah wrote to her brother that	he had felt how powerful is the holy allignee between virtue and beauty. He had been accustomed to look	are married-the heartless ingrate! Here is the scal	"And who was your father?" Mrs. Ethelwaite burst out in a wild, pier
tomach, Costiveness, Headaches; Jaundice, Fla-	SELECT TALE.	tot be visited with those of the other; and though she had been very agreeable surprised by Tyler's ar- ny heart be wring by the reproaches of its best be- rival in Paris; that be had been devotedly attentive to	upon the sex as decorated wax-dolls, made solely for	of his perfidy;" and she read the letter.	scream, and fell-dangling from the unrelaxed, arn and Bilious Colies, &e. &. Adults and Children who are troubled with	From the Southern Literary Messenger.	oved, it will still be enlivened with the peace of con- her, and that she had every reason to expect daily an	the convenience of man, and subject to his caprice	Doreas received its contents with a dumb, lifeless grief, as if the fountnin of her soul was already frozen.	Tyler, "Ally fother died hefere I vieg house but whe
ns, it will operate as a safe and thorough ver-	DORCAS-LINDSAY:	cience." offer of fits hand. Roberts, overjoyed, communicated "I leave you, dear Doreas, to your own medita- the intelligence to Mrs. Harris, who mused upon it	brought under iufluences to which he had ever before	Both sat in silence, till Mrs. Harris said, "Dorcas, he	"My father died before I was born; but what to you?"
ci saiciv, without any change or hann or ther. (Or, the Bachelor's Writing Desk.	ions. Look to Ilim who is the strength of the weak, for sometime and inqured,	scorned at the idea of being subjected : but the same soulless hypocrisy—the same unscrupulousness as to	i i onitit i i oute not nation jou to jour mittin with	"He might have been your father, but he never her husband ! But listen to me, Tyler Ethelwaite.
as a cure, all but the proprietor recommends	(Concluded.)	nd the helper of the helpless." "What then is to liveome of Doreas ?" "As Mrs. Harris closed the door behind her, she	means, was still identified with his existence.	yours. Consult your dignity, and if another induce-	Tyler did listen till she cast the foul blot on-high can be substantiated by the testimony of .	Irs. Harris saw the state of his mind, and was ra-	lasped her hands together, and exclaimed in a low that you and she would permit me to supply his place!	He found Dorcas buried in thought by the parlor fire As he approached, she rose, and extending him		birth; and then the thought flashing on him that it, reds of persons, that have experienced its good great	it mind may thoroughly comprehend a little one	oice, though from the bottom of her heart especially since my own sister has captivated her	her hand, endeavored to veil her emotions under the		been involved in mystery, he ficreely cleached 1 his hands round her throat, and flinging lier with une blown on the glass thus, Garlegant's Bai-1	a little mind can never understand a great one.	" Good !!" " And has it come to this ?" sighed Dorens hitterly, Mrs. Harris looked at him steadingly a moment	semblance of cordinlity. Now and then a faint smile would wander over her features, but it so beingt her		his might against the wainscotting, rushed from
of Health, prepared only by John S. Miller, and stars grature on a label, gasted on the outside wran-	y-day characters we meet with ; but Dorcas Ad-	she cast herself on the bed. "Slighted, despised, and replied, "Mr. Roberts, I have noticed Darcas and	heart that she could with difficulty restrain it from be-	spirited !"	house in a raging madness, and role in a frenzy wards London.
f each Bottle, which completely secures it from clina	ar, was as far above these, as the heavens are higher	is frowns-abut his suspicions 122 and have the non-satisfied that they were not intended for each other	ing followed by a gush of tears. They, for a while, conversed familiarly on their usual topics; but Roberts	"My own life is of no consequence. I have another way of ending my griefs than that. Marry him ! mar-	When Mrs. Harris recovered from her stunn
, and by the quantity at a liberal discount of ever	y petty jealousy as the east is from the west, and [1	in wept as it wer heart would break.	endeavored, step by step, to bring the conversation	ry any body ! no body but death !"	ng where she had fallen when Tyler released v proprietor and of all his agents, which are nam- she c	could not possibly have been aroused to discover	Mrs Harris had rightly conjectured. Doreas was really, Mr. Roberts, between ourselves, (we under proud, high-souled girl, and supposed others as free stand each other ?) I am not sorry that he has thought	nearer home, until he made her an open avowal of his love and an unnualified offer of his haud.	Mrs. Harris thought a moment-is perhaps she. f

