Election on Friday the 30th October.

"Up, Guards, and at them!"

Whigs of Cumberland, the last charge upon the ranks of the Federal Administration is to be made on Friday next. That charge must decide the issue of the contest which we have so vigorously waged for twelve months past. The battalions of the enemy are in the field—broken and battered it is true—but by the force of discipline rallied for another trial, and, like the Old Imperial Guard of Napoleon, on the field of Waterloo, too, formidable still to be despised. Their commanders are the heroes and victors of a thousand hard fought battles—skilled in all the tricks and stratagems of war, and every soldier that stands in their ranks is a veteran who knows how to wield his arms to the best advantage.—The final and complete overthrow of these masses, skilled and disciplined as they are, and backed by all the power and patronage of the Federal and State Governments, is no light task. Fellow soldiers of the Whig Army, nothing but numbers—full companies, battalions, regiments—skill, steadiness, valor, zeal, and discipline on our part, can snatch the plume of victory from such a foe. Rally, then, in all your strength! If you love your country—if you prize your liberty—if you respect and cherish the principles and cause in which you are engaged—if you desire an honest administration of public affairs, and a change for the better—LEAVE NOT A WHIG VOTER AT HOME! Let this last field which we are to fight, be to the supporters of Van Buren a field of Waterloo—a defeat so signal and destructive, that they may never be able to recover from its effects.—Then and only then will this miserably governed country know and rejoice in the consequences of wise councils and patriotic measures. Once more, Whigs of Cumberland; once more, we call upon you to do your whole duty as good citizens of the Republic.

"Up, Guards, and at them!"
"One Fire more, and the day is ours."

The news from Arkansas is flattering. Reports say the whigs have carried a majority of the Legislature, for the first time since it became a state.

The whig majority in Georgia is over 4000, besides having both branches of the Assembly—the lower house by an overwhelming majority.

The Last Rally!

Whigs, Jacksonmen, Democrats of Old Mother Cumberland, are you prepared for the last rally on the 30th? If you are not, be up and doing. Remember Old Tip himself is now in the field—he commands the battalions of the people in person, and from his own lips the order has issued, to "CHARGE ALONG THE WHOLE LINE" of the Federal Office Holders. "Obey that order—rush to the charge—and drive the Van Buren legions to the wall. "Thrice is he armed who hath his quarrel just"—and surely ours is so.

East Pennsborough made a noble stand on the 13th, and achieved a splendid victory. Let the patriots of that township swell the majority to 75, and Locofocoism will never trouble them again.

Allen is whig all over. But she can raise her majority to 100, and place herself foremost in the Harrison ranks.

Silver Spring has promised to turn out her every vote—and she will cover herself with glory, by reducing the Van Buren majority below 130.

Mechanicsburg will make a strong push to balance accounts with the locos. She can if she will.

Monroe will not be content with less than 50 majority for the Old Buckeye.—Push on the ball, boys. You have the votes to give 70 if you but turn them all out.

South Middleton is pledged to give us 30 "for Tippecanoe and Tyler too," and she will not fall short of her word. We have faith that in that spirited township we shall beat the Lokies 50.

Carlisle will try and do better. She gave 35 on the 13th—on the 30th she will try and score 50.

North Middleton will make a better whig poll than she ever did before—mind that, boys.

Lower West Pennsborough will score within 5 of 100—and probably she will reach that number. "Try it, OLD GUARD of Cumberland—and go as much higher as you can.

Lower Frankford cannot do worse—and we hope she will do much better. Our friends promise it.

Lower Dickinson will keep the enemy busy to beat us 30.

Upper Dickinson and Leesburg, Shippenburg, Hopewell, and the townships voting at Neuville, all did their duty nobly on the 13th. At them again, boys—one and all, up and at them. Let us never rest satisfied until we redeem Cumberland county.

OHIO.—According to the Albany Evening Journal of Thursday last, CORWIN'S precise majority is 18,190. The whigs have elected 12 members of Congress, and the locos 7. In the State Senate it is not yet exactly ascertained which party has the majority. Eighteen held over from last year, of which seven were whigs and eleven locofocos. Eighteen were this year chosen; as far as ascertained, of these 10 are whigs, 7 locos, and one doubtful. If the whigs have the doubtful district, there will be a tie in the senate—if the locofocos have it, then the senate will stand thus—Harrison 17, Van Buren 19. The House of Representatives consists of seventy members, of which number the whigs have 50, the locofocos 20. Last year the locofocos had a majority in both houses. So much for Old Tip's state.

BERKS COUNTY.—A falling off.—The Pittsburgh Gazette says: "We have the official returns from Berks county, and find that the only office for which there were opposing candidates, was that of Coroner. The result was as follows:

William Stahl,	2556
John Fox,	1962

Majority for Stahl, 594

The highest vote for any other candidate was Samuel Moore, for Assembly, 4187.

