The Carlisle Herald and Expositor.

HERALD & EXPOSITOR.

BY GEORGE M. PHILLIPS.

CARLISLE.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 8, 1839.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WM. H. HARRISON.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
DANIEL WEBSTER.

NOTICE.

The Democratic Antimasonic citizens of Cumberland county, are requested to meet at the public house of Colonel George Fierce, in the borough of Carlisle, on Friday the 17th day of May inst., at two o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of appointing delegates to represent this county in the State Convention to be held at Harrisburg on Wednesday the 22d inst.

By order of the Standing Committee.

Carlisle, May 8, 1839.

To the Patrons of the "Herald & Expositor."

With this number will be closed the connection of the subscriber with this paper, and an end be brought to his Editorial labors in his native state, and in the place of his nativity. Having determined upon following the example of many others in this locomotive day, he will immediately set out for the "far West," with the intention of making arrangements for a permanent settlement in the great Valley of the Mississippi.

It is with great regret and many painful emotions, he now bids farewell to his long list of subscribers and kind patrons, and desires to tender his thanks to them for their aid and support in days by gone. Towards them he will ever cherish the fondest regard, and will hold them in affectionate remembrance while he may be far removed, and perhaps "battling the watch" for his country's good in another and rapidly increasing section of the Union. His feelings will not permit him to dwell upon a subject so painful as that of parting from his long-tried friends. He knows that, in many respects, they had much to overlook in the manner in which he conducted the "HERALD & EXPOSITOR," arising from his youth and inexperience. Through their indulgence, many errors in judgment were forgiven and forgotten, for which he thanks them, and begs to say, that in all he may have said or done, he was actuated by a desire for his country's good. He now feels proud to state, that the circulation of the Herald was never greater than it is at present.

The subscriber feels a satisfaction in being able to say that his friends and patrons will lose nothing by his removal, as the Herald & Expositor will pass into much abler hands than his, and will be conducted by those much better qualified than himself to render it agreeable and useful. Its political complexion will remain unchanged, and it will still continue to be the Herald of Liberty and the Constitution, and the Exposer of hidden iniquity. But he will leave its future conductors to herald forth their own views and the principles upon which the paper will be conducted; and wishing the patrons of the establishment and all concerned happiness and prosperity, he bids them an affectionate adieu.

GEORGE M. P[illips].

May 8, 1839.

NOTICE.

MR. O. H. P. BARBOUR will wait upon the subscribers to the "HERALD & EXPOSITOR" who reside in this county and are in arrears, with their accounts. The subscriber hopes that those indebted will meet him with a welcome and discharge their obligations without a moments' hesitation.

Bills are now being made out and will be forwarded to those who reside at a distance. They can remit at our risk through the mail.

Those of our editorial brethren to whom we have sent advertisements, will please forward their bills for collection.

GEORGE M. PHILLIPS.

Carlisle, May 8, 1839.

AN HONEST SUB-TREASURER.—The New Orleans True American publishes an account of the trial of Mr. Cannon, charged by the Government with defalcation. The suit was brought in the United States District Court. Mr. Cannon was reported by Secretary Woodbury as a defaulter to a large amount—nearly $400,000. The jury, after thoroughly investigating the account between Mr. Cannon and the Government, acquitted him of all indebtedness.—What has become of the money? Mr. Cannon hasn't it—who has? A transcript of Mr. Cannon's account, sent from the Treasury office, was read on the trial. It bore evidence on its face of the most shameful inaccuracy, neglect and false charging. Sums paid out by Mr. Cannon, by direct orders from the Department, were not credited to him; deposits made, and which had been used by the Department, also left uncredited. The great object of the accountants in Washington seems to be to show the funds of the Government in any other hands but their own. It is said that Mr. Cannon will move for a new trial, for he asserts that there is a balance in his favor, amounting to several hundred dollars.