I will see her myself; convince her that she has noth lieved me so unworthy his regard;" and with this was but one among the many. She had learned in the ing to hope from Tyler, and in two days from no thought she rang the bell, and sent for her aut to you may call upon her yourself." ome to her immediately. from her chair, she said, with an ice-like calmness-There is an old story of two sharpers who met, and She was in tears when Mrs. Harris entered the "Mr. Roberts, we have met too often. I admire room, but drying them, she aaid, " Mother, do you by appearing each to each the most simple hearted you as a man, and esteem you as a friend, but we meet of beings, cheated each other out of five hundred dolthink if Tyler had loved me as he ought, he would not again;" and when he awoke from the trance into lars apices. Somewhat after the same sort was the have acted so towards me ?" " My child," said Mrs. Harris, " do notask me ?" game now to be played by Mrs. Harris and Roberts alone Each had to affect the utmost disinterestedness and It may seem unnatural that Dorcas, during all this "But are you not my only adviser ?" simplicity, and each put every art in play to make "I know I am, my dear, and this alone forces me time, had fallen so unwarily into the snares that were tool of the other. We shall see how they succeeded confess that as much as my heart hasbeen set upon spread for her. But it must be remembered that she Soon after the departure of Roberts, Martha came your union with him, yet I have been forced to enterinto the room and walked listlessly up to the glass, ain fears when I have observed his very apparent with the ostensible design of arranging her_ringlets; ble of the dissipations of East-Indian society, had kept have reserved herself for this_Let her kill herself in a distant land, where her father and mother, sensipartiality for Surah Roberts, 1 have loved him from her scoluded from it, lest she might yield to its en- of she will, and then I shall be revenged on her soul his cradle ; but though he were in truth my own son, chantment. And here, we may observe, is one great too, if she has one. But if she is alive to-morrow charitably suppose that there was some person in the class whom she felt inclined to call upon. She took error of parents Fearing lest their children may one finger and lightly, very lightly, touching here and become victims to the world, instead of giving them "Say not so, dear aunt; he has known me under here a curl, said, while thus engaged, to her mother, en your marriage with Doreas. She is a dear, good peculiar circumstances, when his sympathies were an early knowledge of its temptations, and at the same "What did Mr. Roberts want, mother ? Didn't he time instructing them by example and precept how to nsk to see me ? As soon as I saw him coming, I took avoid them, they impure them in ignorant solitaide, the papers out of my hair and dressed myself, and believing that the mechanical principles here acquired, for me. But why should I hope that he is the same now? The circumstances that gave birth to his waited for him to send for me; but when I saw he will avail them when removed from their own infludidn't, I thought I would come down any how, and natural that his feelings should have been buried ence. Hence they have no trials of faith to work out see what you were talking about. But he has gone, nationce : no gifts of nationce to work out experience; see what you were unking notice I and the most of the particle should prevent in me a desire to interfere with his thught them discretion: they have no knowledge of think he might." happiness. I will write to him and tell him so." "He came over, my dear, to tell me that Tyler and human nature to guard them against its deceits: their " You had better not be too hasty," said Mrs: Haiwhole minority has been passed in the nursery, and Sarah are going to be married. ris, affectionately. "We may be wrong, though I "Why, mother, I thought you said I'might have when they leave its walls, their minds are the same ulettered, blank sheet, as when their eves first onen Tyler ? and you may depend upon my faithfulness. Besides, "I used to tell you so to keep you quiet when you ed on the darkened light of Heaven. The result is, should you thus write to him, you would make yourthat where one such, by a happy combination of cirwere a little girl, but only then. Since the Lord openself-liable-to-misconstructions especially if your fears ed my eyes, I think it wrong for first cousins to marcumstances, is saved from destruction, thousands be come the slaves of the vicious, the victims of the vile; "But, mother, good people often marry their first or the dupes of the artful. Recovering from his stupor, Roberts exclain ousins, and I don't see why I can't have Tyler. He's andsome, mother." "Rejected ! "Meet not again "-But we do meet again "We should feel it our duty to set a better example and that speedily." As he uttered this, Mrs. Harris and then, may be, they will not do it any more. But who had been awaiting, feverishly, the termination of o and call Dorcas; she will feel more interested in their interview, entered the room: thing else. I will show my sense of your judgmen "Well," sald she, advancing towards him; "What said my pretty bird ! But what !- downcast ? deject he matter than you do, for you know she and Tyler vere to be married."

