From the Philadelphia Inquirer. The Position of Mexico and Texas. A NEW VIEW.

THE great encouragement heretofore received from the sale of his machines, induces him to offer to the public a new and improved Horse Power, which can be shifted in gear jor out of gear by keys, and shift the band to give it five different revolutions. And he has no hesitation in assuring the Farmers that he is now able to furnish them with an article far superior to those manufactured heretofore. For speed and clean threshing and ease to the horses, he believes his machines to be unequalled.

His price is $140—seventy dollars to be paid eash, and the balance in six months, for which a note wilf be required with interest. Any person purchasing a machine and upon a fair trial, not being pleased, can return it. He will at all times be ready to furnish them on the shortest notice, orders from a distance will be punctually attended to. He will also repair machines out the shortest notice. misnamed Republic at the last dates, will that semi-barbarous benighted people. The intelli-Texians or some European power. This opinion gathers strength with the progress of events. Indeed, we have private letters from intelligent sources in Texas, which state, that "although the Government of that country are anxious to secure a negotiation of independence on peaceable and equitable terms, and to avoid any course of conduct calculated to depreciate them in the estimation of the civilized nations of the earth-that the people cannot and will not be restrained, when they feel sufficiently powerful, from endeavoring to obtain by the force of arms, what was promised by Santa Anna, and is withheld from pacific, of Mexico, the future seems big with mighty events. Who may foretell the occurences of the next twenty-five years?" The above is from a source of much intelligence and respectability. It may be citizens of Texas, as not only desire to live and die in that Republic, but to winfor her a respectable position among the nations of the earth. The New Orleans Bulletin, speaking of the recent events of Mexico, says that the affairs of that country seem at last to have reached their crisis.

"The whole Republic," adds the editor, is a scene of dissension and revolt. The capital is now in possession of the revolutionists: and from all accounts it appears altogether probable that they will be able to maintain their position. All our advices, it must be observed, have come through the Government papers, which would of course publish representations as favorable as possible to the Centralist party. Great allowances must be made, therefore in reading their statements. The facts, however, which they are compelled to state, show conclusively that the Government is reduced to extremities. We may expect soon to hear of its complete overthrow. It appears impossible that the Centralists ould any longer retain power in the face of such formulable opposition. The success of the insurrection in the city of Mexiico will no doubt stimulate similar attempts in other districts of country, many of which, it is well known, are ripe for revolt. Un-less Government succeeded very speedily in crushing Farias and Urred, the probability is, that ere this, every province in the Empire is in a state of revolt. These events indicate the certain triumph and establishment of Federalism.

gradual removation might then take place, civilizing and elevating the population, and qualifying for the enjoyment of the inestimable blessings of liberty. The ability tutions may well be doubted. Every experiment has, as yet, signally failed. The best hope, therefore, presented for the esunion of Texas with the other provinces, gence and solidity of the American character might be imparted to the Mexicans, and the country would thus be regenerated. and saved from the anarchy that now threatens its dissolution."

This latter is a new view of the case but the aspect of affairs, as ralates to Mexico and Texas, is certainly beginning to assume a new and a deep degree of interest We shall look with anxiety for later advi
