Carlisk Gerald and $\mathbb{E x p o s i t o r}$

A FAMLLY NEWSPAPER:-DEVOTED TO NEWS, POLITICS, LITERATURE, THE ARTS AND SCIENCES, AGRICULTURE, AMUSEMENT, &O. &C
Eidited and Pitbished for the Proprietor by William ovi. Porter, Carliste, Cumberland Connty, Pa

$\frac{\text { A名 }}{\text { MORNING }}$

定

Th ${ }^{2}$

| asaws now deserted. This was algrrming for it was probable they had gone over the evemy. However, he deternined proceed. With a fuil knowledge of the prisoner, he passed on'until he stood beside the town, and on the bank of the river  His first care ewas to provite a place of effected, having 'selected one man as the companion of his future adventure, he wa- dedithe river to an island, partialy covered with drift wood, opposite the town, whiere he concealed himself and comrade for the night.  Leonidas was brave, and in obedience to the institutions in any, eountry, he courted death, and found it in the pass of Thermopylxe. | (Scene-The corners of tis streets. The through its nose.  Noon, by the north clock the east! High noon, too, sunbeams; which fall, scarcely my head, and almost make th ble and snoke in the troug nose. Truly; we public char nough time of $\mathrm{i}!$ ! Avid amoing to officers ; chosen at March me is he that sustains, for a sing burthen of such manifold duti posed, in perpetuity, upon the The title of "town treasurer" the town has. The overseett ought to make me their chair | away from the colld fountains. Endicol and his föllowerg came next, and often knelt down to drink, dipping their long beards in the spring. The richest goblet, then, was of birch bark. Gov: Winthrop, after a journey on fool from Boston, drank here, out of the hollow of his hand. The welder Higginson here wet his palm, and laid it on the brow of the first town-born child: For many years, it was the water-ing-place; and, as it were, the washbow of the vicinity-whither all decent folks resorted, to purify their visages; and gaze at theth aftervards-at least, the pretty maidens did-in the mirror which it made. On the Sabbath, whenever a babe was to be baptized, the sexton filled his basin ble of the lumble meeting-house, which partly covered the site of yonder stately |  | ment the Kentuckian moved not a mus- cle of his face. Both remained in silenca for some moments, when the Frenchman exclaimed-'Is" it possible that I did not reserve the right of passage?  - No, sir. indeed yout did not; and you pass this at your peril,'  "Chere is sthe window, out of the room ?" ed to yourself-you must use that ; but you pass not that door-my door which you generously left me.  The poor Frenchman was fairly caughtu |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Napoleon was brave, but hiss bravest Rets wero performed in the preesence of embatled thousads. In constancy of purpose, in cool, deli  In constancy of purpose, in cool, deli- erate courago, the. Captain of the Ranger yill compare with the examples quoted, 0  any other. Neither banner or penon way- ed over him. He was hundreds of miles  in the heart of an enemy's country. An enemy, had they possessed it, would have given his weight in gold-for the pleasure of burning him to death with a slow fire, adding to his torments, both mentta and physical, every in could supply:  Who that thas poetry of feling, or fect Whe of poetry, but must paiase o'er sucli a scene, and in ima ination contemplate its féatures. |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
| sement of the |  |  |  |  |
| Chey had just returned from |  |  |  |  |
| Kentucky with some very fine horses.One gray horso in particular attracted his notice. He won every race until evening, When, as if envious of his speed, two ri-ders were placed on him, and thus he was beaten. |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  | - It were a pity, if all this outiery should |  |  |  |
| The starting post was only a few rods |  | caule. Look! how rapilly they lover. |  |  |
| fair chance of enjoying the amusement, without the risk of losing any thing betting on the race. |  |  |  |  |
|  | gain, so as to keep yourselves in a mice cool sweat. You, my friend, will need |  |  |  |
|  |  | afford time to breatho in it, with sighs of |  |  |
| day as was in his power, waded out' from the island at night, collected his men, went to the Indian camp he had seen as lie crame out ; the squaws were there; took them prisoners, and continued his march home ward | $\begin{aligned} & \text { on your cowhide shoos! I see that you } \\ & \text { have irudred half ascore of silosetothy } \end{aligned}$ |  |  |  |
|  | have trudged half a score of miles to-day; and like the wise man, have passed by the |  |  |  |
|  |  | inprecive, my der deaditors, that |  |  |
|  | and well-curbs. Ollerwise, betwixt heat willout and fire within, you would have |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  | on so fruitful a topic as my own multifa- |  |  |
| was found to be defective: The distance was represented to be much less than it | Lov, who seeks dyy aid to tuench the fieryfover of last night's potitions, which he | rious merits. It is allogether for your good. The bettor you think of me, the |  |  |