John S. Miller.—Dear Sir.—I do hereby certify, that I have been afflicted with Dyspepsin for the hast 4 or 5 years, which has been increasing on me ever since, to such a degree, that for 3 or 4 weeks previous to using your valuable Garlegant's Balsam of Health, 1 am certrin I have not caten one onnee a div ôf añy kind of diet, neither was I able to sleep with any kind of coinfort during this time, for a severe pain in my stomach, in fact I had given myself up as incu-rable, as I have had resource to so many different re-oncles without any kind of beneficit, I at length heard of your Balsam of Health, being advertised, I pur-chased a Bottle of your agent Win. Miller. in Win-chester, Va.—After taking, the three first doess I found my stomach to retain in some degree what I cat, and the pain in my stomach subsiding gradually, and after using one and a half bottles, I found my-self cutrely well, and have cat anything I have an inclination for, and sleep well at night. I was sur-prising to see the quantity of morbid matter I dis-charged from my stomach, which once inclined to believe was thick, with it, which up doubt rendered all die the with with it, which up doubt rendered and the milder with a which up doubt rendered all diet milder with it, which up doubt rendered all diet milder with its to doe of Werdenlaged

Given under my faud, this 1st day of December 836. JOSEPH SNAPP, Living near Winchester, Ya. 1836.

Cordificate of Nicholas, Weaver, This ito certify that I bought of your spent at Gettyshing; several bottles of your, valuable laisam of Health, which completely cured me of the Dys-pepsia. I had taken much of other patent Medi-ethes; but found no relief, until I made use of year Balasm of Health, which affected a radical cure; and do recommend is to all them. Who are tended Balaam of Health, which affected a tadical cure, and da recommend is to all these Who are troubled with that, obstinate disorder Drapejsia. N. WEAVER.

Gettysburg: Pa. Nov. 2, 1836.

Certificate from the Rev. D. F. Shaeffer, Pastor of Certificate from the feet. D. F. Sinteffer, Pastor of a the Ludevin Chirch. John Si Miller.—Denristr.—I deem it my duty to inform you that I consider Gurlegant's Balsam, of Health, prepared by you's superior-medicine. My wife has long been in a delicate state of health, and a of course no means, were left antried of which we for could hear, myself opposed to instrums and patent medicines.—I nevertheless conjectual to purchase a liquie of your Balsam of Health, find do herely ees-tify that Mes Shaleffer derived more benefic from the use of it han any other medicine. My opinion is that if a cure can be effected, as regards the disease you mention, your Balsam will, if used in the first stage of the disease... Fr.D, SILAEFFER. Frederick, Aug. 23, 1836 This Medicine has been used by many persons in on http://windicing.myself. he Latherdn Chirrh.

This Meilichie his been used by many persons in figure introduce in the been used by many persons in P. S. I used the Balam in my own family and ad-ministered it to some indigent persons and invaria-bly found it h most efficience vermilities. Exit Sale by Found if a most enterious vernifuge. For Sale by and SAMUEL ELLIOTT: Carlisle, December 25, 1858-17,

PURNHEE STORGIN TANK POR SALLIS

THAT well-known and first-rail property, called Month Holly Fron Horks, situated about six miles south east of Carlisle and the Cumberland Vulmices south-case of CAPItale and the Cumbertand, Val-ley Rail Road, having appurtenant about 8000 Aorea of Anc Linberland, and having created thereon a Fur-nace and Forge, 1, Smithshop, 2 Carpenters' shops, a WhiteHouse and Office 2 Manifoli houses of stone, a Back Borreand Schlida Article, Theorem Store to the a Whiteliouse and Office, 2 Manifolion houses of stone; a Back: Barn and Stahling, thirty-Tenoments for, wors keps, with a stream of water of great power, sufficient for an extensive Rolling Mill, or a National Foundry; and also several danks of Orelistics: 10.2001, d. 2001 a By the payment of a reasonable sum in hand; a Thy eral time will be given for the remainder of the pur-chase money. chase money. Mr. WILLIAM WEARLEY, residing near Kiddermin

UST received and for sale a quantity of Family UST received and for sale a quantity of Family UST received and for sale a quantity of Family involuntity an obedienes to fate. She loved me, be-cause slie avas grateful to me ; and shall Imake, her stantly on hand, and delivered to families in any part gratitude the plea of insisting on an alliance that is of the town by to feel her way. She soon found out where she could direct her exertions to the best advantage, and accordingly began with Tyler. She observed him one day when his countenance was sad, and having withdrawn with him, she sat for some time with her hands folded and her, eyes bent downwards. At last she said-

"Tyler, my dear son, do I live you ?" "Yes, my aunt; I can believe that you love me hough I doubt all the world besides."

