YANKEE TRICK .- A correspondent at

New Haven writes that an ingenious trick has been played off upon the passengers in one of the steamhoats, that plies between that port and New York. It will be recolfrom a small jug of Day & Martin, up to a four story dickey. Our correspondent sends us the following incident: city is flooded with loaters from New York, as they come now for a shilling a head. A pretty trick was played on them last Sunday. As Saturday was rainy, the boat did not start till Sunday morning, when she had five or six hundred passengers. A few miles out they were called on for their passage money; and they began to hand our their shillings. But the captain said it was no go. The fare was a dollar and a half. But, said they, you advertised for 122 cents. We did, said the captain, for week days, but the bills say, Sundays excepted. It would be impossible to describe the looks of the loafers as they came on shore."

The following eloquent speech was made not long since, by a young limb of Blackstone, to a court and jury, in one of the eastern counties of this State : "May the court please, gentlemen of the jury, the defendant in this cause, willi all the fury of a fiend, emerged from the wilderness like a touring lion, and in his gigantic strength, he seized my client by the collar, and