THE WAY IT WORKS.—The editor of the Madisonian says that he does not believe that the morals of the public officers were ever more debased than they are under this imbecile and infidel administration. Offices are practically no longer public offices, but party offices, whose administration is concealed from the people, and appropriated to partizan rewards, and private spoil and plunder. Observe the following from the Louisville Journal:

"A friend from Arkansas informs us of a new species of fraud perpetrated by the land office receivers in that part of the country. The Indian agents and contractors have paid out large amounts of Treasury notes. These notes, bearing an interest of 6 per cent. generally work their way to the land offices. The receivers, instead of passing them in kind to the credit of Government, put them in their pockets and keep them there bearing interest until they can sell them for a good round premium as eastern funds. They pocket the interest and the premium, and we may charitably suppose, that, after the Treasury notes are converted into the currency of the country, the nett proceeds are subject to the order of government. It is an undeniable fact, that nearly all receivers become merchants and land speculators, and it is no uncommon thing for them to close their speculations by actually selling their offices."

MR. WOODBURY AND THE BROKER.—An amusing anecdote, (says the New York Courier and Enquirer,) indicative of the shrewdness and good management of Secretary Woodbury, is confidently related in Wall street. An intelligent French broker, Mr. D. sometime since, discovered that a fraud had been committed on the revenue department to the amount of about thirteen thousand dollars. He proceeded to Washington, stated the case to the Secretary, and made an arrangement to collect the money, provided he was allowed one half the amount collected. Mr. Woodbury, in his great caution for the security of the government, insisted that the District Attorney should be employed as counsel. To this part of the arrangement the broker reluctantly assented. A few days before the departure of Mr. Price, for England, he actually collected the amount, but in the confusion of the moment forgot to leave any part of the money behind. Mr. D. now calls on the Secretary of the Treasury for 6,500 dollars, his share of the recovery, and the Secretary refers him to Congress for an appropriation to make good his contract. Thus, by this operation, the loss of $13,000 is increased to $19,500, if the Government acts justly.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY.—The Lexington Intelligencer, the principal Van Buren paper of Kentucky, announces that its editor has recently "had an unreserved conversation with Colonel Johnson," in which the Colonel, alluding to the Vice Presidency, declared that "were the subject of interest to none but himself, he would retire to private life, and leave the office he now holds to some individual more desirous of filling it; but he feels himself as belonging to the republican party, and that he has no right to decline a re-election should the party require his services.—At the same time he is entirely willing to yield all pretensions, whenever another shall be selected, who will probably be more acceptable to the party, and he will do so most cheerfully."

The Intelligencer, then, speaking by authority of Colonel Johnson, announces him as a candidate for the Vice Presidency, the Colonel being "too good a democrat to leave the administration when his services are needed."

THE RICH AND THE POOR.—In relation to the efforts of mischievous demagogues to array the poor against the rich, and to persuade the former that his interests are opposed to the latter, the following opportune remarks are found in an address from a democratic association in Philadelphia. They are a just and severe rebuke:

"He who counsels hostility against wealth, is an enemy to his race—he is an enemy to every man who desires to improve his condition, and partake of the bounties of Providence—he is an enemy to his own children, for in this country the poor are the fathers of the rich. The hardy sons of toil and poverty—those who earn and save—are those who accumulate and enjoy. He who would undermine the security of property and declare war against capital, would arrest the march of improvement and of mind; lay an embargo upon every ship in port; stop the wheels of industry; put out the fires of the forge and of the steam engine; shut up the shop of every mechanic; and, finally, transform civilized nations into hordes of savages, and countries glittering in the sun light of improvement, into dark and dismal forests."

"A LUDICROUS PERVERSION OF THE AUTHOR'S MEANING."—The New Orleans Picayune folks say, that when they perused the celebrated clock story, they thought the landlord was intended for Martin Van Buren, and the mad wags who run away with the money, for Messrs. Price and Swartwout.