" And, my dear boy, does the world contain any in vhom you have a right to trust, yet whom you are forced to doubt ?"-

"Aunt !" "Nay, Tyler, my own son, I cannot see grief workag its way through your heart without feeling a cor- I would cast him off for ever, should he prove himespondent emotion in my own. We need not talk self capable of such perfidy." in scerets. My dem boy, let me entrent you to has-girl, Tyler, and you may never meet with such ano- all alive, and these may have prompted his affection her, should you lose her." "Aunt, you have been to me a' mother, and in this have proved yourself more than a mother; but do feelings have been buried in the past, and it is but not be offended that I follow not your advice-I rejectit simply liceause there seems to be a necessity for itr, with them. What claims have I upon him? It is being given. What I have felt and dofeel I can never he who has claims upon me, and gratitude alone express, but the reason you give for hustening our marriage shall be to me a reason for deferring it and if in the meantime Doreas is confirmed in her attachment to Roberts, I will release her from her ingigement, though the act should release my soul fear we are but too right. But let me watch for you, rom my body." Ales. Harris gazed upon him as he left the room, and hardly waited for him to get out of hearing beare correct. In the meantime, my dear, act with the same high-minded propriety as ever. Appear not "Why, the very fates are in my favor ! It could too anxious by altering your due treatment of Mr. not possibly have turned out so, unless they had in-Roberts, and be-assured-that-if Tyler's feelings toerfered. But to improve advantages-ah! here comes ward you are of the proper stamp, they will compel Dorcas! the very thing !?? him to be the one to make the becoming overtures. When Tyler left the room, he walked moddily "Bless you, my mother, for this and for every down stairs, and met Dorcas in the hall. "Oh !!!

shid she; running gaily up to him, "I have just been! by following your advice, and of your affection by out to walk, and I met Mri Roberts, and he said he repaying it with my warmest gratitude." vould fide with us to-morrow-but, dear Tyler, what ra + 11That evening Dorcas, from a sense of duty, treate s the matter ?? Just subsaution Tyler with as much cordiality, as his coldness an "" Nothing ; I have a headache, and was going out her own wounded sensibility would admit of. The

to enjoy the frush air. ?? . Iserteen next-morning-when Walter called, she cheerfully "You will let me go with you ?" complied with her engagement, but her heart did "No, Doreas; I had rather buildness I shall rearn soon?". Shee gized int, him has he went out, nuch faint, within her when Tyler, said he believed h would stay at home, if Sarah would consent to remai stood motionless. If came upon her like a tourent, with him and look at some pictures. She of cours that he had more than once of late spoken to her

The reader is imagination can cally supply to it coully, and the thought bewildered her. . She looked. The reader's imagination can the subsequent self how matters went on for several days subsequent up toward liceven; and explaimed, if Faller, look upon me ;? and then turning; said to highelf, "I to this event. The breach became gradually have but one mother to go toy and God the thanked, and wider. Tyler endeavoyed to stiffe his emotions she is not only a temporal but a spiritual adviser. by being particularly attentive to Sarah, and Roberts With this confidence she sought her the temporal and. had become more than ever enamored of Dorcas. hiritial adviser Par nobilition for main deligh Tyler took refuge from the approach of inguders About two weeks after the ride, Sarah role up ha uly to Bellevue, and running into the parlor, said t Dorcas, "do, throw, aside that saber look for just one nised he ... should L repine, that Dorcas has trans ninute, while I tell you the best news in the world. ferred her affections to one so much better calculated My uncle has just written to me, that a large party of to make her happy? It is true he cannot love her pleasure is about leaving London for Paris, and that more; yet he cannot help laving her as much as I do ; Labust come on and go with them under his protec-tion. I am to start immediately, and have ridden

