BE CAREFUL OF YOUR COLDS. BE CAREFUL OF YOUR COLDS.

Many people are so very apt to consider a cold but a trifling matter, and to think that wit will go away of itself in a day or two," that they give themselves no trouble about it. But to such we would say, "be careful of your colds"—do not tamper with your constitutions. If you desire to live to "a good old age," be careful to take such remedies as will effect an easy and a speedy cure. Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of "Prunus Virginiana or Wild Cherry," has cured more colds than any other medicine offered for sale in this country. The certificates of cures effected by this invaluable medicine, which the proprietor is daily receiving, are of the most gratifying character and tend to show its sanative properties, and the high rank it holds in public estimation. estimation.

At this period, we are aware that these little ones, which are near wind dear to us, suffer very much. I therefore take this opportunity of informing the public of the great benefit derived from the use of Dr. Paris' Soothing Syrup for Children Cutting Teeth. This medicine I found to produce relief as soon as applied to the Gums; it is pleasant and effectual. I feel happy in recommending it to the public, as I am certain it will save many hights of sweet repose to parents and nurses, besides preventing those danger ous symptoms which slay thousands annually.

ADDRESS OF THE CARRIER To the Patrons of the Carlisle Herald & Expositor.

Another New Year! we have buried the old, In the silence of midnight, was his requiem tolled, And the annual Herald begins a new round, To wish that good cheer and light licarts may abound; And we know but one band, whose marmuring voice Sounds harsh and dissocant with those who rejoice, . Tis the certain-aged spinsters, that in sorrow lament For another is added, to the years they have spent. New-Year's gift, Sir-/

But I'm not introduced -- sooth I meant to be civil, Myself I'll present-as your servant-The Devil." "The Devil you are ?" "Yes Sir-but stay,

We'll have a short confab, before you go'way. Stop, my dear sir-Oh! I see your mistake-You think I'm Old Harry-mine ancient namesake An utter mistake-I'm much younger than he, Although in points minor, we do sometimes agree. I was born in some year—though I cannot tell what I'll consult the Big Bible-for I have really forgot: And as for my stock, I am led to believe, I am a lineal descendant of Grandmother Eve. My hoofs are not eloven--no horns on my brow-Nortail in reversion e'en have I to show. My character is -- though I say it myself. An honest and peaceful, but frolicksome cif." That alters the case—I've a bowl of egg-nogg I've lately forsworn all manner of grog, And decline, my dear sir, as excuse I allege That I yesterday signed the Temperance pledge. Well come in the house-sit down in that chair, Go on with your story-you talk and I'll hear. Some short month ago -- I'm beginning my friend, Since all must begin, before it can end. Some short month ago, as I fancied a ride I saddled Pegasus and mounted astride, Though his wings were ill plumed and I wanted a spor If I pricked but one side I knew tother must stir. To note what I saw, a portfolio I took, ___ Since a man is no man, till he has written a book; Nor marvellous faith--it's a natural thing, That what's in a calf's head, should be bound in calf-skin. I crossed the sea safe-nor met with aught rare Unless a chance mermaid adorning her hair, Arrived in Old England I kept a lookout To see that I knew my true whereabout, But the air was so hazy-though mid-day-the sun Secmed nothing so like as a water balloon And I thought---for my throat was sore from the fog---That I'd get at "The Arms" a warm tankard of grog. But when I got there---such a hubbub I ween, Some shouted Victoria-some bellowed The Queen, Hurran for Prince Albert-quick-run for the nurse-I thought it was Bedlam, or some place far worse. What think you 'twas for? Nought else by my head, Than "Her Glorious Majesty" was just-brought to bed. bolted outright--determined to go And pay a short visit to Johnny Crapeau.
