PURTATION VS. BLOUDIETTING .- All parts of the Punaltion vs. Brouderting.—All parts of the blood are not with equal case supplied any with equal case supplied any with equal case discharged from the system. The former of these positions is well illustrated by comparing the effects of bloodletting with those of purgatives. We recover from the effects of many times the quantity, discharged by the latter means, in half the time required in the case of bloodletting; because by the one, it is chiefly the watery part of the blood which is drained off; by the other; along with this, the more essential parts also. While purgation lessens the quantity of blood, it leaves what remains richer. Thus the crassmentum oxygen is left, which is indeed the life of the blood the watery part of the blood being only that which is discharged by purgatives. Think of this, you whose constitutions are inclined to plethora, and in time purge with that "having the testimony of a good common innocent of all purgatives, the far-famed Brandretin's Vegetable Universal Pills. They are most innocent of all purgatives, the far-famed Brandfeth's Vegetable Universal Pills. They are known to act on every part of the body; being taken up by chyle they pass isto the blood, which they purify, and it should be temembered that they remove only those watery parts from the blood which were the cause of inflamation. Nothing is equal to ridding the vitiated humors with a vegetable medicine of this kind, which eighty-four years have proved never to do injury, but always good. never to do injury, but always good.

Dr. Paris—Dear Sir—I take this present opportunity of informing you of the wonderful effects of your invaluable Soothing Syrup for Children. Terrains. My child was first taken with fits of screaming and crying, attended with a dreadful bowel complaint. I sent for a physician, he came and told me he could do nothing for it, but "to lance the gums." This I would not submit to, he then recommended your invaluable. "Soothing Syrup" which I procured at your office, No. 19 NORTH EIGHTH STREET. As soon as I obtained the medicine, I used it according to the directions. The effect was astonishing, the child went to sleep and rested well all night. The next morning Lused it again, and continued it for several days. The child recovered immediately, and is hearty to this day. Happy would it he both for parents and little children, if they could have access to a small portion of your medicine.—I am sure that money would be no object in comparison with human suffering.

MARRIED, On the 18th ult. by the Rev. Henry Aurand, Mr. Joseph Urich, to Miss Grabill, all of Monroe township.

DIED.

In Baltimore, on the 14th of February last, Mrs. Margaret, wife of Mr. William Armor, in the 49th year of her age. On the 23d ultimo, Rebecca Crawford. daughter of Mr. C. Foster, aged 2 years. [COMMUNICATED.]

In this borough, on Wednesday morning the 17th ult., at the residence of her father Gen. E. Armor, Mus. REBECCA E. P. SALKELD, wife of Mr. Joseph Salkeld, of Watertown, Conn., in the 24th year of her age.

Scarcely has the hand of time been suffered to assuage the grief which the loss of a beloved and only daughter had entailed on a fond father, ere the ravages of death are again visible, and plunge him into renewed sorrow by tearing from him the affectionate wife of his bosom. Her health had been declining for some months,—consumption was prosecuting its deadly work, but her find friends little expected that death would so soon remove her from their midst. But she appeared convinced that her of sojourn upon earth was to be very short, and her is him was diligently spent in making a preparation of sojourn upon carm was to be very snort, and ner-time was diligently spent in making a preparation to meet her God. She became a communicant of the Protestant Eniscopal Church in the spring of 1839, and since that period she has been a succeed and meek follower of her blessed Saviour, It is, and meek follower of her blessed Saviour. It is, however, within a few months past that her religious character has been more evidently developed. The death of her daughter (a severe and grevious chartisement) served to strengthen the faith and gave increased confidence to her hapes; while, her? own personal afflictiors were "working out for her a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." The Bible was her, constant companion—Jesus her cougatinual theme. To her, death presented no terrors. A few hours before her departure from this world she partook of the highest gift which it is in the power of the Chirch to offer—the symbols of the broken body and shed blogd of a crucified Redeeper. She joined in the general confession with a faint but ferrent tone of woice; and while by this last act of her life she consecrated horself anew to her blessed ferrent tone of soice; and while by this last act of her life she consecrated horself anew to her blessed Saviour, she reaped those benefits which evise when "with a true penitent heart and lively faith, wo receive that holy Sacrament." After this she conversed freely on the subject of death and expressed the great spiritual enjoyment she had derived in the reception of the communion. Her has words to her justified in the reception of the communion. Her has words to her justified in reliance in myself, I trust only in Jesus." So calmly and serencely did the sup of her mortal existence set, that though a relative was in the foom said her husband, standing by her bedaids, it was not noticed that death had executed his work until perhaps some minutes after her happy in little that the first work in the foom said her further that death had executed his work until perhaps some minutes after her happy in little that the first of the control of the church she died in the language of the offices of the Church particularly as it exhibited the works and designs of an intelligent Author. She has gone. She has passed from our view into the full light of eternal glory. But the memory of her virtues will ever abide in the sanctuary of that home her presence made joyful, and of that heart her love rendered happy.