☞We learn from the Philadelphia papers of yesterday that Judge Gibson announced, on the opening of the Court on Monday, that the decision in the Presbyterian case would be delivered on Wednesday (this) morning.

☞The corner stone of the new Evangelical Lutheran Church, at Harrisburg, Pa. is to be laid with the accustomed services and ceremony, on Saturday the 11th inst. The former church of the society in that place, a valuable edifice, was destroyed by fire sometime last fall.

☞The New York Star of Saturday says:—Van Bruggen, one of the condemned Pirates of the Braganza, hung himself last night in prison. He broke up his bunk and made a frame, which he placed over the iron pipe in his cell, tore his blanket in strips, and became his own executioner."

WOMAN BURNT TO DEATH.—We learn from the Village Record, that a woman named Jefferis, residing near West Chester, was burnt to death on the 22d ult. whilst in a state of intoxication. The particulars, as we learn them from an authentic source, are as follows: She was sitting near the fire, and it communicated to her clothes, and in a moment she was in a blaze; almost helpless from the effects of liquor, that she was hardly conscious of her lamentable condition. In her younger days this woman is said to have had a well formed person and handsome face, but she gave herself up to vice, and her end is told.

The West.—The St. Louis Republican says:—"Some idea may be formed of the demand, in this city, for stores and business houses, from the following fact:—A gentleman informed us yesterday, that he owned two tenements on Front or Water street.—The buildings cost him fourteen hundred dollars and the two are now rented for eighteen hundred dollars a year. More was offered, but they were engaged. If eastern capitalists are at any loss to find a safe and profitable investment for their money, just let them come to St. Louis, put it into houses and lots, and they may sit down contented, assured that it will double itself every 5 years, if not in less time. But this state of things, it is said, cannot continue. It has continued for several years, the pressure and hard times to the contrary notwithstanding, and instead of exhibiting a diminution of demand, it appears to be on the increase."

A Noble hearted Woman.—During the fire in Albany on Saturday the occupants of one of the buildings in Rose Alley, in the bustle and confusion of saving her little effects from the devouring element, and after being driven out by the flames, discovered that one of their children, a boy about 4 years old, remained yet asleep in the upper part of the house—the mother after hearing of the situation of her child, rushed through the flames and seized her sleeping boy, and no sooner had she gained the object for which she was willing to risk her life, than it was discovered that all means of escape was cut off, save that of leaping from the second story window with her child, which without a moment's hesitation was done, without any material injury to herself or child.—Phil. Inq.

A GOOD IDEA, PROPERLY PROMULGATED.

A suitor in a Court in London, about the 20th of last month, and was about making known the grounds of his application, when the judges told him that they had already made a decision fatal to his plea. The suitor confessed his utter ignorance of any such decision.

"It was in all the newspapers," said the Court.

"But I do not see the newspapers," said the man.

"That is not our fault," replied the judges. "You should see the newspapers, and every other man should."

That is a decision of an English Court, and we suppose it is operative here as well as there.—U. S. Gazette.

FIRE.

A fire broke out yesterday morning, between two and three o'clock, in the stable in the rear of the lot of SAMUEL SHOCH, Esq. near third street. It consumed in its progress the stable of B. PARKE, Esq.,—and the blacksmith shop of Messrs. CHANDLER and JEFFERIES, destroying all their tools and stock—burning the ice house, and melting the ice of Mr. E. G. Bert. The buildings were of comparatively small value, except the shop of Chandler and Jeffries, who are the principal sufferers. The destruction would have been, it is supposed, very extensive, (the space around, being thickly studded with frame buildings,) had it not been for a heavy thunder shower on the evening of Wednesday, and the perfect calmness in the air, during the raging of the element.—Our fire companies were as usual early on the ground, and did their duty as "good men and true."

The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. The fellow suspected has been concerned in attempts of a like character before.—Harrisburg Reporter.

ANOTHER FIRE.