"Well; if she wants Tyler, she may have him, for ed? Not nay, surely ?" he is so good .: But Sarah Roberts shall not, because want him myself ;!' and, so saving, she went up stairs oided conduct of Dorcas. nd told Dorcas to go down and tell her mother that arch should not have Tyler ; "for "mid the; "a lete is, who had now struck upon a new velound thought about a half an hour ago."

that says they are going to be married. But, la ! how would be accomplished, though her malice would ueer you look ! I am sorry are not you?" With an aching heart, Dorcas sought her aunt, and day received cortain intelligence, (or directly implied ound her ready to confirm her worst fears, After. accident, affected to turn consoler. She was careul, however, to delay her hypocritical conversation, ntil there was no hope of its being received. "Cheer up, Dorcas," said she ; " you know Sarah designed. Perimps, too, he only has devoted himself was on his horse, his plan was fixed. Going immedigreat deal to her that he might forget his suspicious ately home, he, by the aid of the letter in his posses alousies." This last was autially brought in, and sion, counterfeited Tyler's hand-writing-wrote that gratitude the plea of insisting on an alliance that is is--good-bye. But where is Tyler? an ! there he is?" "I love 'you' attempt to be enclosed in the envelope wheth Mrs. Harris date deat of the indicate a first of the indicate a light left it forear. 'But most 'which he had been, up disgreeable to first. What have I done for her that and kissing the parting farewell, she ran out of the had been, up distribute to first. What have I done for her that and kissing the parting farewell, she ran out of the had been, up distribute to first. A she had been, up distribute to first. What have I done for her that and kissing the parting farewell, she ran out of the had been, up distribute to first. I have not be deather to in a not his birt. of the bost many of the bost mark, and three days after a speed by all feadure the transportation for her that a not his birt. of the bost mark, and three days after a speed by all the bost mark, and three days after a speed by first. - de la construcción de la const

Doreas would die soon-and begged him to say noschool of affliction to command her feelings, and rising thing more about it. But he was not one to be se easily baffled.

Doreas remained half alive and half dead, until the day before. Tyler was said to be expected. Mrs. Harris arose every morning with the hope that she which her words had thrown him, he found himself had destroyed herself; and her first demand of the servant was to know how she was-expecting to receive the intelligence. But now she could wait no longer. "The fool has got no heart," said she, as she mixed a cup of poison, intending to do herself vas a perfect child of nature. She had been nurtured for Doreas, what she thought her too ' pusillanimous'

> "Looking for a gal---ch ?" morning, her shroud shall be made before nightfall ;" and with this hellish design, she put the deadly mixture into the sideboard. Dorcas' room was an eastern wing of the house, and pened into the yard. Hither she repaired on that mentous night.

Roberts, thinking this the most favorable time for his designs, had stationed a carriage in the road, under could brood over her sorrows alone without being mocked by the presence of Tyler, as the husband of another. This was to be his pretext; but once in his ower, he intended to force her into a compliance with his importunities. He saw her enter the room, and felt his heart fail him as she sank upon her knees, and committed herself to the Father of the faterbless. A noise disturbed him, and he hastily retreated in an opposite direction, but still not so far, but that he could see the candle burning. He watched patiently for nearly an hour : still it burned on. He stole up closer, yet, site no one---crept nearcr---lifted the latch--ope entered the door-the room was empty ! Maddened with rage, he stood undecided for a moment, and then proceeded toward the chiringe .---"Gurseit !!' muttered he, as he told the postillion he should have no more use for him that night. "Even so madamy" and here he disclosed the d "Looking for a lady, master ?" said the man, "who had been employed on such duties before i "cause "You opened your attack too soon," said Mrs. Hare I seed one get into the diligence, when it came along, ter has just come from Burgpe, I mean from France, if Dorens could be forced to marry Roberts, her ends ... The thought struck him that Dorens had hanishe herself from home. "The very thing !!!' said he's not be so completely gratified. "" We have but yester "drive on ; follow the diligence, but do not catch up with it. See where she gets out, and then we part." The horses dashed on. Morning revealed the obif not vertain;) that Tyler and Sarah are to be mar inying played about with her victim, and fully satis- ried before their return, and she has not yet recovery jeet of their pursuit about a mile ahead. At breakhel her, that there was no hope, Mrs. Harris, and to ed from the shock. When she hears that they are ac- fast they ascertained that a pale young lady, closely provide for herself a plausible way of escape in case | tually married as the doubtless will in aday or two | wrapped up, was one of the passengers. They fel--you will find her less impregnable ?? and here she lowed on to London-saw where it stopped i and to handed him Tyler's letter, with the envelope, telling the joy of Roberts, Doreas left it and entered the hohim to read it at his leisure. She had given him his tel. Towards evening, he saw her driven away. In I clue, and knowing her man, was just as well aware carriage, and was told that she had gone on board a is, like all girls, foud of making conquests, and her which the would do with that envelope, as if the future. American backet that was to start the same night. At natural desires may have led her to attach more importance to the attentions of Tyler than he actually he took the letter, put it in his that, and before he weighed anchor, and left there.