There is not a business man in the whole length and breadth of the country, who does not feel that times are bad, and that a change is necessary. The Merchant, the Farmer, the Mechanic, the Manufacturer, the Laborer, all feel, though perhaps not equally, the pressure of the times. Thousands have already fallen victims to it—thousands are falling—and tens of thousands will fall, if relief do not come, and that speedily. Now what is the cause of this suffering—and how may it be removed? We say the cause is to be found in the wicked and foolish measures of Martin Van Buren's Administration—and in the doctrines of the party, of which he is the head and leader, pointing infallibly and always to change! change! change! Modern Democracy will have nothing stable—she is restive and insatiate—her cry is "Give! Give!" The policy of Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, and the younger Adams, under which our country went on prospering and to prosper, does not satisfy her restless spirit or accord to her notions of reform. She must have every thing NEW. Her pace is so rapid that it outstrips imagination—and every thing she touches crumbles to destruction. Her glory is not to build up—but to pull down.—She riots amidst the ruin she creates, and makes the anguish of others the chief source of her own happiness. There was a time when the PEOPLE flourished—when TRADE flourished—when Agriculture, Manufactures, Commerce, and the Mechanic Arts, were fairly rewarded and rapidly extending, improving, and blessing the land. It is not so now. There is at present no thrift but among the QUELTERERS, whose salaries in Gold or Silver, or both, are secured to them by that very policy of the Federal Administration, which has unsettled, uprooted, and overthrown every other interest. It was left for this age and generation to hear and for Martin Van Buren to discover and promulgate a new principle in Government ethics—"that the ADMINISTRATION must take care of ITSELF—and the PEOPLE of THEMSELVES." In other words, that the Administration is above the people, and not bound by any obligation, moral or political, to take care of their interests. The SPECIE CIRCULAR and the SUB-TREASURY ACT were the legitimate offspring of this new principle. In close connection followed the STANDING ARMY PLAN—which will just as certainly become a law, should Van Buren be re-elected, as did the Sub Treasury. These three measures have the same tendency: "To oppress and subjugate the People, at the same time that they concentrate in the hands of the Executive all the power necessary to constitute him a Despot, supposing him to have already usurped—as we aver he has—the Law-making power.

What can we expect from an Administration that has thus spurned the people and tyrannized over them—what but to be sunk lower and lower, oppressed more and more, and bound tighter and tighter, until we are finally driven from the proud eminence of freedom and citizenship to the miserable condition of serfs and servitude. Our currency is destroyed—our enterprise crippled—our prospects darkened—our hopes blighted. Every thing that Van Buren has done, every thing that he has recommended, has been adverse to the interests of the people, and conducive to the interests of his Official Satellites; and yet we are asked, in the name of Democracy, to support him. He has waged a cruel and constant war against Pennsylvania Institutions, Pennsylvania Credit, and Pennsylvania Interests; and yet the office holders have the impudence to call upon the people of Pennsylvania to cast their suffrages in his favor. He is the advocate of a pure metallic currency for the Government—and of a miserable rag currency for the people. He is opposed to the Credit System. He is opposed to a protective Tariff. He has recommended a Standing Army of 200,000 men, in time of peace. He has waged a war for nearly four years, with all the disposable force of the nation, against four or five hundred Florida Indians, at an expense of millions of dollars, without gaining a single advantage over them, or affording any general protection to the citizens, who are butchered almost daily by the savage foe. And yet this man, whose whole Presidential career has been one of oppression, wickedness, and folly, we are invoked to re-elect in opposition to an honest, faithful, intelligent, and long-tried public servant. Shall we obey the invocation, fellow-citizens, or shall we disregard it? Shall we vote for Van Buren and curse the nation with heavier calamities than have yet befallen her—or shall we vote for HARRISON, and thereby remove her burthens and restore her prosperity?

Fellow-citizens, you know—you feel that this nation is suffering through the evil acts of an evil Administration. To remove the evil you must remove the source from whence it comes. In short, to produce better times we must turn out Van Buren and put in HARRISON. He who votes for Van Buren with a full knowledge of his acts, votes against his country, against Liberty, against Reason, and against Democracy! for against all these has that man raised his hand. He who votes for HARRISON, votes for a Democrat and a Patriot—for a tried Soldier and Statesman of the republic—for a man who is able and anxious to restore and re-establish the lost liberty and paralyzed energies of the country.

THE LAST CARD.—The Locofocos have forged a Cincinnati Gazette, with column rules reversed, containing an account of Gen. Harrison's death. We trust our Whig friends will believe no such reports—nor stories of any other kind calculated to injure our glorious prospects. We were told, some time ago, that Van Buren held a "last card" in his hand which he intended to play. Look out, therefore for all kinds of Locofoco lies on the eye of the election. The Cincinnati Gazette of the 15th instant, represents Gen. Harrison to be in excellent health and spirits. He was among the people of Ohio, exposing by his language and in his person, the base slanders of the Locofoco press and partisans.

To cover and conceal their own villainies, the Locofocos are now circulating every sort of falsehoods against the whigs. Among other lies which they are retailing is one charging the present Mayor of Philadelphia and other prominent men of the same politics, with sending on voters to New York in 1838. We understand that this lie has been sworn to by some scoundrel of the party—probably an office holder. They have been detected in forging naturalization papers and making false registries in Philadelphia, and they wish now to throw a little of the same sort of odium on our shoulders. But they, K. K.—Can't come it. The same rascals are endeavoring to make the people believe that General Harrison is dead. Friends, don't believe them.

A whig member of Congress has been chosen in the Greenville District, South Carolina, in the place of Waddy Thompson, who declined a re-nomination. The notorious John Calhoun Calhoun resides in this district. Verily a prophet hath no honor in his own country.

A gentleman from the country informed us, on Saturday evening last, that it was reported in his neighborhood that the late William S. Ramsey was shot by a whig. The report is false. The deceased committed self-murder by shooting a bullet into his brain through the right eye.—What cause led to the commission of the rash act, we know not. There is a diversity of opinion on that point, which it is neither our duty nor inclination to attempt to reconcile.
