MBRALD & EXPOSITOR

Wednesday Morning, November 22, 1843

W. B. PALMER, Esq., No. 59 Pine street, be-for Third, Philadelphia, is authorized to receive subsciptions and advortisements for the "Herald & Expositor," and give receipts for the same.

We are requested to state that the Rev. J M. PHILLIPS, of Williamsport, Pa., will preach in the First Presbyterian Church of this place, on Sabbath next. Service to commence at the usual

We observe by the last number of the "Statesman," that Mr. Hamilton has rotired from the editorial charge of that paper, and that Peter F. Ege, Esq., has assumed its control. It will as formerly support Mr. Buchanan and "dem. now he plumes his wings for a bolder flight, and ocratic" principles-besides advocating the freedom of the Press and other matters.

By reference to our advertising columns i will be seen that the County Commissioners offer a reward of $100 for the detection of the incendiary who fired the Court House on Sunday morning last.

Fire.---Incendiarism! "CPOur citizens were called out on Sunday morning last, between the hours of six and seven "'clock, by the cry of fire. It was soon discover. ed to be in the interior of the Court House, from 'several windows of which smoke was seen issuing in dense clouds. The activity of the firemen and citizens who were speedily upon the ground ar rested its progress before it had succeeded in spreading over the whole building or had done any considerable amount of injury. It was found to have originated in the room on the second story occupied as an office by Hon. Samuel Hepburn, President Judgo of this district, and there is no reason to doubt that it was the work of an incendiary.
An examination of the building after the fire had been extinguished, proved that the large had been extinguished, proved that the large chamber on the ground floor occupied as the Court room, had been entered, through one of the win-toom, had been entered, through one of the win-dows in the rear, and a side door of the room also forced open, by which an entrance was gained to the stair way leading to Judge Hepburn's office the stair way leading to Judge Hepburn's office way into this room the incendiary seems to have set hould his work with the deliberation of an necemplished villain. Gathering together a mass of combustible inatterials from the shelves of an elegant and costly library of law books, and col-lecting the papers and furniture into a large pile in the centre of the room, the mass was ignited, and after the window-blinds wete carefully drawn to prevent the light being seen from the street, the fire was left to do its work! From want of air it had probably burned slowly several hours be-fore its discovery, in which time a space had been consumed in the floor reaching across the room and about four feet wide, through which the burning mass fell to the room occupied by the County Commissioners on the ground floor, doing a small amount of injury there.

The injury done to the building is inconfiderable, but the loss to Judge Hepburn, from the destruction of a large portion of his library, we learn is over $1000. An act evineing a greater degree of moral turpitude or deeper malice, we type to science. Yours &c. have never heard of. We have not learned that suspicion has yet fixed upon any one as the perce trator of this fiendish crime, but it is earnestly to be hoped that the miscreant may yet be discovered and brought to the punishment he so richly de-SCIVES.

Verdict in the Case of Liber. CFIn the case of the Commonwealth against John Hamilton and George Matthews, for a liber upon Judge Hepburn, which was tried last week an the Court of Quarter Sessions of this county, the trial was brought to a close and the case sub mitted to the jury about noon on Wednesday .-On Thursday morning a sealed verdict was presented to the Court, which had been agreed upon by the jury some time in the night. This verared the defendants "guilty of a political slander but not of a moral libel."

The verdict not being in accordance with the "law it was returned to the jury, who in a few hours returned with a verdict of guilty, according to the manner and form of the indictment. The defendants were then sentenced to pay a fine of $40 each and pay the costs of prosecution. We learn from the "Statesman," that the case will probably be carried up to the Supreme Court for final adjudication, it being the opinion of the defendant's counsel that the verdict first rendered was virtually one of acquittal.