midnight, he had himselproviewed on board the same vessel, just before silv weighed anchor, and left Eng-land-forever. Init - forever); In the my ning, when the passengers came on deck. Dorene as thunderstruck to behold Roberts standing have her. He addressed her in the standing where her. He addressed her in the standing behavior here is a standard behavior here is a s tion, I am to start immediately, and have ridden Mr. Harris well knew the effect it would have upon the marriage ceremony having already been performed to be above bert. He addressed high-been by the for one minute to say good-bye. So here it Doreas. Is-good-bye. But where is Tyler? and there he is?" "I love you tenderly, and, for your attempt to be enviored with the envilope which Mr. Harris and prived by your coldness of all that made England be enclosed in the envilope which Mr. Harris and the envilope which Mr. Harris and prived by your coldness of all that made England be enclosed in the envilope which Mr. Harris and prived by your coldness of all that made England

She walked away mechanically, and opened the sideboard. There was the fatal cup she had prepared for Dorcas. Like Judas Iscariot, she felt that she had betrayed innocence. The decd was done ! the scorpion was warmed into sudden being by the fires that. were raging in her bosom. These she sought to quench in a moment with the deadly draught, and "Sooner than the devils hoped, arrived in hell !" When Tyler reached London, he immediately hasened around from quay to quay, inquiring incoherently if any one had seen Doreas. Repeated insults roused him to a sense of the fruitlessness of his scarch, till when turning away in despair, he was met by one of the lower order of the police, who said to him significantly-

Tyler shuddered at his profanity and turned to leave

"Look here, my larkey ; may be you wouldn't look. o spiteful, an' you knew as much as I do." He put a guinea in his hand and awaited his intelli-

"Well now, that's clever." Pele, and wrapped up is if she didn't want nobedy to see her ?" Tyler bowed assent. "Seed her myself-went abroad the ship Caroline. and is this minute three days out, bound for Ameri-

Tyler having given him another guinea, took ship mediately in another packet that was just starting for the same port. On the way, enlivened by the prospect of finding Doreas, he he came more c. Im. He and a rough passage, and during a gale was the happy instrument of saving-the captain's life.

When the pilot came on board, the captain aslked what news-and was inf rmed the tihe Caroline had been wrecked during the storm, and every soul lost. "What's that ?" said Tyler abrupily ; "the ship Caroline ?"

"The very same." "Any ladies lost ?" Fat of an Int we shard off "Every soul I captula, crew, ty seencers and all.----Three hidies abourd, and by this time but up by the islies." "Where is that ship going?" said he, as one eame out the channel of this -"She's the Emperir--- bound to Russin," "Captain," said Dy ler, tare yru myificiend ?" 41 ought to he wou saved v y life? "Averaye, sir;" and he was olidis, way-to, Rusa, or any where else--- to him it mattered not, and Had be kept on, he would have found that one of the assengers, a lady, had survived the wreck. She had equ washed on shore, and with difficulty restored to life. When asked her name, she replied it was Dor-cus Lindsay. Under this han ble title she binded the prout old English anne "t' Attelmer. She came to our village ; spent her life far acts of charity mid benevolence, and left a record of her worth not only on the walls of our templo, but in the hearts of our villa-

Tyler, after wand cring in other clinics, came to A. merica, where he learned the fate and shared the grave of his beloved, and Name "But the saddest feature of the miseries of poor Dorcas, was that slid nover knew but that her sorrows were all deeply founded in reality. Sha wandered nitiong us like a lumphed angel, net r tupwing how wronged, how injured sho had been, uptil her, soul