| of the men were exhausted by the time they had reached the Big Beaver, on their return:--Bracy shot-an otter, but toouldnot eat it. The last load was in his. riflo.- |  |  |  |  |
|  | - |  |  |  |
|  |  | portant aid on wasking days; thaigh on |  |  |
|  | great straggers, , hitherto ' nor , to confess Hio truth, will my nose bo anxious for a |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
| stopped to-appease their hunger with. Having discovered :å deer, Brady followed it, |  |  |  |  |
| telling the men hio would perraps get a | you, man . Whe water absiduty y hisses down your red-hot gullet and is converted, |  |  |  |
|  |  | it mind yon haw often, when the midiught |  |  |
| when he saw the deer standing broadsideto him. He raised his rifle and attempted to him . He raised his whe and atemptedto fire, but it flashed in the pan, and he had not a priming of powder. He sat down, picked the tonchole, and then stiarted on |  |  |  |  |
|  |  | hells make you tremble foryour combusti- ble town, youl liave fed to the Town Pump. |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  | vital curremt in your betale Neilher is it worth while to lay much stress on my |  |  |
|  |  |  | of learaing the science of mellctine and surgery. Ill was tall and |  |
| a bend, and he saw before him a large Indian on horsebarek, with a elild beforétion |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |
| Indial on horsshack, but as he reated the |  |  | tering into his new quarters he was intro-duced to a young French genleman, occu-1- | The Graud Duthess Stephanie, wilh |
|  | sin | lind. |  |  |
|  |  | meriss which wise men concede to me- | dining the room also as a student. The | a large subscription been naale for them by the opulent merchants of the city. The whole seene speals well for the Germane,and remiuds us sopo old adage- $\boldsymbol{F}$ ox |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  | fiereer thirst | Sumer | and he thus addressed hit heis cis cimpaiion: |  |
| When he considered the chanee eertain,he sho the Indian, who elil fron tie horse, | - child, put down the cup, and yield your place to this elderly gemileman, whlo treals | sucl spouts as mind, must flow the strem, | hope that we may prove nutuanly agreea- hle; but in oriter that this may be the case, |  |
|  |  |  | I will inform youthat have had, seyeral |  |
|  |  | Ins this mighty enterprize, the cow shall be |  | Stising a drunkiard to loave of his ruinous vit of drinking intoxicating liquors. |
|  | Scespec lie is arraid of breaking them.- |  | (eould lever agrei-we could never pursie |  |
|  |  |  | awo beds; as the oldest occupant, 1 islain | habit of drinking intoxicating liquors.  $\therefore$ Can you tell me how to do it? said the |
|  |  |  |  | Weo of his apperite, Quaker.-li is ust 28 easy as it is to open |
|  | wine-cellars. Well, well, sir!-no harm done, I hope! Go draw the cork, tip the |  | nearest the window. |  |
| brather" He ceaght up the child, saying, | decanter; but, when your great toe shall |  | Now, says lie Preuchtuan. 'rll draw boundry line betweeni our territuries, |  |
|  | sot youn a raaring, it will be no affir of |  | the boundary line between our territories, and we shall each arree not to encroach |  |
|  | the gout, it is all one to the Town Pump. |  | pon the nther's right's', and tabing a piece of chalk from his pockiet, he made the mark |  |
|  | This thirsty dog, with his red toigue out, |  | of division, midtway, from one side of the oom to thie other. 'Sir,'. he added,' '1,ope you have no objection to the freaty,' ' None in the world, sir,' Inswered the |  |
|  | does dot scorn my hespitality, but stands |  |  | Treist reiches itiy moull, and thou will |
|  | die trough: Soe hiow lighty ho cipers |  |  |  |
| day lie arrived at Fort MeIntosli with the |  | Until now, the phirenzy of hercitiary fever |  |  |
| - liefier | Are you satisfed? Thein wipe your hin |  |  |  |
|  | and |  | T'lse Frenchiman was sonoi deeply cugar- | Tor inconvenient sid painful prescribtions. |
|  |  |  | ed; whils odit Kaintuc a singulartething lie must be, anid how he might fix linn. Thus things went on until dinner time came. The bell was ruit the |  |
|  | cenes | flanie, When the inward fire sholl lie extinguished, the heat of passion cannot but grow cool, and war-ulle drunkenness of |  |  |
| ing themselves of the pa | bubbled out of the leafstrewn carth, in the yery spot where you now behold me, on he sunny pavement. The water was a | nations-perhaps will cease At lenst. there will be no war of houselioulds. :The liusband and wife, dricking deep of pence- |  |  |
|  |  |  | came. The bell was rung-the Frenchman popped up, adjusied his cravat, brustide up this iwhiskers and mustaches, and es- | Jitoz says that he has read of Generals |
|  |  |  | sayed to depart.  Stain, sir i' said the stranger, suldenly placing himedr with his toe to the mark, direetly before the Fronch student, if yon cross that live, you're a dedad man? | rison, and a thousand other emitient militàry chiefains; but ho never knew there was suehen officer as General Stagenfices, unti he baw his natue upon a sign the olliet day, |
|  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |

