

WILLIAM M. PORTER, EDITOR. HERALD & EXPOSITOR. Carlisle. WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1841. FOR GOVERNOR, JOHN BANKS, OF BERKS COUNTY. Democratic Whig Ticket. ASSEMBLY. Major Samuel Givin, Christopher Au, Commissioner, James Hoffer, Treasurer, Jacob Zug, Director of the Poor, Col. John Wynkoop, Auditor, Thomas B. Bryson, Coroner, William Culbertson.

Several articles prepared for this paper have been crowded out by a press of new advertisements. Jonathan Peal has been appointed by the P. M. General, to be Post Master at Shippensburg, vice John Wunderlich removed.

Mr. Wise made a balloon ascension in Harrisburg on last Monday. It is said to have been very successful, and was witnessed by many thousand spectators. Mr. Wise, we learn, landed somewhere in the vicinity of Churchtown, in this county.

The PENNSYLVANIA STATESMAN.—The first number of this paper, published by George W. Crabb, has just made its appearance, and has excited a good deal of attention, on account of the strange course marked out by the editor.

The ostensible object of Mr. Crabb, is opposition to "Thaddeus Stevens and distinctive Anti-Masonry," and while he professes to advocate the leading measures of the whig party, he seems inclined to oppose every whig nominee, who will not declare himself independent of Anti-Masonic influence! The project of forming a third party in this county, to hold the balance of power, is also broached; but the editor of this "independent political paper," has had experience enough in the politics of this county, to know that such an idea is not to be entertained for a moment. More than two parties, never can exist here—if Mr. Crabb has no desire to support the whigs, he must as a natural consequence, fall into the embraces of locofocoism.

U. S. BANK.—We learn that the Directors of the U. S. Bank, on last Saturday, made an assignment of most of the assets of that institution to five gentlemen, in trust for the payment of liabilities. About $200,000 are appropriated to the payment of judgments against the Bank, where bail had been entered, and the balance to be applied for the benefit of the general creditors, depositors, note holders, &c.

The locofocos in their desire, we presume, to sustain the interests of the working classes, have not placed a single mechanic on their ticket. We think the mechanics have a right to at least one representative on the ticket, but it seems, their claims have been disregarded, to further the views of some, who are more drones, in society, producing nothing. If the mechanics wish to support a man of their own, let them rally around our friend Hoffer, and elect him by a triumphant vote.

Although the combined powers of locofocoism have been put in motion, to clog the measures of the present administration, yet Congress has triumphed over every obstacle, and success has crowned the hopes of the friends of reform.

The Whig members of Congress deserve well of their country—they merit the gratitude and confidence of the people. Influenced alone by feelings of patriotism, they have made their actions correspond with their professions. They have passed the Bankrupt Bill, which will give relief to thousands of unfortunate men who had formerly failed, and were unable again to get into business. This law offers new inducements for increased exertion, by removing all the obstacles to future usefulness, and freeing the insolvent from the load of former debts.

Another important measure is the Distribution Bill which (thanks to a Whig Administration) is now the law of the land. The Sub-Treasury has been repealed. Means have been taken to pay the debts of the government, which were left unpaid by the late administration. Appropriations have been made to put our Navy in proper condition. The Revenue bill is now under consideration, and last, though not least, a system will yet be matured, which, being clear of constitutional difficulties, will restore a sound currency, and provide for the collection of the public money, without oppressing the people. Under the auspices of the present administration, the great leading principles of Whig reform will be safely carried out, and the people will find that the victory of 1840 has not been achieved in vain.

The Ticket—the whole Ticket—And Nothing but the Ticket.

The Democratic Whig Ticket, put in nomination by the late County Convention, is one of the best ever offered to the people of this county, and the prospect of electing our men is very flattering. The candidates are honest, capable, and in every respect deserving.

Major Samuel Givin, is a man of excellent mind, of great enterprise, and very popular—wherever he is known—having been extensively engaged in business for many years, he is well acquainted with the wants of the manufacturing community, and is the warm advocate of such a tariff on foreign goods, as will protect the labor of our own mechanics.

Major Au, is a plain, honest farmer, and very favorably known to the people of this county; he is a man of sterling integrity—of active business habits, and the friend of every measure calculated to benefit the people. No man is more worthy of public confidence.

Our candidate for the Treasurer's office, JACOB ZUG, is known probably to every business man in the county; he was a Commissioner for three years, and gave universal satisfaction. He possesses every requisite for the office of Treasurer, and will be elected by a handsome majority.

JAMES HOFFER, the candidate for Commissioner, is an industrious mechanic of this borough; there is no man in the county better qualified for that office, and certainly none more deserving. The public interests will never suffer in his hands. He is a man of good judgment, and will manage our financial affairs with a due regard to economy.

Colonel Wynkoop will make an excellent Director of the Poor. No better selection could have been made, and his nomination is acceptable to all parties. We commend him to the gallant Whigs of West Pennsborough. They will take care of him.

Messrs. BRYSON and CULBERTSON, the candidates for Auditor and Coroner, are men of unimpeachable character, and will neglect no duty that may be entrusted to them.

We bespeak for the whole ticket, therefore, the cordial support of the people of Cumberland county. It presents an array of men who will do honor to any situation. Never ask if they are popular? or how they will run? but examine their qualifications, and if you find them to be good, then vote the ticket, the whole ticket, and nothing but the ticket.

Men of South Middleton!

On you devolves the duty of taking care of your candidate for the Legislature—Major SAMUEL GIVIN—see that you give a good account of him on the 2d Tuesday of October. You were never known to desert a friend; let his vote therefore be unanimous.

The Locofocos, for the purpose of getting up an excitement against our ticket, are circulating a report that both of our candidates are distillers, and should, therefore, be opposed on temperance principles. The accusation is false in every particular. Major Givin never has been engaged in the business, and Mr. Au, although formerly a distiller, relinquished it about a year ago; convinced probably that it was wrong, and like an honest man, gave up a business which he could no longer reconcile with his conscience.

WASHINGTON, 3d Sept. 1841. Since my last, two weeks since, several bills have been passed in Congress. The Land Bill, which was carried in the House some two months ago, passed the Senate on the 26th of August, by a vote of 28 to 23, one Whig (Preston of S. C.) and all the locofocos, voting in the negative. It is now before the President, and will be signed in a day or two. An important amendment was tacked to it in the Senate; providing that when the tariff shall be raised to above 20 per cent. on the value of any goods imported, the distribution of the proceeds of the sales of the public lands shall cease. This was fastened upon the bill by the treachery of the Pennsylvania Senators; had they determined upon obeying their instructions, and consulting the interests of their constituents, the bill could have been carried without this amendment; as it was, after they had declared their intention of voting against it, the Northern Whigs were obliged to make this concession to the Southern Anti-Tariff Senators, to procure a sufficient number of votes for the passage. By this means, Messrs. Berrien, Henderson, Rives, and Archer, who were opposed to the bill, in the shape in which it came from the House, were induced to vote for it. However, this can be remedied hereafter; if the people of the Northern States, and especially of Pennsylvania, become sufficiently alive to their interests, to elect the proper kind of Representatives in Congress; and members of the Legislature who will choose Senators caring more for their state, and less for the commands of their party leaders. When we regulate the tariff, if it is necessary for protection, to raise any duty to more than twenty per cent, this section can be repealed. As you no doubt expect, upon the final passage of the Land Bill, Messrs. Buchanan and Sturgeon voted against giving to Pennsylvania a sum of money which will vary from three to eight hundred thousand dollars yearly. So much for their care for the interests of their State.

On Wednesday, the 1st instant, the Bank Bill was taken up, and has been under discussion since that time. The principal provisions, as it came from the House, are as follow: The Corporation is to exist until 1st of June, 1862—Directors are nine in number; three to be appointed by the President, and six to be elected by the Stockholders. The bank is not allowed to deal in any thing except foreign bills of exchange, including bills and drafts drawn in one state and payable in another. Dividends limited to 7 per cent; the surplus profits to go into the Treasury of the U. States; and in case, in any year the dividend is less than 7 per cent, the deficiency is to be paid out of the treasury of the U. States; provided a sufficient amount has been paid over to make up this deficiency. Agencies may be established within any of the states, and the Secretary of the Treasury approving, banks may be employed as agents. No notes less than five dollars to be issued. No discounts allowed. The notes of the bank are made receivable in payment of debts to the Government, excepting when in a state of suspension.

The bill passed to-day about 2 o'clock, by a majority of 5, all the whigs voting in the affirmative, excepting Mr. Rives, of Virginia. It will go to the President tomorrow; and be returned with his veto next week. It is greatly to be lamented that Congress and the President cannot agree upon this subject; it was hoped and generally believed, when this bill was introduced into the House, that it would meet the views of Mr. Tyler; but it now appears that he cannot give it his sanction. Members of Congress will now have an opportunity of retiring to their homes, and after consulting their constituents, can return next winter better acquainted with the opinions and wishes of the people on this important subject.

Among several unimportant bills, which have passed both branches, there is one appropriating a sum of money for the payment of mail contractors, to whom the Government is greatly in arrears. This measure of justice is another of the fruits of a Whig Congress.

In the House of Representatives, the new Bank Bill passed on the 23d instant, by a vote of 125 to 94, precisely the same majority as that by which the first bill was carried. The three Virginia abstractionists, together with W. W. Irwin, of Pennsylvania, and Foster, of Georgia, voting in the negative; 11 whigs and 8 locofocos absent. On the question of concurring with the Senate's amendment to the Land Bill (mentioned above) every Whig member from Pennsylvania (excepting Sergeant of Philadelphia, and Black of Somerset) voted in the negative; it was, however, agreed to.

For some time past the House has had no business on hand; it could have adjourned more than a week ago, had the Senate been ready. Owing to the determination with which the locofocos commenced the extra session, business has been so embarrassed and delayed by the Senators of that party, that the affairs are much behind those of the other branch; however, as they appear desirous of returning home, it is probable, that their behaviour may now be more worthy of the stations they occupy. As proof of this, we need only state the fact, that during the time the Land Bill was in the Senate, the yeas and nays were called about eighty times, on amendments offered by the opposition, a large proportion of which were evidently intended to clog the bill, waste time, and, if possible, weary out the patience of the friends of the measure.

Congress will probably adjourn about the last of next week. Never before has so much important business been transacted in a regular session, as in this called Congress of three months duration. If the President signs the Land Bill (and no doubt he will) more will have been done for the benefit of the people of the United States, than during the whole administrations of Jackson and Van Buren.

I have just learned verbally that the President has signed the Land Bill. This is of more importance and will be of greater advantage to Pennsylvania than a dozen M.

Baltimore Washington T. A. Society. The following letter from the Secretary of the above named Society, to certain gentlemen in Carlisle, will be read with interest by the friends of temperance:

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10, 1841. Gentlemen—Your letter of the 9th inst. has been received and in reply, I am much pleased to learn that the honest and the intelligent of Carlisle appreciate and value the services of our reformed speakers, missionaries sent out from the Washington Temperance Society of Baltimore, being the parent society in this modern reformation. We never have acknowledged scientific lecturers, nor do we allow such speakers to address our society under any other circumstances than to confine themselves to facts, and to give in their own experience in the use of alcohol. We prohibit all lecturers from addressing our society, unless they have moral honesty to relate a full detailed history of their own experience and misfortunes. We prohibit all political or theological speakers, and confine our meetings to experience meetings. The effect of this course is felt and is visible to all. Why? Because we have sometimes found that political and scientific speakers were deficient of moral honesty in their professions of the teetotal or abstinence pledge. They therefore could not produce any confidence. You may form some idea of the difference between our experience meetings and your old fashioned lectures, from the great moral reformation going on at this time in every section of our beloved country, by the exertions of the missionary agents sent out by the Washington Temperance Society. Our principles are well understood and properly appreciated by the virtuous and the intelligent. You can make yourselves entirely familiar with those principles. In the mean time, we are much pleased to hear that the temperance cause is prospering in your town. With sentiments of the highest regard for each individual member of your society, and friends of the temperance cause, you have my humble prayers, and my cordial good wishes for your future success. And I have the pleasure of remaining with high consideration, your esteemed friend,

JAMES DUNN, Rec. & Cor. Sec. of the W. T. A. Society of Baltimore. To Messrs. Henry Duffield, William Crop, and others, Carlisle, Pa.