Just as our paper had gone to press today, the alarm of "fire," resounded through the streets. The cause for the fearful cry was in the frame building occupied by CONRAD KNEPLEY, as the "Ship Tavern," at the lower end of Second street. This house was surrounded by frame buildings, but by the activity of our fearless firemen, and its proximity, to the water of the canal, no other building but the one in which the fire originated and the one adjoining were injured.

Singular way of Avoiding a Duel—M. B., a young fashionable of considerable wealth being one evening where play ran high, one of his comrades, the Count de ——, who had not a high reputation for paying his debts became reduced to his last Napoleon, and borrowed of M. B. two thousand francs, promising to return them next morning by his groom. Some time, however, passed without the money or the groom appearing. M. B. called upon his debtor, who always happened to be out, and was for some time lost sight of, when last Sunday night M. B. accidentally met the Count at the Bureau des Supplements, is the lobby of the Theatre de Renaissance, just as the latter had laid down a five franc piece to obtain a better place in the theatre, which M. B. instantly snatched up, saying "Now sir, our account stands one thousand nine hundred and ninety-five francs, instead of two thousand. Next day M. B. was roused by the Count entering with two friends, and apparatus for a duel, which M. B. observed would not be fair, as they were not upon equal terms; for if he fell he should lose his life, and his money too.—Upon this one of the Count's friends fetched the money instanter, when M. B., being paid, said he now considered the Count a man of honor, and there was nothing to fight about; and as the Court of Cassation had decided that seconds should be dealt with as principals, he could not think of bringing two of his friends into such a predicament. Accordingly the affair ended with a dejeune.

Married, at Ashfield, Nov. 21, Mr. Chileab Smith, in his ninety-seventh year, to widow Jerusha Wate, of Hebron, N. Y. in her eighty-second year. This makes Mr. Smith's fourth wife. He has labored on a farm ever since he was five years old, and, up to last summer, performed on the scythe through the season of haying equal to a man of 30 years. His love has evidently been universal, and ever on the march. He has living within three and a half miles of him, nine great great grandchildren; who might have seen, on the 21st of Nov., 1838 their great great grand-father married. This is what we call handing down to posterity.—Greenfield Courier.

VERY TRUTH-LIKE IF NOT TRUE.—A Washington correspondent of the Boston Atlas, tells us this good story: "A lithographer at Washington, prepared a very striking likeness of Kendall. Copies were sent to the departments for sale. One was offered to Mr. Forsyth, and he was asked, 'Sir do you want to purchase this?' 'Let me see,' said the Secretary of State, then taking it into his own hands, and pausing for a moment, he replied, 'O no! we purchased the original!'"

Cure for Bots in Horses.—To make the bot or grub let go his hold, give the horse a quart of molasses or dissolve sugar, with a quart of sweet milk—in thirty minutes you will find the horse at ease; then pulverize the eighth of a pound of alum—dissolve in a quart of warm water and drench your horse—after two hours or less, give the horse one pound of salts, and you will find the bots in the dung. I have never failed. I think this is, after all the speculations and cures I have seen, the only thing that will to a certain remove the bots.

The molasses and sweet milk will cause the bot to let go and prey upon the sweetnings; the alum contracts him and the salt passes him off.

A SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

A sad accident occurred at New Orleans, on the 2d inst. A few minutes before the ship Lafayette left the levee on her voyage for Havre. A great crowd of persons assembled to witness the departure of the vessel and to take leave of their friends who were going away. A considerable number were on the decks and in the rigging of the vessels in the vicinity of the Lafayette, and many were standing on planks placed across that vessel. The weight was too great, the planks broke in the middle, and several individuals were precipitated into the hold.—Some escaped with slight contusions but Messrs. Talari and Auguste Roy were not so fortunate; they were seriously hurt, and their lives are thought to be in danger.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT—LOSS OF LIVES.

A slip from the office of the Norfolk Beacon dated Thursday 4 P. M., states that a letter received in that place, written from the Frying Pan Shoals, and dated the 15th instant, communicates the intelligence of the drowning of Captain C. Gardner, of the schr. Washington, of Norfolk, and 4 hands. On Friday night the wind blew heavy from the north west, and the vessel anchored in the Pasquotank river, where she laid till day-light, when she got under way, with a stiff but favorable breeze, and run as far as the mouth of the Alligator, but unfortunately struck on the Great Shoal.—The Captain immediate took four hands in the boat, ran out his small anchor, and returned to heave on it, when he found that the anchor was in a wrong position. He then took the boat a second time with five hands, four white and one black, and made for the anchor, when the boat was swamped, and every soul but one perished!

The survivor saved himself with great difficulty, by holding to the boat, and stripping himself so as to be able to swim to the schooner. After two or three ineffectual efforts to save themselves the Captain and the three hands sunk to rise no more.

After the loss of the Captain and hands, the condition of the vessel was a most critical one, a young man, the son of Mr. Wm. D. Roberts, of Norfolk, and a hand, being the only persons aboard. Mr. Roberts states, "that the vessel laid hard and fast all that day with a heavy press of sail which we found was the only way to get her off, and he succeeded that night at nine o'clock in getting her off. But now his difficulties increased for there was a head sea, and he feared to anchor lest the vessel would roll over. He finally succeeded in bringing the vessel in safety to Frying Pan Shoals, where his letter detailing the catastrophe was written. He acknowledges his obligations to Capt. Henry, of the schr. Halifax, for the timely assistance rendered him." It is supposed that the Captain had all the money of the vessel on his person when lost, as but a few dollars could be found on board.

THE VALLEY OF THE OHIO.

We publish this morning some interesting remarks upon the country drained by the Ohio and its tributaries from the Baltimore American. The editor computes it at about 140,000 square miles, which exceeds, by several thousand square miles the area of Great Britain and Ireland, and is put little less than that of France. The present population of Great Britain and Ireland is about 24,000,000—that of France say 32,000,000. In the valley of the Ohio there is less unproductive land than in either of the others, and with proper cultivation it is capable of supporting in comfort and plenty, more than twenty millions of a population.

Rival cities are contending for the commerce of this great valley—a commerce already immensely valuable, although only in its infancy. There is, however, no need of jealousy in the matter; there will soon be an abundance for all, and there need be no hesitation about opening every practicable avenue between the Atlantic cities and the noble river that flows for a thousand miles through this great valley.

But the valley of the Ohio forms but a comparatively small part of that great central basin, which would not be half populated were all the crowded millions of Great Britain and France added to its present inhabitants. All that is required of art is to reach Pittsburgh—Nature has done the rest. Come here and read our steamboat bills—"For Peoria,"—For Galena"—"For Red River"—"For New Orleans"—For the Missouri River,"—and remember when you are scarcely beyond the Atlantic slope—just on the verge of that ultra-montane world, that it makes a man dizzy to think about. Yet here you are met by magnificent vessels, ready to bear you—not across the ocean, nor along coast—but to the deepest interior of a great continent, or almost across it, if you choose. There need not, then, there ought not, to be any hesitation or delay on the part of the States in which the mountain barriers exist between the Atlantic coast and this central valley, in opening every possible avenue of intercommunication and commerce. They need only do the work—the vast resources of the West will soon pay for it.—Pittsburgh Advocate.

THE BOQUET FOR MAY!

EMORY & CO.

(Of 2 Calvert street, Baltimore,) in accordance with the spirit of hilarity and hope which ever prevails in the merry month of MAY, beg to present to their friends and patrons the handsomest collection of Flowers ever displayed—they being the first of the season, and culled from the choicest plants in FORTUNE'S COURT, they trust that in this instance (as in every other) that the favorite specimens of the GODDESS here exhibited will enable the gatherer to reap a RICH harvest.

As "the rose by any other name would smell as sweet," they therefore display it in the shape of

50,000 DOLLARS,

to be plucked on the 18*th of May*—and which they hope will not

"Waste its sweetness on the desert air,"

but will rather gladden the hearts of some of their best customers. There are several others, designated below, which are calculated to give Heart's Ease to the adventurers, both from their magnificence and their odors.

☞All we recommend is an early application—and be careful to address EMORY & CO.,

FORTUNE'S HOME!

Think ye of fortune and of life!
Then try a prize, 'tis worth a strife!
Money alone can make the man,
However you the matter scan!
If you have money you have friends,
Come try it, and you'll find it ends
As I have said—There's cash in store
For you and many, many more,
Come, come to EMORY'S lucky wheel,
And you no more life's woes will feel.

Nobly done, old Carlisle! About two weeks ago we received an order from a gentleman at Carlisle, Pa., enclosing a $50 note, requesting us to forward him the certificate of quarter packages of tickets in any good Lottery, on hand. With our usual promptness in these matters, we sent to him by return of mail, certificates of 3 packages of quarters in New Jersey Lottery, class 18, drawn April 15. One of the packages met with the most brilliant success—having drawn two grand Capitals,—to wit $5000 to Nos. 38, 59, 72, and $3000 to Nos. 27, 44, 60. Two capitals in one package is good fortune unprecedented. The cash has been handed over to this fortunate adventurer, with whom we have had the pleasure of a personal meeting, he having visited the Monumental city for the express purpose of receiving Heart's Ease from Emory and Co's Bank of Fortune.

WATTS' REPORTS!

Just received the Seventh Volume of WATTS & CO. REPORTS, and for sale by

JOHN

April 17, 18[39].

NEW VOLUME FOR 1839.

The New-York Spirit of the Times.

A Chronicle of the Turf, Field Sports, Literature and the Stage.

WILLIAM T. PORTER, EDITOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY IN THE CITY OF N. YORK,

AND EMBELISHED WITH VERY LARGE Imperial Quarto Engravings on Steel, of DISTINGUISHED HORSES, EMINENT ACTORS, &c.

The Ninth Volume of this periodical commenced on the 9th of March, 1839. It is now one of the very largest Weekly papers in America, consisting of twelve immense quarto pages, instead of eight, as heretofore. The present volume will be illustrated by seven Superb Engravings, of the most costly description, on Steel Plates of the largest size; two of the series were published in the first number of the volume,—one being a Fancy Portrait of Augusta, the beautiful and celebrated Danseuse, in the character of La Sylphide,—the other a Portrait of Mr. STEVENS' famous Black Maria, celebrated as the best Four Mile mare of her day at the North, and the conqueror of Trifle in the great Twenty Mile race on Long Island. Portraits of JOHN BASCOMB, of Mingo, and of Imported MONARCH, will follow Black Maria, and other subjects, both Sporting and Theatrical, will be selected to continue the series, which will thus form a beautiful and interesting GALLERY OF ENGRAVINGS. The engravings will be the largest ever given in an America periodical, those already published being, one, thirteen inches by fifteen, and the other, fourteen by eighteen. They will be all elaborately and richly finished, and printed on a large fine sheet, to accompany the paper. Care will be taken that they are so secured for transmission by the mails, that they may reach their destination without injury, and be suitable for framing. The body of the paper itself will be illustrated by fine WOOD ENGRAVINGS of Racing and Sporting Cups, Designs of celebrated Race Courses, and Etchings of Horses, on the plan of "Bell's Life in London," of which the Race Cup annexed is a specimen.

The "SPIRIT OF THE TIMES" will continue to be primarily and essentially devoted to the AMERICAN AND ENGLISH Turf. Under this general head will be embraced a complete American Racing Calendar for the current year, and full reports of the Newmarket, Doncaster, Epsom, Ascot, Goodwood, Liverpool and Chester Race Meetings in England, and such others as may be interesting from the character of the horses engaged, or other circumstances.

A list of the Winning Horses of the preceding year will be published, arranged in Four Distinct Tables,—one of Four Mile Winners, one of the Three, one of Two, and one of One Mile Winners. These tables show at a glance the winner of every race of the last year, his Age, Color, Pedigree and Owner, the Prize won, the Weight carried, the Time made, and the Horses Beaten by him; together with the date and place of the race, and a reference to the page of the preceding volume where the race was originally published. The first, or table of Four Mile Winners, appeared in the 2d number, and it comprises all the foregoing particulars of the Four Mile races run in America during the year 1838. These Tables are complied with infinite care and labor, and at great expense; they are of constant practicle use, and increase in value every year. A List of English Winning Horses for the same year will also be published in the volume, arranged in the English form.

A Table of American Trotting Horses, with the Age, Color, Owner, Time made, Weight carried, Horses Beaten, &c. &c., will be published in this volume, and in addition there will be published an abstract of Every Great Trotting Performance in America for several years back, with especial reference to the time made. This abstract and reference from several authentic sources has been composed interesting as the only one, and will be extremely Trotting ever attempted. A complete record of American Stallions in the United. A Table of American early numbers of the volume, and will be found convenient for breeders as, designating the age, color, pedigree, owner, place and price of standing, of nearly every distinguished stallion in America.

These are but the leading features of the Turf department of the paper, of which the others can only be enumerated in brief. They comprise a complete record of all Importations and all Sales of Blood Stock,—Sweepstakes, Racing and Trotting Matches, and Racing appointments,—Essays on Breeding and Training,—Pedigrees and Performances of Distinguished Horses,—with all the current News and Odds in Sporting Circles, both at home and abroad.—And to complete the Sporting Department, full details, original and selected, will be given upon all manly pastimes, as Hunting, Shooting, Fishing, Yatching and Boating, Pedestrian and other Athletic and manly Sports. There is only room thus casually to notice these subjects, which are favorite themes, and will ever be entertained at length.

Another part of the design of the paper will embrace an Agricultural Department, designed to promote the interest and minister to the instruction of Breeders of FINE CATTLE, SHEEP, etc.

The next prominent department is the THEATRICAL page, constantly devoted to original Criticisms of the Drama, and notices of the New York Theatres, Green Room Intelligence, derived from an extensive theatrical correspondence maintained with every city in the Union, and by which the paper is already favorably known and widely circulated in theatrical circles. The ENGLISH STAGE, now so blended with our own by a community of actors and of plays, will receive such notice as to keep the reader constantly apprised of any new or amusing incident it may furnish.

Again, selections will be constantly made from the periodicals of this country and of England, and thus be formed a lively and elegant literary department, occupying several pages. And here the design of the Editor will be to select such articles only as are witty and light, spirited and interesting; such articles, for example, as he has formly culled from the Pickwick Papers, the Fellow-Plush Correspondence, Major Gahagan's Reminiscences, and the like. The English magazines, all of which of any celebrity are regularly received, will furnish a full supply of such matter.

In the last place, an effort will be made to give the paper character as an amusing, piquante journal, by devoting much room to remarks upon the Incidents of the Day, the Gossip of the Town, Humorous Police Reports, and such clever witticisms as fall within the observation of the Editor. This portion of the paper will be aided by numerous selections, not occupying much room, but sure to be amusing, from English newspapers, of which a very large supply is received at the office, including a good many not taken by any other establishment, and only seen in this country by some rare chance.

For all these varied departments ample room is secured by the immense size of the present sheet, which for beauty of typographical execution and general elegance of arrangement, is second to none in the Union.

No local agents being employed by the Proprietors, gentlemen wishing the paper can order it through their Postmasters, or remit by mail. A number of Files from the commencement of the volume will be preserved for New Subscribers. This course is adopted, as the valuable STATISTICAL TABLES of the paper nearly all appear in the early part of the year. Subscribers wishing extra copies of the large Engravings will be supplied at one dollar each.
